Introduction

Magic items are an integral part of the DUNGEONS & DRAGONS® game experience. As long as D&D has been around, there have been +1 swords and potions of healing—they’re as inextricably linked with the game’s identity as 18th-level fighters and magic missile spells. Every fighter saves up for his first magic weapon, and no one who’s played a paladin hasn’t dreamed about what it would be like to wield a holy avenger.

Magic items also make up a crucial part of every D&D character’s array of abilities. A magic weapon can slice through a creature’s damage reduction, a ring of protection diverts otherwise deadly attacks, and a handy potion or scroll can tip the balance in a critical encounter. A character without magic items is like a wizard with only half her spells prepared or a fighter who hasn’t bothered to select all his feats—he’s simply incomplete.

But compared to spells and feats, magic items haven’t been received very much “quality time” in the current edition of the game. Not only are they scattered across dozens of books with little sense of organization or theme, but their effects are often poorly defined and they’re frequently—some might even say usually—over-priced or underwhelming. As a result, only a handful of magic items are actually widely used, ranging from the humble +1 longsward to the renowned ring of invisibility.

That’s no longer the case.

Magic Item Compendium ushers in a brave new world of magic items—a world with clearly defined effects and activation times, with interesting items at every price point, and with exciting, aggressively priced options for every class and character level. Combining hundreds of revised and repriced items from previous sources with a wagonload of brand-new, never-before-seen-or-even-imagined magic items, this book is your D&D character’s key to the candy store.

But don’t just take our word for it: Go ahead, start turning the pages. Check out the revamped armor and weapon properties in Chapters 1 and 2. Marvel at all the swift-action-activation gloves, boots, and belts in Chapter 3. Drool over the handy adventuring tools in Chapter 4, and imagine how cool your character will look when he’s decked out in one of the item sets in Chapter 5. And that doesn’t even cover the book’s exciting new take on relics, the immensely handy augment crystals, the array of “sorcerer’s-best-friend” runestaffs, and so on.

WHAT’S IN THIS BOOK

Traditionally, magic items have been divided into categories based partially on form and partially on function, creating a system that doesn’t always help the reader know where to go looking for something. An item holding 50 uses of a particular 1st- to 4th-level spell is called a wand, but a similarly shaped item that has an unusual nonspell effect that it can generate a few times per day might be a rod or even a wondrous item. An item you wear that provides a continuous magical effect is probably a wondrous item . . . but it might be a ring, or even a suit of armor.

This book instead divides magic items into four basic categories—armor, weapons, clothing, and tools—with each category receiving a separate chapter. This classification has no effect on game play—you still use Forge Ring to craft an item described as a ring (or, more important, an item that has Forge Ring as a prerequisite)—but it should make it a bit easier for you to find various items.

Armor (Chapter 1): This category includes both specific, preconstructed magic suits of armor or shields as well as the various properties that can be added to any appropriate suit of armor or shield (such as fortification or acid resistance). It doesn’t include robes (or other items worn in the same body slot as armor), since most of those items don’t offer the same kinds of effects, nor does it include bracers of armor or other items that provide similar protection—those are both clothing items.

Weapons (Chapter 2): This category includes both specific, preconstructed weapons as well as the various properties that can be added to any appropriate weapon. It also includes rods that function primarily as weapons (such as the rod of blasting), but not those without such functions, or whose weapon functions are clearly secondary to their other functions (such as the rod of alertness)—those are tools. Similarly, it doesn’t include offensive-based items that aren’t wielded as weapons (such as the circlet of blasting or the iron bands of Bilaro)—such items are either clothing or tools, based on whether they’re worn or just held.

Clothing (Chapter 3): This category includes all magic items that must be worn in order to function, other than magic armor and shields (which are in the armor category). The clothing category also includes jewelry and similar baubles. Most clothing items take up a body slot (see page 218).

Tools (Chapter 4): This broad category includes all magic items that must be held, consumed, or otherwise manipulated in order to function (rather than simply being worn), not including items wielded as weapons. By definition, tools don’t occupy a body slot; most but not all must be held to be activated. Potions, scrolls, wands, and staves are also considered tools.

Item Sets (Chapter 5): This category includes items that fall into all four of the categories described above. Rather than splitting these sets up by item category, however, each complete set is presented together for easy reference.

Using Magic Items (Chapter 6): This chapter collects, revises, and expands various rules and guidelines for handling magic items in play, from placing the right item in a treasure hoard to identifying the item to wearing it properly.

Appendices: The book concludes with two sets of extensive tables listing all the magic items in this book as well as those in the Dungeon Master’s Guide. The tables are designed to allow quick reference by DMs and players looking for just the right item, as well as for random generation of treasure hoards.

MAGIC ITEM FORMAT DESCRIPTION

This book introduces a new format for describing magic items, which combines useful elements of past item formats with the familiar functionality of spell descriptions from the Player’s Handbook. The new format presents the most important information about each item—how it’s activated, how much it costs, where it’s worn, and what it does—in a simple, predictable layout that’s easy to refer to during play.

ITEM NAME

Price (Item Level): The purchase price of the item, in gold pieces (gp). The item’s level (see page 226) is given in parentheses.

Body Slot: The location where the item is worn on the body (see Body Slots, page 218). An entry of — indicates the item need only be carried on the body to function. An entry of — (held) indicates the item must be physically held or manipulated (rather than simply kept in a pocket, pouch, or backpack) for its power to function. Augment crystals, a new type of magic item described on page 221, have an entry of — (armor crystal), — (shield crystal), or — (weapon crystal).

Caster Level: The item’s caster level, most often used to determine its resistance to dispel checks.

Aura: The item’s aura strength, which is revealed if it is subjected to a detect magic spell, followed by a semicolon. Next, in parentheses, is the Spellcraft DC required to determine the school of magic, followed by the school or schools of magic associated with the item’s aura (usually determined by the spells listed in an item’s prerequisites). If the item requires only universal spells, or if it requires no spells, this reads “no school.”

If multiple spells of different schools are required, the item’s aura is of the school of the highest-level spell. When two spells of different schools are equally high in level, the entry mentions both schools.

Activation: The type of action required to activate the item’s effect, along with what the user must do to activate the item (see Activating Magic Items, page 219). An entry of — indicates the item operates continuously, without any need for activation.

Weight: Item’s weight, in pounds. An entry of — indicates the item has a negligible weight (less than 1/2 pound).

A visual description of the item, read by the DM to a player whose character has discovered the item.

A description of the item’s functions, including its effect, duration, range, uses per day, and so on.

Lore: Information about the item that may be learned by making appropriate Knowledge checks. The item’s name and/or functions must be known before Knowledge checks reveal this information.

Prerequisites: The feats, spells, or other prerequisites required of the creator of the item.

Cost to Create: The item’s gp cost, XP cost, and days to create.

OTHER SOURCES

Magic Item Compendium draws on material from a number of sources aside from the three Dungeons & Dragons® core books—the Player’s Handbook (PH), Dungeon Master’s Guide (DMG), and Monster Manual (MM). These other sources, and the abbreviations used to identify them in the following text, are: Book of Exalted Deeds (BoED), Complete Adventurer (CAD), Complete Arcane (CAr), Complete Divine (CD), Complete Pionic (CP), Complete Warrior (CW), Eberron Campaign Setting (ECS), Epic Level Handbook (ELH), Expanded Psionics Handbook (EPH), Libris Mortis (LM), Miniatures Handbook (MH), Magic of Incarnum (MoI), Player’s Handbook II (PH2), Spell Compendium (SC), Sandstorm (SnD), and Tome of Magic (ToM). In general, possession of any or all of these other sources is not necessary to make use of the material in this book.

YOU CHANGED MY MAGIC ITEMS!

Yes, we did. Chances are, if your character owns a magic item that doesn’t appear in the Dungeon Master’s Guide, something about that item—its price, activation, effect, or even its body slot—is different here from when it was originally published. We didn’t change these items on a whim—the revisions here are designed to create a better overall game experience.

If you own a magic item that underwent a drastic price change, work with your DM to find an equitable solution. Maybe the wizard who crafted it for you offers a rebate (or an extra item) to make up the difference for an overpayment, or perhaps the DM just promises to make it up to you with some extra treasure in the next few encounters. And if you underpaid for an item, well, consider yourself lucky . . . but don’t be surprised if the next couple of encounters provide a little less gold than you’d expect!
or the average adventurer, a suit of magic armor is the first and most important defense against enemies. Not much can compare with the effectiveness of a magically enhanced coat of tough leather, steel rings, or sturdy plates. But the potential protection of a suit of armor or shield doesn't stop with its enhancement bonus. This chapter collects dozens of magical properties applicable to armor and shields, along with many specific suits of armor and shields constructed with a particular array of useful properties.

"My armor? +3 adamantine light fortification full plate. I wouldn't leave home without it."
—Tordek

Special Materials: Five percent of armor or shields are made of special materials, such as adamantine, darkwood, dragonhide, or mithral. Tables 1–1 through 1–4 summarize the effects of the most common special materials used in armor and shields; see Special Materials, DMG 283, for more details. All adamantine, darkwood, dragonhide, and mithral items are automatically of masterwork quality, and the costs in Tables 1–1 through 1–4 include masterwork costs.

Hardness and Hit Points: Each +1 of enhancement bonus adds 2 to the hardness of a suit of armor or shield, and 10 to its hit points. Only the armor or shield's actual enhancement bonus to Armor Class applies; special properties with an enhancement bonus equivalent for the purpose of determining market price don't increase the hardness or hit points of armor or a shield.

Armor Subtypes: Some armor or shield entries have a subtype, either "synergy" or "relic," in brackets following the entry's name. A synergy item has a prerequisite, typically an existing special property already imbued into the armor to be enhanced. A relic item has special effectiveness for a character devoted to a particular deity. Additional rules for creating and using these items appear in Chapter 6.

ACIDIC

Price: +1 bonus
Property: Armor or shield

This item has a sick-looking, greenish sheen, and a light, acrid-smelling mist constantly rises from its surface.

However, the acid deals no damage to creatures or objects that remain in contact with it for less than a full round, such as when a creature makes a melee attack against you.

BEASTSKIN

Price: +2 bonus
Property: Armor
Caster Level: 13th
Aura: Strong; (DC 21) transmutation
Activation: —

This armor is lightly patterned with lines resembling fur, scales, and feathers. Its coloration continuously shifts among muted tones of brown, green, and gray.

First created by powerful druids, armor that has this property is particularly useful to characters of that class. Whenever you use wild shape, you can expend one additional daily use of that ability to transform your beastskin armor along with you, rather than simply allowing it to merge with your body. When you do so, the armor transforms into a suit of armor of the same type, fitted for your new form.

The armor's weight changes to match your new form (and shape, if you assume a form with a different body shape).

If you are proficient with your suit of beastskin armor in your natural form, then you are proficient with the transformed version as well, regardless of what shape you take.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, ironwood.

Cost to Create: Varies.
What's scarier than fighting a giant bear?
Fighting a giant bear wearing beastskin armor.
BLURRING
Price: +15,000 gp
Property: Armor
Caster Level: 10th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) transmutation
Activation: Standard (command)

Parts of this semitransparent armor seem to fade in and out of existence, there one moment and gone the next.

When you activate armor that has this property, you can “blink” back and forth between the Material Plane and the Ethereal Plane, as if affected by a blink spell. The blurring property functions once per day, and the effect lasts for 1 minute.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, blink.
Cost to Create: 7,500 gp, 600 XP, 15 days.

BLUESHINE
Price: +1,500 gp
Property: Metal armor
Caster Level: 12th
Aura: Strong; (DC 21) abjuration
Activation: —

This armor glistens with a blue-black sheen, as if it were covered in oily liquid sapphire.

A suit of armor imbued with this property never tarnishes and is immune to acid damage and rusting effects. While wearing blueshine armor, you gain a +2 competence bonus on Hide checks.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, blink.
Cost to Create: 750 gp, 60 XP, 2 days.

BLINKING
Price: +1 bonus
Property: Armor
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) transmutation
Activation: Swift (command)

This armor appears indistinct, as though its edges were smeared.

When you activate this armor, your appearance becomes distorted and hazy, as if you were affected by a blur spell. The blinking property functions three times per day, and the effect lasts for 5 rounds.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, blur.
Cost to Create: Varies.

BLURRING, GREATER [SYNERGY]
Price: +2 bonus
Caster Level: 12th
Aura: Strong; (DC 21) illusion
Synergy Prerequisite: Blurring

A light mist surrounds this armor, obscuring its exact details.

As blurring armor, except that the effect’s duration is 10 minutes, and you can activate the blurring property any number of times per day.

Cost to Create: Varies.

BUOYANT
Price: +4,000 gp
Property: Armor
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) transmutation
Activation: —

This bluish metal armor seems oddly light in your hands, with a liquid sheen.

This armor is buoyant in water or similar liquids. Armor that has this property does not apply an armor check penalty on your Swim checks. Additionally, it grants you a +2 competence bonus on Swim checks while you wear it.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, swim (SC 217).
Cost to Create: 2,000 gp, 160 XP, 4 days.

CALLED
Price: +2,000 gp
Property: Armor or shield
Caster Level: 9th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) conjuration
Activation: Swift (command)

At first glance, this armor or shield looks like any other item of its kind. Closer inspection reveals a small image of a beckoning hand inscribed on its surface.

Provided that you and your called armor or shield are on the same plane, you can call it to you by speaking the proper command word, regardless of the intervening distance. If you aren’t wearing armor at the time, a suit of called armor appears on your body, as though you had donned it in the normal fashion. If you are wearing other armor when you speak the command word, the called armor appears in your space or in an adjacent space you designate that is capable of holding it. A called shield appears on the proper arm if you are not already using another shield when you call it, or in your space or a designated adjacent space if you are.

If any other creature has worn your called armor or shield since you last wore it, you can no longer call it until you wear it again.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, teleport.
Cost to Create: 1,000 gp, 80 XP, 2 days.

COMMANDER
Price: +2,000 gp
Property: Armor or shield
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) transmutation
Activation: —

This item looks particularly clean and bright—in fact, it almost seems to shine with its own light.

A suit of armor or shield that has this property always appears brilliant and gleaming, even in filthy or squalid conditions, though it doesn’t shed any useful light. Attempts to paint over or obscure its finish do not diminish its brightness.

While wearing commander armor or carrying a commander shield, you gain a +2 competence bonus on Diplomacy checks, and each ally within 30 feet of you (not including yourself) gains a +1 morale bonus on Will saves. However, the shiny finish makes you so noticeable that you also take a –5 penalty on Hide checks (in addition to the normal armor check penalty).

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, eagle’s splendor.
Cost to Create: 1,000 gp, 80 XP, 2 days.

DAYLIGHT
Price: +3,000 gp
Property: Armor or shield
Caster Level: 9th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) evocation
Activation: Swift (command)

This brightly polished item bears an image of the sun and has a golden tinge.

When activated, a suit of armor or a shield that has this property glows with the brilliance of a daylight spell. This effect functions for up to 30 minutes per day, but the duration need not be continuous; you can turn the effect off with a swift action.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, daylight.
Cost to Create: 1,500 gp, 120 XP, 3 days.

to turn brown and scatter on the breeze.
During this process, you merge with the fallen leaves and disappear. Though the leaves appear to flutter near the ground, they are actually under your disembodied control. While in this state, you can move and interact with your environment as if you were under the effect of a gaseous form spell. This effect lasts for up to 30 minutes or until you use a standard action to end it.
To use the relic power, you must worship Obad-Hai and either sacrifice a
4th-level divine spell slot or have the True
Believer feat and at least 7 HD. If you sacrifice a 6th-level divine slot (or have the True Believer feat and at least 11 HD), you can use the relic power two times per day.
Lore: The first suit of armor of the fallen leaves was sewn together by Ehlonna and presented as a gift to Obad-Hai (Knowledge [religion] DC 20).
Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, Sanctify Relic, baleful polymorph, gust of wind.
DRAGONRIDER ARMOR
- Price (Item Level): 18,300 gp (15th)
- Body Slot: Body
- Caster Level: 5th
- Aura: Faint; (DC 17) transmutation
- Activation: —
- Weight: 50 lb.

This armor seems to be made from old, worn dragon scales, which give it a pleasantly rustic look.

This suit of +1 dragonhide full plate is made from cast-off scales rather than the hide of a slain dragon. While wearing it, you have resistance 10 against the form of energy associated with the breath weapon of the dragon that provided the scales (such as fire, in the case of red dragonrider armor). You also gain a +5 competence bonus on Ride checks you make while riding any creature of the dragon type.

In addition, dragonrider armor automatically produces a feather fall effect (as the feather fall spell) if you fall more than 5 feet while wearing it.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, cat’s grace.

Cost to Create: 7,500 gp (plus 3,300 gp for dragonhide full plate), 600 XP, 15 days.

EARTHPLATE ARMOR
- Price (Item Level): 41,650 gp (17th)
- Body Slot: Body
- Caster Level: 9th
- Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) conjuration
- Activation: Standard (command)
- Weight: 70 lb.

At first glance, this suit of full plate looks filthy and ill kept. On closer examination, you can see it is expertly crafted, and what appears to be dirt is actually the color of the metal itself. A black crystal shard is set horizontally across the front of the armor, just below the shoulders. Runes in the Gnome language mark its greaves and gauntlets, and the aroma of fresh earth seems to emanate from the suit.

A suit of earthplate armor functions as +1 full plate. Once per day while wearing this armor, you can activate a stoneskin effect, as the stoneskin spell. As long as this effect is active, you also gain tremorsense out to 5 feet (MM 316). Both effects last for 90 minutes or until the stoneskin effect absorbs 90 points of damage, whichever comes first.

Prerequisites: Bind Elemental (ECS 51) or Craft Magic Arms and Armor, planar binding, stoneskin.

Cost to Create: 20,000 gp (plus 1,650 gp for masterwork full plate), 1,600 XP, 40 days.

ELECTRIC EEL HIDE
- Price (Item Level): 14,165 gp (14th)
- Body Slot: Body
- Caster Level: 9th
- Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) abjuration
- Activation: Standard (mental)
- Weight: 25 lb.

This armor is made from the rubbery black hide of some finely scaled fish or eel and is slick with a thin slime.

When you activate this suit of +1 buoyant slick hide, it generates an electricity shield that lasts 5 rounds. Any creature that strikes you with a natural weapon, unarmed attack, or nonreach manufactured weapon takes 1d6 points of electricity damage. This shield can be activated three times per day.

In addition, while the electricity shield is active, you can make a melee touch attack to deal 5d6 points of electricity damage. If underwater, you can produce a lightning burst that deals 2d6 points of electricity damage to all other adjacent creatures. Using either of these abilities ends the electricity shield effect.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, freedom of movement, grease, shocking grasp.

Cost to Create: 7,000 gp (plus 165 gp for masterwork hide), 560 XP, 14 days.

Body Slot: Body
Caster Level: 9th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) transmutation

Once per day, you can activate the armor to gain a +4 enhancement bonus to Intelligence for 9 minutes.

Two times per day, you can activate the armor to gain the scent special quality (MM 314) for 5 rounds.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, create undead, Knowledge (religion) 5 ranks.

Cost to Create: 5,000 gp (plus 160 gp for masterwork leather), 400 XP, 10 days.

Body Slot: Body
Caster Level: 9th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) transmutation
Activation: — and swift (command)
Weight: 20 lb.

This suit of armor is covered by a layer of gigantic golden feathers that seem to shimmer in even the dimmest light.

While wearing this +1 studded leather armor, you gain a continuous +5 competence bonus on Spot checks. In addition, the armor has two other special abilities.

Once per day, you can activate the armor to gain a +4 enhancement bonus to your Charisma for 9 minutes.

Three times per day, you can cause the armor to sprout wings, allowing you to fly at a speed of 60 feet (good maneuverability) for 5 rounds.

The special properties of a suit of hawkfeather armor function normally while you are in wild shape (although it does not grant its armor bonus to AC). This armor includes no metal parts, and thus druids are not prohibited from wearing it.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, eagle’s splendor, wild shape.

Cost to Create: 6,000 gp (plus 175 gp for masterwork studded leather), 480 XP, 12 days.

Body Slot: Body
Caster Level: 11th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) transmutation
Activation: Swift (command)
Weight: 12 lb.

This armor of black chain links has obviously seen heavy use: Five long lengths of chain, to which nasty-looking barbs and small blades are affixed, have unraveled and now dangle free from the bottom of the chest piece.

This suit of armor functions as a +1 mithral shirt. When you activate it, one of the five dangling chains makes one melee attack (using your base attack bonus) against an adjacent creature of your choice. The chain deals 1d6 points of bludgeoning damage (no Str bonus on damage), and is treated as a magic weapon with an enhancement bonus equal to the armor’s enhancement bonus to AC.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, animate objects.

Cost to Create: 6,000 gp (plus 1,100 gp for mithral shirt), 480 XP, 12 days.
MILLENIAL CHAINMAIL [RElic]

Price (Item Level): 8,150 gp (12th)
Body Slot: Body
Caster Level: 20th
Aura: Strong; (DC 25) conjuration
Activation: —
Weight: 20 lb.

This suit of armor feels like mithral chainmail to the touch, but its minuscule rings are a pale green color that turn brighter when exposed to the sun. If you are chaotic good, chaotic neutral, or neutral good, millennial chainmail functions as +1 mithral chainmail while you wear it. It is considered light armor and has a maximum Dexterity bonus of +8, an armor check penalty of –2, and an arcane spell failure chance of 15%.

Relic Power: If you have established the proper divine connection, a suit of millennial chainmail painlessly extends tiny green roots into your skin when you don it. This effect grants you fast healing 3 as long as you are in brighter than shadowy illumination.

To use the relic power, you must worship Corellon Larethian and either sacrifice a 4th-level divine spell slot or have the True Believer feat and at least 7 HD.

Lore: The original suit of millennial chainmail was created by a dryad cleric for her lover, an elf hero who kept the surrounding woodlands safe. Upon the elf’s death, the armor was consecrated to Corellon Larethian, who duplicated it for several of his chosen heroes (Knowledge [religion] DC 20).

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, Sanctify Relic, regenerate.

Cost to Create: 2,000 gp (plus 4,150 gp for mithral chainmail), 160 XP, 3 days.

Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) conjuration
Activation: Swift (mental)
Weight: 10 lb.

This delicate-looking chain shirt is forged from a silver-white mithral alloy that gleams like starlight.

Up to seven times per day, you can activate this +1 mithral shirt to fill your space with a billowing silver mist. This gleaming fog grants you concealment against attacks as you concentrate, up to a maximum of 10 rounds. Because you must keep your shield arm raised while the wall of force is active, you gain no benefit to AC from this shield for the duration of the effect.

Cost to Create: 12,000 gp (plus 170 gp for masterwork heavy steel shield), 960 XP, 24 days.

While wearing this +1 leather, you gain a +2 competence bonus on Listen and Move Silently checks. In addition, the armor has three other special abilities.

Once per day, you can activate the armor to gain a +4 enhancement bonus to Wisdom for 9 minutes.

Twice per day, you can activate the armor to gain a +5 competence bonus on Spot checks for 10 minutes; this effect functions only while in shadowy illumination.

Three times per day, you can cause the armor to sprout wings, allowing you to fly at a speed of 40 feet (good maneuverability) for 5 rounds.

The special properties of a suit of owlfeather armor function normally while you are in wild shape (although it does not grant its armor bonus to AC).

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, owl’s wisdom, wild shape.

Cost to Create: 4,000 gp (plus 160 gp for masterwork leather), 320 XP, 8 days.

CHAPTER 1

ARMS

The appearance of fanged reptilian heads. Its belt looks like a coiled snake, and a gemlike slit eye stare out from the gorget.

This +1 leather provides you with a +1 resistance bonus on Reflex saving throws. While you wear it, you gain the benefit of the Combat Reflexes feat.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, cat’s grace.

Cost to Create: 6,000 gp (plus 160 gp for masterwork leather), 480 XP, 12 days.

SHIELD OF MERCY

Price (Item Level): 2,170 gp (6th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) conjuration, transmutation
Activation: Standard (command)
Weight: 15 lb.

This finely crafted shield is engraved with the image of a holy warrior healing a wounded beggar.

A shield of mercy functions as a +1 heavy steel shield and also allows you to channel your destructive power into healing. You can expend a smite attempt (such as from a paladin’s smite evil class feature or the granted power of the Destruction domain) to heal a creature by touch. The touched creature is healed of a number of points of damage equal to the extra damage that you would have dealt with the smite attack. For example, a 10th-level paladin could expend one use of her smite evil ability to heal 10 points of damage.

If you also wear a magic item that grants an enhancement bonus to your Wisdom score, you add the item’s bonus to the amount of damage healed by the shield of mercy. For example, if the 10th-level paladin described above also wore a periapt of Wisdom +2, each use of smite evil she expended would heal 12 points of damage.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, cure moderate wounds, owl’s wisdom.

Cost to Create: 1,000 gp (plus 170 gp for masterwork heavy steel shield), 80 XP, 2 days.

SHIELD OF THE RESOLUTE [RELIQ]

Price (Item Level): 5,520 gp (10th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 20th
Aura: Strong; (DC 25) necromancy
Activation: —
Weight: 7 lb.

This shield is made from hundreds of strips of mithral, each a different size, color, and texture, riveted together in a patchwork design. Like other mithral shields, it is unusually light for its size.
Despite its motley appearance, a shield of the resolute is a bulwark of defense. It functions as a +1 light fortification heavy mithral shield, provided that you are lawful good, neutral good, or lawful neutral.

Relic Power: If you have established the proper divine connection, a shield of the resolute terrorizes enemies of the dwarves. Every goblinoid and giant within 30 feet of you that gazes upon the shield must succeed on a DC 17 Will save or be shaken (if its Hit Dice are equal to or greater than yours) or frightened (if it has fewer Hit Dice than you do) for 2 rounds. This effect functions like a gaze attack, so the saves must be made at the beginning of each affected creature’s turn every round, unless it takes measures to avoid seeing the shield (see DMG 294 for gaze attack rules). Unlike with a true gaze attack, you can’t use a standard action on your turn to use this effect against a creature. Once a creature has failed the save, the shield’s power has no further effect on that creature for 24 hours.

Lore: Shields of the resolute are said to be assembled from pieces of the shields carried by dwarves who fell in battle defending their homelands. When the Soul Forger gathers their souls, he creates these shields in his forge in remembrance of their valor (Knowledge [religion] DC 20).

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, Sanctify Relic, fear, limited wish or miracle.

Cost to Create: 2,250 gp (plus 1,020 gp for heavy mithral shield), 180 XP, 5 days.

SHIELD OF THE SEVERED HAND [RELIC]

Price (Item Level): 4,657 gp (9th)

Body Slot: — (held)

Caster Level: 20th

Aura: Strong; (DC 25) evocation

Activation: Immediate (command)

Weight: 10 lb.

This heavy wooden shield is emblazoned with a gory handprint and decorated with bloody symbols. The bloody marks appear fresh and wet.

This gory item is favored by orcs for its shock value to enemies, as well as for its special properties. A shield of the severed hand functions as a +2 heavy wooden shield if you are chaotic evil, chaotic neutral, or neutral evil.

Relic Power: If you have established the proper divine connection, you can activate this shield to make an immediate bull rush attempt (with a +4 bonus on the Strength check) against an adjacent opponent that has just attacked you in melee. This action does not provoke an attack of opportunity from that opponent. You can’t fall prone during this attempt, and you can’t follow the opponent if you push it back.

To use the relic power, you must worship Gruumsh and either sacrifice a 4th-level divine spell slot or have the True Believer feat and at least 7 HD.

Lore: The original shield of the severed hand was created when an orc warrior chopped off the hand of an elf king and mounted it on his shield. Upon the warrior’s death, the shield was placed on his blazing funeral pyre. Afterward, it was found intact amid the ashes, still bearing the palm print of its grisly burden (Knowledge [religion] DC 20).

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, Sanctify Relic, Gruumsh’s forceful hand.

Cost to Create: 2,250 gp (plus 157 gp for masterwork heavy wooden shield), 180 XP, 5 days.

Body Slot: Body

Caster Level: 9th

Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) transmutation

Activation: — and swift (command)

Weight: 25 lb.

Striped fur, smelling thickly of some great beast, covers this chain shirt.

While wearing this +1 mithral shirt, you gain a +2 competence bonus on Climb, Hide, Jump, and Move Silently checks.
In addition, the armor has three other special abilities.

Once per day, you can activate the armor to gain a +4 enhancement bonus to Dexterity for 9 minutes.

Two times per day, you can activate the armor to gain the scent special quality (MM 314) for 5 rounds.

Three times per day on command, the armor allows you to sprout a pair of claws. These claws deal 1d4 points of damage each (assuming you are Medium) and extend your natural reach by 5 feet. You can attack with both claws as though they were primary natural weapons. Alternatively, you can use a single claw to make an attack as a natural secondary weapon (–5 on the attack roll, no effect on your other attacks). If you charge a foe, you can attack with both claws at the end of the charge. These claws last for 5 rounds.

The special properties of a suit of tigerskin armor function normally while you are in wild shape (although it does not grant its armor bonus to AC). Despite its mithral construction, druids are not prohibited from wearing this armor.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, cat’s grace, wild shape.

Cost to Create: 8,000 gp (plus 1,100 gp for mithral shirt), 640 XP, 16 days.

Caster Level: 6th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) transmutation
Activation: Standard (command)
Weight: 20 lb.

On the breast of this black studded leather armor is the image of an oversized skull gnashing its pointed teeth. Severe edges give the armor a decidedly intimidating appearance.

When you activate this +1 shadow studded leather, it makes a single touched creature or yourself imperceptible to undead (as if affected by the hide from undead spell). That creature also gains darkvision out to 60 feet while so affected.

This property functions three times per day, and the effect lasts for 1 hour.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, darkvision, hide from undead.

Cost to Create: 7,000 gp (plus 175 gp for masterwork studded leather), 560 XP, 14 days.

WIGHT HIDE SHIELD
Price (Item Level): 9,159 gp (12th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 12th
Aura: Strong; (DC 21) necromancy
Activation: —
Weight: 6 lb.

This shield is covered in the hide of a wight, and in its center is a grotesque mockery of a humanoid face. When held, it seems to throb and pulse with unholy hunger.

A wight hide shield functions as a +1 light steel shield. When you use a shield bash attack with a wight hide shield to deal damage to a living creature, the target must succeed on a DC 14 Fortitude save or gain one negative level (see PH 125 for rules on shield bash attacks).

A wight hide shield can bestow no more than three negative levels per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, create undead, Knowledge (religion) 5 ranks.

Cost to Create: 4,500 gp (plus 159 gp for masterwork light steel shield), 360 XP, 9 days.

sking a warrior to enter battle without his most trusted blade is like asking him to give up his right arm. A sturdy suit of armor might keep a fighter or barbarian alive, but without a good weapon in his hand, he can't win the battle.

This chapter collects over 100 special weapon properties, plus dozens of specific magic weapons, each constructed with a particular array of useful properties.

Special Materials: Five percent of weapons are made of unusual materials, such as adamantine, cold iron, or alchemical silver. Each of these special materials allows the weapon to overcome the damage reduction of certain creatures. Table 2–1 summarizes the additional effects of the most common special materials used in weapons; see Special Materials, DMG 283, for more details.

Adamantine weapons are automatically of masterwork quality, and this cost is included in the weapon cost.

Hardness and Hit Points: Each +1 of enhancement bonus adds 1 to a weapon’s hardness and 1 to its hit points. Only the weapon’s actual enhancement bonus applies; special properties with an enhancement bonus equivalent for the purpose of determining market price don’t increase the hardness or hit points of a weapon.

Weapon Subtypes: Some weapon entries have a subtype, either “synergy” or “relic,” in brackets following the entry’s name. A synergy item has a synergy prerequisite, typically an existing special property already imbued into the weapon to be enhanced. A relic item has special effectiveness for a character devoted to a particular deity. Additional rules for creating and using these items appear in Chapter 6.

WEAPON PROPERTIES

A weapon with a special property must have at least a +1 enhancement bonus. You can’t simply have a flaming longsword—it would have to be at least a +1 flaming longsword. A single weapon cannot have a modified bonus (enhancement bonus plus property bonus equivalents) higher than +10, nor can it have a market price (not counting special materials or the price of the masterwork weapon itself) of greater than 200,000 gp (or 200,000 gp for each end of a double weapon). For weapons that exceed these limits, see Epic Level Handbook.

Unless noted otherwise in the Property entry, each special property in this chapter can be added to any weapon. Some properties can be applied only to a particular category of weapons, and are so noted. A few properties can be added only to a smaller subset of a category (such as projectile weapons); this fact is stated in the item’s Property entry.

The items in this section are arranged alphabetically.

ACIDIC BURST [SYNERGY]

Price: +1 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 12th
Aura: Strong; (DC 21) conjuration
Activation: Standard (command) and

Synergy Prerequisite: Corrosive

The surface of this weapon is pitted and worn.

An acidic burst weapon functions as a corrosive weapon (see page 31). In addition, the weapon automatically showers an opponent with acid upon a successful critical hit, dealing extra acid damage as set out on the table below. This acid does not harm you or any creature other than the target. This is a continuous effect and requires no activation. Even if the weapon has not been activated to deal the extra acid damage, the weapon still deals its extra acid damage on a successful critical hit.

Projectile weapons bestow this property upon their ammunition.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, Melf’s acid arrow.

Cost to Create: Varies.

AQUAN

Price: +2 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 7th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) evocation
Activation: —

Water constantly drips from the tip of this blue-green weapon. Its grip is inlaid with mother-of-pearl in a wavelike design.

An aquan weapon automatically overcomes the damage reduction of any creature that has the fire subtype. In addition, the weapon deals an extra 2d6 points of damage against such creatures.

An aquan weapon also bestows one negative level on any creature that has the fire subtype and attempts to wield it. The negative level remains as long as the weapon is in hand and disappears when the weapon is no longer held. This negative level never results in actual level loss, but it cannot be overcome in any way (including restoration spells) while the weapon is wielded.

Projectile weapons bestow this property upon their ammunition.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, water subtype.

Cost to Create: Varies.

AQUATIC

Price: 2,000 gp
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 7th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) abjuration
Activation: —

This weapon has a silvery-blue tinge, like the sheen of white scales in sunlight.

While wielding an aquatic weapon, you do not incur any penalties that would otherwise apply to using the weapon underwater (DMC 92), as though you were affected by a freedom of movement spell.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, freedom of movement.

Cost to Create: 1,000 gp, 80 XP, 2 days.

ARCANE MIGHT

Price: +1 bonus
Property: Bows (not crossbows)
Caster Level: 15th
Aura: Strong; (DC 22) transmutation
Activation: Swift (mental)

This elegant, supple bow has intricate runes carved along its length.

You can channel the energy of your arcane spells through this bow to make the arrows fired from it more damaging. As a swift action, you can sacrifice a prepared arcane spell from memory (or an unused spell slot if you are a spontaneous arcane caster). Doing so grants a bonus equal to the sacrificed spell’s level on the next damage roll you make with the bow that turn.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, greater magic weapon.

Cost to Create: Varies.

AURAN

Price: +2 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 7th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) evocation
Activation: —

Wind constantly whistles along the length of this white-enameled weapon. Its grip is inlaid with whorls of silver that resemble clouds.

An auran weapon automatically overcomes the damage reduction of any creature that has the earth subtype. In addition, the weapon deals an extra 2d6 points of damage against such creatures.

An auran weapon also bestows one negative level on any creature that has the earth subtype and attempts to wield it. The negative level remains as long as the weapon is in hand and disappears when the weapon is no longer held. This negative level never results in actual level loss, but it cannot be overcome in any way (including restoration spells) while the weapon is wielded.

Projectile weapons bestow this property upon their ammunition.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, earth subtype.

Cost to Create: Varies.

BANISHING

Price: +2 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 13th
Aura: Strong; (DC 21) abjuration
Activation: Free (command)

This weapon has intricate runes carved along its length.
A barely visible head of light slowly traces the outline of this weapon.

When you strike an extraplanar creature of 26 Hit Dice or fewer while wielding a weapon that has this property, you can activate the weapon to banish that creature back to its home plane (Will DC 20 negates). A creature so banished cannot return for at least 24 hours. A creature that succeeds on its save cannot be banished by the same weapon for 24 hours.

If the creature struck has damage reduction that requires a particular weapon alignment or special material to overcome, increase the save DC by 2 for each such property shared by the weapon. For example, if you use a holy banishing cold iron weapon against a hezrou (damage reduction 10/good), the save DC would increase by 2, while against a marilith (damage reduction 10/good and cold iron), the save DC would increase by 4.

The banishing property can be activated three times per day.

Projectile weapons bestow this property upon their ammunition.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, banishment.

Cost to Create: Varies.

BLESSED

Price: +1 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Dim; (DC 17) divination
Activation: — and swift (command)

This weapon has a faint glow emanating from within it.

A blessed weapon is treated as good-aligned for the purpose of overcoming damage reduction. This effect is continuous and requires no activation.

In addition, three times per day you can activate a blessed weapon to automatically confirm all critical threats against evil foes for 1 round (as if the weapon were affected by the bless weapon spell).

Other effects related to threatening or confirming critical hits (such as the keen edge spell or the vorpal weapon property) don’t confer an additional benefit on a weapon that has this property.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, bless weapon.

Cost to Create: Varies.

BLOODFEEDING

Price: +1 bonus
Property: Melee weapon
Caster Level: 7th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) necromancy
Activation: — and free (command)

This weapon has a blood-red tint.

Every time a bloodfeeding weapon deals damage to a living creature, it gains 1 “blood point,” which it can store for up to 1 hour. The weapon can store a maximum of 10 blood points. This effect is continuous and requires no activation.

When you deal damage to a creature while wielding a bloodfeeding weapon, you can activate the weapon to spend up to 5 stored blood points. Each blood point you spend in this way deals an extra 2 points of damage to that creature. The weapon doesn’t gain any blood points from a strike on which you use this ability.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, vampiric touch.

Cost to Create: Varies.

BLOODSTONE

Price: +1 bonus
Property: Melee weapon
Caster Level: 10th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) necromancy
Activation: Free (command)

The blade of this weapon bears red crystals carefully inlaid in intricate designs.

A bloodstone weapon can store and cast a vampiric touch spell against a creature it strikes, just as if it were a spell storing weapon (DMG 225). Any such spell cast from a bloodstone weapon is automatically empowered (as if by the Empower Spell feat). A bloodstone weapon can store no more than one such spell at any time, and it cannot store a spell other than vampiric touch.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, Empower Spell, vampiric touch.

Cost to Create: Varies.

BLURSTRIKE

Price: +2 bonus
Property: Melee weapon
Caster Level: 6th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) illusion
Activation: Swift (command)

The form of a screeching bat’s head adorns the end of this weapon, and images of wings and fluttering nocturnal forms run along its length.

When activated, a blindsighted weapon emits a susurrus of whispered notes (Listen DC 10). While wielding the activated weapon, you gain blindsight out to 30 feet. This effect is negated by silence spells and effects.

The blindsighted property functions three times per day, and the effect lasts for 1 minute.

Cost to Create: Varies.

BLINDSIGHTED

Price: +2 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 6th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) divination
Activation: Standard (command)

The form of a screeching bat’s head adorns the end of this weapon, and images of wings and fluttering nocturnal forms run along its length.

When activated, a blindsighted weapon emits a susurrus of whispered notes (Listen DC 10). While wielding the activated weapon, you gain blindsight out to 30 feet. This effect is negated by silence spells and effects.

The blindsighted property functions three times per day, and the effect lasts for 1 minute.
CHAPTER 2
WEAPONS

This weapon is semitransparent, almost as though it were glass, but it is obviously of sturdier make.

When activated, a blurstrike weapon partially fades from view for 1 round, appearing only as a faint outline (though you, as the wielder, can see it normally). When you attack, an activated blurstrike weapon (along with your hand and arm) appears to others as an amorphous blur, preventing a foe from knowing exactly where the blow is aimed. After you activate this property, your opponent is considered flat-footed against the first attack you make with the blurstrike weapon in the round when you activate it. Creatures that don’t rely on sight for combat (such as those with the blindsight special quality) and creatures with uncanny dodge aren’t treated as flat-footed against this attack.

The blurstrike property functions ten times per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, blur.

Cost to Create: Varies.

BODYFEEDER

Price: +3 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 9th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) necromancy

Activation: —

A bodyfeeder weapon composed of a dark, dull metal, this weapon is cold to the touch. Indeed, it seems to absorb your body heat.

Whenever a bodyfeeder weapon you wield scores a successful critical hit against a living creature, you gain temporary hit points equal to half the damage dealt by the critical hit. These temporary hit points last for up to 1 minute and don’t stack with those from any other source, including additional critical hits with this weapon.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, vampiric touch or claws of the vampire (EPH 84).

Cost to Create: Varies.

BRASH

Price: +1 bonus
Property: Melee weapon
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) abjuration

Activation: —

A slight vibration runs through this weapon, and a barely audible sound, like that of a distant battle cry, seems to echo from within it.

If you enter a rage while wielding a brash weapon, the rage lasts for an extra 3 rounds. In addition, while raging and wielding a brash weapon, you gain immunity to fear effects.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, remove fear.

Cost to Create: Varies.

BRUTAL SURGE

Price: +1 bonus
Property: Melee weapon
Caster Level: 11th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) evocation

Activation: Swift (command)

This weapon is broader, thicker, and darker in color than a normal weapon of its type.

After a successful melee attack with a brutal surge weapon, you can command the weapon to initiate a bull rush attempt against the target of the attack in addition to dealing its normal damage. This attempt does not provoke attacks of opportunity and is resolved using your size, Strength, and other relevant characteristics. If you wield a brutal surge weapon in two hands, you gain a +2 bonus on the opposed Strength check.

If successful, the bull rush pushes the affected creature back the greatest possible distance allowed by the result of the opposed check, but you do not move along with the target. Movement caused by this bull rush attempt provokes attacks of opportunity from other creatures normally, but you cannot make an attack of opportunity against the affected creature.

The brutal surge property is usable a number of times per day equal to 1 + your Con bonus (if any). Once you activate this property, it can’t be activated by any other creature until the following day.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, Bigby’s forceful hand.

Cost to Create: Varies.

Price: +2,000 gp
Property: Spear, shortspear, or longspear
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) transmutation
Activation: Swift (command)

This spear appears to be made entirely of a metal with a bright silver sheen, and the head is joined seamlessly to the haft.

A changeling weapon allows you to choose its length and appearance each time you attack with it. Once per round, by speaking the appropriate command word, you can change the weapon into a spear, a shortspear, or a longspear sized appropriately for you. As part of the same action, you can make its haft and head appear to be composed of any wood, stone, metal, or combination thereof that you want, and add any decorative flourishes desired, though the spear’s actual composition does not change.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, shrink item.

Cost to Create: 1,000 gp, 80 XP, 2 days.

Activation: Standard (command)

This weapon is dark in color, and its blade or head is covered with menacing runes.

When activated, a consumptive weapon is shrouded in negative energy that seems to draw light into it. The negative energy does not harm you as long as you have the weapon in hand. The effect persists until you speak a second command word. A weapon that has this property deals an extra 1d8 points of damage to any living creature on a successful hit.

Projectile weapons bestow this property upon their ammunition.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, enervation.

Cost to Create: Varies.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, beast curse.
Cost to Create: Varies.

DEADLY PRECISION

Price: +1 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) transmutation
Activation: —

This weapon looks more slender and elegant than others of its type. Its blade, point, or head glitters as though a thousand tiny facets were reflecting the ambient light.

A deadly precision weapon deals an extra tde points of damage whenever you make a successful sneak attack or sudden strike (CA 8) with it. The property grants no benefit if you don’t already have one of these class features, and its bonus doesn’t increase if you have both.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, keen edge.
Cost to Create: Varies.

DEFENSIVE SURGE

Price: +1 bonus
Property: Melee weapon
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) abjuration

Projectile weapons bestow this property upon their ammunition.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, desiccating bubble (SC 63).
Cost to Create: Varies.

DEISCATTING BURST [SYNERGY]

Price: +1 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 12th
Aura: Strong; (DC 21) necromancy
Activation: —

Synergy Prerequisite: Desiccating

All the moisture seems to have been sapped from this brittle, gray weapon, as if it’s been buried below shifting sands for centuries.

A desiccating burst weapon functions as a desiccating weapon (see above).

In addition, the weapon explodes with a dehydrating blast on a successful critical hit, dealing extra damage as set out in the table below. (This effect activates even if the target is not normally vulnerable to extra damage from critical hits.) The amount of damage is determined by the weapon’s critical multiplier and is doubled against plants and against elementals that have the water subtype. This burst does not harm you or any creature other than the target. This is a continuous effect and requires no activation. Even if the weapon has not been activated to deal extra damage because of the desiccating property, the weapon still deals its extra damage on a successful critical hit.

In addition, the critical hit renders the struck creature fatigued for 8 hours or until it consumes at least 1 gallon of water or some other rehydrating liquid.

Projectile weapons bestow this property upon their ammunition.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, horrid wilting.
Cost to Create: Varies.

DISARMING

Price: +2 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 17) transmutation
Activation: —

Several jutting prongs and ridges extend from this weapon.

A disarming weapon grants you a +2 bonus on disarm attempts. In addition, opponents cannot disarm you of this weapon.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, bull’s strength.
Cost to Create: Varies.

DISLOCATOR

Price: +1 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 12th
Aura: Strong; (DC 21) conjuration
Activation: Swift (mental)

Discolorations in the surface of this weapon appear, then fade in a random pattern. An elaborate handle contains a thumb-sized indent.

When you activate a dislocator weapon, the next successful attack you make before the end of your turn causes your target to be teleported up to 10 feet in any direction you choose (Will DC 17 negates). You can’t teleport a target into an occupied space (such an attempt automatically fails and wastes the effect).

Projectile weapons bestow this property on their ammunition.

A dislocator weapon functions three times per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, teleport.
Cost to Create: Varies.
DISLOCATOR, GREAT [SYNERGY]

Price: +1 bonus
Synergy Prerequisite: Dislocator

Brilliant discolorations in the surface of this weapon appear, then fade in a random pattern. An elaborate handle contains a thumb-sized indent coated in gold filigree.

This property functions as a dislocator weapon (see above), except the target can be teleported up to 30 feet in any direction (Will DC 20 negates).

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, greater teleport.
Cost to Create: Varies.

DISPELLING

Price: +1 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) abjuration
Activation: Free (command)

Arcane symbols cover this weapon, but many are scratched out and defaced, obscuring any meaning.

When you strike a creature or object with a dispelling weapon, you can activate it to target that creature or object with a targeted dispel magic effect (as the spell).

A dispelling weapon functions three times per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, dispel magic.
Cost to Create: Varies.

DISPELLING, GREATER [SYNERGY]

Price: +1 bonus
Caster Level: 15th
Aura: Strong; (DC 22) abjuration
Synergy Prerequisite: Dispelling

A single, incredibly complex arcane formula covers every inch of this weapon, but deep gashes and complex scratches cover it, as if purposefully destroying its meaning.

This weapon functions as a dispelling weapon (see above), except that when you activate it, the creature or object struck is affected by a targeted greater dispel magic effect (as the spell).

A greater dispelling weapon functions three times per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, greater dispel magic.
Cost to Create: Varies.

DIVINE WRATH

Price: +1 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 13th
Aura: Strong; (DC 21) evocation
Activation: Swift (mental)

This weapon has a golden sheen, and its grip is imprinted with a hand holding a lightning bolt.

Divine wrath weapons are especially prized by paladins and clerics of Heironeous. Whenever you hold such a weapon in your hand, you can expend a turn undead attempt to imbue it with divine power for 1 round. If your next successful attack with it hits an undead target, the weapon deals an extra 1d6 points of damage per point of Charisma bonus you possess (minimum 1d6).

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, searing light, turn undead, good alignment.
Cost to Create: Varies.

DOMINEERING

Price: +2 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 11th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) necromancy
Activation: —

A single, screaming skull adorns this weapon, its eyes set with raw black onyx inlays that give it a soulless look.

A creature hit by a domineering weapon becomes shaken for 1 minute (Will DC 16 negates). This effect doesn't stack with itself or with any other fear effects (it can't render an already shaken creature frightened, for example).

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, fear.
Cost to Create: Varies.

DOOM BURST

Price: +2 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 11th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) necromancy
Activation: —

This weapon is engraved with a severed dragon's head.

When wielding a drongoondoom weapon, you can choose to deliver a smite attack against a Large or larger creature of the dragon type up to three times each day. For every size category of the dragon larger than Medium, the smite attack deals an extra 1d6 points of damage (+1d6 against a Large dragon, +2d6 against Huge, +3d6 against Gargantuuan, and +4d6 against Colossal). You must declare the smite attack before you make your attack roll. If the attack misses (or the creature you strike is not of the dragon type), the smite is wasted.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, fell the greatest foe (SC 90).
Cost to Create: Varies.

DRAGONDOOM

Price: +1 bonus
Property: Projectile weapon
Caster Level: 7th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) transmutation
Activation: Swift (command)

This weapon is carved from a dragon's thighbone. The image of a dragon's skeleton is inlaid in jet.

A creature of the dragon type that is hit by a projectile fired from this weapon takes 1 point of Strength damage in addition to the normal damage from the weapon. In addition, the weapon's critical multiplier increases by 1 if the target is a dragon. For example, a critical hit from a dragonhunter longbow has a ×4 damage multiplier (instead of the normal ×3) against a dragon, so such a creature would take four times normal damage (but still only 1 point of Strength damage) with a critical hit.
Other effects related to threatening or confirming critical hits (such as keen edge or bless weapon spells) don’t function when placed on a weapon that has this property.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, keen edge, ray of enfeeblement.

Cost to Create: Varies.

ENERGY AURA

Price: +1 bonus
Property: Melee weapon
Caster Level: 9th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) evocation
Activation: —

This weapon, which is decorated with a wing motif, vibrates slightly, as though with excitement.

An eager weapon can be drawn as a free action. While wielding it, you gain a +2 bonus on initiative checks and a +2 bonus on damage rolls made during a surprise round and the first round of combat.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, cat’s grace.

Cost to Create: Varies.

ENERGY SURGE [SYNERGY]

Price: +1 bonus
Property: Melee weapon
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) evocation
Synergy Prerequisite: Corrosive, flaming, frost, or shock

The pommel of this weapon bears a single diamond that flashes with an inner radiance.

An energy surge weapon functions as a weapon of the prerequisite type (corrosive, flaming, frost, or shock).

This ability is usable a number of times per day equal to 1 + your Con bonus (if any). Once you activate this property, it can’t be activated by any other creature until the following day.

A weapon can have this property more than once, but only once per synergy prerequisite, and each activation only triggers one type of surge. For example, you could have a +1 corrosive surge flaming surge longsword, and each activation would deal either 3d6 points of acid damage or 3d6 points of fire damage.

Each diamond set into the pommel of this weapon looks worn and its blade has a ruddy tinge, as though it has been stained with blood. Four blood-red rubies surround the weapon’s bronze pommel.

When you score a critical hit against a living creature with an energizing weapon, the weapon bestows one negative level on the target.

Assuming the subject survives, it regains lost levels after 1 hour. Usually, negative levels have a chance of permanently draining a victim’s levels, but the negative levels from the energizing property don’t last long enough to do so.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, energizing.

Cost to Create: Varies.

ENERVATING

Price: +2 bonus
Property: Weapon

Property: Melee weapon
Caster Level: 12th
Aura: Strong; (DC 21) divination
Activation: —

This weapon appears ghostly, but it is as solid and unforgiving as any other of its type.

An ethereal reaper weapon functions as a ghost touch weapon (DMG 224). In addition, such a weapon allows you to see invisible creatures as if you were subject to a see invisibility spell.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, see invisibility.

Cost to Create: Varies.

EVERBRIGHT

Price: +2,000 gp
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 12th
Aura: Strong; (DC 21) evocation
Activation: Standard (command)

Flecks of marble and pearl shimmer across this weapon, set within images of bursting stars and beaming suns.

An everbright weapon can flash with a brilliant light twice per day at your command. When it is activated, all creatures within 20 feet of you are blinded for 1 round (Reflex DC 14 negates).
An everbright weapon is also immune to acid damage and rusting effects.

FIERCEBANE [SYNERGY]

Price: +1 bonus

Property: Weapon

Caster Level: 12th

Aura: Strong; (DC 21) conjuration

Activation: —

Synergy Prerequisite: Bane

Carved into the handle of this weapon is a single rune in the Gnome language representing the foe the weapon is dedicated to slaying.

A fiercebane weapon excels at attacking one type or subtype of creature. It acts as a bane weapon against the creature type (and subtype, if relevant) to which its synergy prerequisite ability was attuned. Whenever it strikes its designated bane enemy, it begins to emit a low, eager hum, as if it were actually feeding off the victim's life blood.

A fiercebane weapon glows when a designated foe comes within 60 feet, even if you cannot see or detect it. In addition, the weapon deals extra damage on every successful critical hit. The amount depends on its critical multiplier, as follows.

Lore: Few rangers acquire the skills needed to create magic items, but the gnome ranger Tir Hearthand learned to hate orcs at an early age. Unsatisfied with normal orc bane weapons, he devoted the last half of his life to creating the ultimate weapon for slaying orcs (Knowledge [arcana] or Knowledge [history] DC 20).

The first fiercebane weapon was an orc bane scimitar sized for a gnome and named Hearthand, after its creator. Tir Hearthand wielded this weapon for many years, and it eventually achieved a near-legendary status. Gnomes with an interest in weapon craft now believe it to be a potent artifact capable of striking dead any orc that even sets eyes upon it. The original weapon is believed to have been lost in the dark hills near the long-dead orc kingdom where Tir Hearthand met his end (Knowledge [arcana] or Knowledge [history] DC 30).

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, summon monster I.

Cost to Create: Varies.

FLESHGRINDING

Price: +2 bonus

Property: Piercing or slashing melee weapon

Caster Level: 11th

Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) transmutation

Activation: Free (command)

Upon close inspection, this weapon appears to have shallow serrations along its blade.

You can activate a fleshgrinding weapon any time you deal damage with it to a living creature in melee. When this occurs, you let go of the weapon and it magically animates, grinding itself into the foe's flesh. In each round at the start of your turn, it automatically damages that creature as if you had scored a normal hit with it (including damage from the weapon's enhancement bonus, other weapon properties, and your normal bonus from Strength, but not extra damage from feats such as Power Attack).

The grinding continues for 5 rounds or until you or someone else pulls the fleshgrinding weapon free; doing this requires a standard action and (for anyone other than you) a successful DC 20 Strength check.

After the duration expires, a fleshgrinding weapon returns to your hand (as the returning weapon property). It will not return to your hand if the target has pulled the weapon free; doing this requires a standard action and (for anyone other than you) a successful DC 20 Strength check.

A strange melody seems to emanate from this weapon's surface.

A ghost strike weapon functions as a ghost touch weapon (DMG 224). In addition, sneak attacks and critical hits made with a ghost strike weapon against an undead creature affect it as if it were a living creature.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, undeath to death.

Cost to Create: Varies.

GHOST STRIKE [SYNERGY]

Price: +1 bonus

Property: Melee weapon

Caster Level: 11th

Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) conjuration

Activation: —

Synergy Prerequisite: Ghost touch

Fine tendrils of white smoke slowly rise from this weapon's surface.

A harmonizing weapon accompanies you in song if drawn, granting a +2 competence bonus on Perform (sing) checks.

In addition, if you hold a harmonizing weapon when you begin a bardic music effect, the weapon can continue the effect for you, allowing you to focus on other efforts. One round after you begin a bardic music effect that allows or requires continued use or concentration (including inspire courage, countersong, fascinate, inspire competence, inspire greatness, song of freedom, and inspire heroics), the weapon picks up and continues the performance flawlessly for 10 rounds, until you start another bardic music effect, or until you command it to end as a swift (mental) action.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, ghost sound, bardic music.

Cost to Create: Varies.

WEAPONS

HOLY SURGE [SYNERGY]
Price: +1 bonus
Property: Melee weapon
Caster Level: 11th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) evocation
Activation: — and swift (command)
Synergy Prerequisite: Holy

This elegant weapon appears smooth and pristine.
Characters who serve gods of valor, honor, and other lofty principles craft these weapons of pure goodness for themselves and others who share their values. A holy surge weapon functions as a holy weapon (DMG 225). This is a continuous effect and requires no activation.

In addition, on a successful melee attack with a holy surge weapon, you can command it to emit a burst of holy energy. Against an evil target, this burst deals an extra 3d6 points of damage. If used against a non-evil creature, it deals no additional damage, and that use of the property is wasted.

This ability is usable a number of times per day equal to 1 + your Cha bonus (if any). Once you activate this property, it can’t be activated by any other creature until the following day.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, holy smite.
Cost to Create: Varies.

HIDEAWAY
Price: +2,000 gp
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) transmutation
Activation: Swift (command)

Several studs texture this weapon, as do numerous hinges and slots, though none seems to impede its effectiveness.

When activated, a hideaway weapon folds up into a bundle two size categories smaller than you, making it easy to conceal. You gain a +2 bonus on Sleight of Hand checks to conceal a hideaway weapon when it’s folded up (as if it were a dagger).

A second command word (also a swift action) causes the weapon to unfold to its normal shape.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, shrink item.
Cost to Create: 1,000 gp, 80 XP, 2 days.

HEAVENLY BURST
Price: +1 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 7th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) evocation
Activation: —

This weapon emits a low hum that sounds distinctly like a chorus chanting slowly.

On a critical hit against an evil creature, a heavenly burst weapon discharges a shower of radiance that deals 3d6 points of damage to the target and blinds it for 1 round. A successful DC 14 Fortitude save negates the blindness.

Projectile weapons bestow this property upon their ammunition.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, holy smite.
Cost to Create: Varies.

ILLUMINATING
Price: +500 gp
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) evocation
Activation: —

A sunburst set with topaz flecks gleams upon this weapon.

When drawn, an illuminating weapon glows with pure white light, brightly illuminating a 20-foot-radius area and providing shadowy illumination for another 20 feet beyond that.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, light.
Cost to Create: 250 gp, 20 XP, 1 day.

ILLUSION BANE
Price: +1 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 10th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) divination
Activation: — and swift (command)

Worked into the grip of this weapon is an iron cross set in the center of two concentric circles.

Any attack with an illusion bane weapon ignores any miss chance created by an illusion effect (including effects that mimic illusions, such as a displacer beast’s displacement effect). However, you must still target the correct square when making an attack against a foe that has total concealment. This is a continuous effect and requires no activation.

In addition, once per day you can activate an illusion bane weapon to destroy illusion effects. This ability can take one of two forms:

After hitting a creature, you can activate the weapon in the same round to make a dispel check (1d20+10) against each illusion spell currently affecting the target. This effect essentially acts as a targeted dispel magic spell, but it functions only against magic of the illusion school. You must make a separate check for each illusion spell affecting the target.

Alternatively, you can attempt to dispel a single illusion by touching it with the
An illusion theft weapon need not be cast in every way, except that its duration begins passing again as if no time had elapsed.

Once a stored illusion spell has been discharged, you cannot activate the weapon’s illusion theft property again until you have successfully dispelled another illusion (using the illusion bane property), which is then stored within the weapon.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, true seeing, dispel magic.
Cost to Create: Varies.

ILLUSION THEFT

[SYNERGY]

Price: +2 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 17th
Aura: Strong; (DC 23) divination
Activation: Standard (command)
Synergy Prerequisite: Illusion bane

This dark metal weapon is crafted of black iron and adamantine worked into a simple design. Set into its pommel or grip is a cut and polished piece of quartz.

An illusion theft weapon functions as an illusion bane weapon (see above).

In addition, such a weapon allows you to disrupt opponents’ illusions and transfer their protective qualities to yourself. The first illusion spell that this weapon dispels with its illusion bane property is automatically stored within it. This ability functions like the spell storing property (DMG 225), with the following exceptions:

- It must be an illusion spell, but it need not be 3rd level or lower.
- A spell cannot be cast into the weapon; it can store only a spell that it has actually dispelled through the illusion bane ability.
- An illusion theft weapon need not actually strike a creature to activate the stored spell.

The stored spell is preserved as originally cast in every way, except that its duration is effectively arrested at the time you steal it. As soon as the spell is stored, you immediately become aware of its effect and its remaining duration, and you can activate it at any time. You can choose a different target to be affected by the stored spell if you so desire. When the spell is activated, the duration begins passing again as if no time had elapsed.

An illusion theft weapon mimics the dispel magic spell, but only against illusion effects (Knowledge [arcana] DC 25).

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, true seeing, dispel magic.
Cost to Create: Varies.

IMPEDANCE

Price: +2 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 11th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) abjuration
Activation: —

This weapon is reinforced with cold iron and set with chunks of obsidian in a foursquare pattern.

An impedance weapon mimics the impeded magic planar trait (DMG 150). When you use it to strike a creature, the target’s ability to cast spells or use spell-like abilities is impeded for 1d6 rounds. To cast an impeded spell or use an impeded spell-like ability, the creature must attempt a Spellcraft check, Intelligence check, or Charisma check (whichever one is made with the highest bonus). The DC for this check is 15 + the spell level. If the check succeeds, the effect functions normally; if the check fails, the effect does not function and the spell or the use of the spell-like ability is lost.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, antimagic field.
Cost to Create: Varies.

IMPLACABLE

Price: +3 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 9th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) necromancy
Activation: —

This weapon has a lustrous purple sheen.

When an implacable weapon deals damage to a living creature, the wound bleeds profusely and the creature takes 2 additional points of damage at the start of each of the wielder’s turns for the next 5 rounds. Multiple wounds are cumulative (a creature struck three times in the same round would take 6 points of damage per round for the next 5 rounds).

This bleeding can be stopped by a successful DC 15 Heal check or any effect that restores hit points (such as cure light wounds). However, while the wound is active, anyone attempting to cast a spell on the target that would restore hit points must succeed on a DC 15 caster level check.

An implacable weapon counts as adamantine for the purpose of overcoming the damage reduction of aberrations.
Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, vampiric touch.
Cost to Create: Varies.
CHAPTER 2

WEAPONS

KNOCKBACK

Price: +1 bonus
Property: Melee weapon
Caster Level: 11th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) evocation
Activation: Swift (command)

This weapon looks broader and thicker than a typical item of its type. A ram’s head with curling horns decorates its head or hilt.

Three times per day, you can activate this weapon and use it to drive your opponent back. The next time you hit a creature with the weapon before the end of your turn, the target must succeed on a DC 19 Fortitude save or be pushed back 5 feet. If the target can’t move back, this ability has no effect. The knockback property works only on creatures of your own size category or smaller.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, repulsion.
Cost to Create: Varies.

LUCKY

Price: +1 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 9th
Aura: Strong; (DC 22) divination
Activation: Free (mental)

The golden sheen on this weapon raises your spirits and fills you with confidence in your fighting prowess.

A lucky weapon offers a second chance at success. Once per day, you can reroll a single failed attack roll.

Cost to Create: Varies.

MAGEBANE

Price: +1 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 8th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) evocation
Activation: —

The surface of this black iron weapon is inscribed with runes representing the grounding of energy, and its pommel or grip is set with three diamonds.

Weapons that have this property are feared by arcane spellcasters. Against any creature that can cast arcane spells or use invocations (CAr 7), a magebane weapon’s enhancement bonus is 2 higher than normal. (Thus, a +1 longsword with the magebane property becomes a +3 longsword when wielded against such targets.) Furthermore, a magebane weapon deals an extra 2d6 points of damage against targets capable of casting arcane spells or using invocations.

The magebane property can be added to a cold iron weapon without paying the extra 2,000 gp (DMC 284). Projectile weapons bestow this property upon their ammunition.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, dispel magic.
Cost to Create: Varies.

MAIMING

Price: +1 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) transmutation
Activation: —

This weapon has a twisted haft or grip and spikes along its blade, head, or point.

A maiming weapon twists and digs into the flesh of its target, rending, tearing, smashing, and bruising it. Whenever you score a critical hit with this weapon, it deals an amount of extra damage depending on its critical multiplier.

MANIFESTER

Price: +12,000 gp
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 8th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) divination
Activation: Free (mental)

Radiating inner power, this princely weapon settles and clarifies your thoughts.

When manifesting a power, the bearer of this weapon can draw 5 power points from it. These points must be all be used on the same power, and that power cannot be imbued with power points from any other source.

A manifester weapon functions once per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, any 3rd-level psionic power.
Cost to Create: 6,000 gp, 480 XP, 12 days.

METALLINE

Price: +2 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 9th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) transmutation
Activation: Standard (command)

The color and texture of this weapon seem to shift with each passing moment.

When you activate a metalline weapon, you can change its composition to adamantine, alchemical silver, cold iron, or ordinary steel.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, fabricate.
Cost to Create: Varies.
MIGHTY SMITING
Price: +1 bonus
Property: Melee weapon
Caster Level: 6th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) evocation
Activation: —

This weapon feels heavier than a normal weapon of its type. Inscribed on its surface is a message affirming its superiority over some category of creature.

If you have a smite ability (smite, smite evil, smite shadowlands, or the like), you gain an extra +2 bonus on your smite attack rolls and damage rolls. In addition, you gain one additional use of your smite ability each day while wielding this weapon. If you have more than one smite ability, you must choose which one gains the extra use.

A weapon of mighty smiting only grants one extra smite per day, regardless of how many characters wield it.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, divine power.
Cost to Create: Varies.

MINDFEEDER
Price: +1 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 12th
Aura: Strong; (DC 21) necromancy
Activation: —

Composed of a flat, rough, slate-gray crystal, this weapon seems to absorb your thoughts.

When you score a critical hit with a mindfeeder weapon, you gain + temporary power point for every 5 points of damage dealt by the critical hit. These temporary power points last for up to 1 minute. You gain power points even if the target has none.

As with temporary hit points, temporary power points do not stack with each other; they overlap. Thus, if the wielder of a mindfeeder weapon successfully scores a critical hit while still enjoying temporary power points from a previous critical hit, the wielder gains only the higher of the two values: either her current number of temporary power points, or the new influx of temporary power points, whichever is greater. Creatures immune to extra damage from critical hits do not trigger mindfeeder weapons.

Projectile weapons bestow this property upon their ammunition.
Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, vampiric touch or psychic vampire (EPH 127).
Cost to Create: Varies.

MINDCRUSHER
Price: +2 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 12th
Aura: Strong; (DC 19) transmutation
Activation: —

This red-tinted weapon seems to draw light and feeling from around it. You sense its hunger.

Any psionic creature struck in combat by a mindcrusher weapon loses a number of power points equal to half the amount of hit point damage the weapon deals on that strike. Only the base damage of the weapon contributes to the power point loss; additional damage from high Strength or other sources does not cause additional power point loss. A creature with no power points, including any nonpsionic creature, must succeed on a DC 17 Will save or take 1 point of Wisdom damage.

A projectile weapon bestows this property upon its ammunition.
Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, vampiric touch or psychic vampire (EPH 127).
Cost to Create: Varies.

MORPHING
Price: +1 bonus
Property: Melee or thrown weapon
Caster Level: 9th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) transmutation
Activation: Standard

This weapon’s shape constantly flows and reforms in slightly different compositions.

You can reshape a morphing weapon into any other melee or thrown weapon of the same size and type (light, one-handed, or two-handed). For instance, a morphing greatsword could become a spear, greataxe, or dire flail.

If a single weapon created with the morphing property becomes a double weapon, only one end of the double weapon retains the weapon’s magical bonus, although the other end is masterwork. If a double weapon created with the morphing property becomes a single weapon, it can have the properties of either end of the original double weapon. The properties of the other end are dormant but notlost; they become active again when the morphing weapon once again becomes a double weapon.
Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, fabricate.
Cost to Create: Varies.

NECROTIC FOCUS
Price: +3 bonus
Property: Melee weapon
Caster Level: 7th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) necromancy
Activation: —

This weapon has a golden sheen and a series of black runes inlaid in jet along its length. Its pommel or grip is set with a black star sapphire.

A necrotic focus weapon serves as a channel for your ability drain or energy drain supernatural ability. While wielding it, you deal ability drain or bestow negative levels through it as if attacking with your natural weapons. If a saving throw against the effect is allowed, add the weapon’s enhancement bonus to the save DC.
Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, energy drain, spectral hand.
Cost to Create: Varies.

PARALYZING BURST
Price: +2 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 9th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) enchantment
Activation: —

This weapon appears unusually straight and stiff. Set into the base of its blade or head is a smoothly polished piece of aventurine that seems to glow with an energy all its own.

POWER STORING

Aura:
Caster Level:

A power storing weapon allows a manifester to store a single targeted power of up to 5 power points in the weapon. (The power must have a manifesting time of 1 standard action.) Any time the weapon strikes a creature and the creature takes damage from it, the weapon can manifest the power on that creature if you desire. Once the power is manifested, the weapon is empty, and a manifester can store any other targeted power of up to 5 power points into it. The weapon telepathically whispers to you the name of the power currently stored within it. A randomly generated power storing weapon has a 50% chance to have a power stored in it already.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, manifester level 12th.
Cost to Create: Varies.

This effect activates even if the target is not normally subject to extra damage from critical hits.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, prismatic spray.
Cost to Create: Varies.

PROFANE

Price: +1 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 7th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 17) necromancy
Activation: Standard (command)

This black iron weapon is decorated with dozens of silver skulls. Runic phrases describing vile acts run along its blade or haft and glow when it is wielded.

By speaking the appropriate command word, you can sheathe a profane weapon in crackling black negative energy. If you have no Constitution score, this energy does not harm you; otherwise you take 1 point of Constitution damage for each round that you hold the weapon while the effect is activated. This effect lasts until you speak another command word to end it.

While activated, a profane weapon deals an extra 1d6 points of damage to any living target (or 2d6 points against a good outsider) on a successful hit. Also, it is treated as evil-aligned for the purpose of overcoming damage reduction.

Projectile weapons bestow this property upon their ammunition.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, inflict light wounds.
Cost to Create: Varies.

PROFANE BURST [SYNERGY]

Price: +1 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 12th
Aura: Strong; (DC 21) necromancy
Activation: Standard (command) and —

Synergy Prerequisite: Profane

This black iron weapon is decorated with dozens of silver skulls. Runic phrases describing vile acts run along its blade or haft and glow when it is wielded.

A profane burst weapon functions as a profane weapon (see above).

In addition, the weapon explodes with negative energy on a successful critical hit, dealing extra negative energy damage as set out in the table below. (This effect activates even if the target is not normally subject to extra damage from critical hits.)

A profane burst weapon deals even more damage to good outsiders on a successful critical hit. This burst does not harm you or any creature other than the target if you are undead; otherwise, you take 1d4 points of Constitution damage (or Charisma damage if you have no Constitution score). This is a continuous effect and requires no activation. Even if the weapon has not been activated to deal extra damage because of the profane property, the weapon still deals its extra negative energy damage on a successful critical hit.
PSYCHIC

Aura: This weapon has an inner glow of varying brightness. It glows more brightly when brought near those with psionic ability.

A psychic weapon’s power depends on its wielder. It gains an enhancement bonus based on the wielder’s current power reserve, as shown on the table below. (This benefit doesn’t stack with the weapon’s normal enhancement bonus.) The weapon’s enhancement bonus decreases to a minimum of +1 as the wielder spends power points, and it increases whenever the wielder gains enough power points (by any means) to put his power point reserve into the next higher category.

Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 11th
Aura: Strong; (DC 23) evocation
Activation: —

This extraordinary weapon is shot through with translucent purple crystal shards. You detect a vague air of menace about it.

A psibane weapon is crafted to oppose psionic beings. When used against any creature that has the psionic subtype (EPH 183), its effective enhancement bonus is 2 higher than its actual enhancement bonus (so a +1 psibane longsword instead has a +3 enhancement bonus against psionic foes). It deals an extra 2d6 points of damage against psionic opponents.

A psibane weapon bestows one negative level on any psionic creature attempting to wield it. This negative level remains as long as the weapon is in hand and disappears when the weapon is no longer wielded. SHIELDING

Price: +1 bonus
Property: Light melee weapon
Caster Level: 10th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) transmutation
Activation: Swift (command)

This looks like a normal item of its kind except for a faint, blue sheen.

A soulbound weapon serves as a receptacle for your essentia, much as a soulmold does. Every point of essentia invested in the weapon increases its enhancement bonus on attack rolls and damage rolls by 1, up to a maximum enhancement bonus of +3.

Each soulbound weapon has an essentia capacity. The maximum number of essentia points that can be invested in it equals this value or your normal essentia capacity (see Table 2–1: Essentia Capacity, Magic of Incarnum 19), whichever is lower.

A soulbound weapon has a maximum essentia capacity of 2.

Chakra Bind: A soulbound weapon grants bonuses when it is bound to a chakra, as described below. These effects function continuously, with no need for activation. See Binding Items to Chakras (MoI 108) for more information.

Arms: Binding a soulbound weapon to your arms chakra grants you a +2 insight bonus on initiative checks while the weapon is held.

Brow: Binding a soulbound weapon to your brow chakra allows you, if you miss an attack because of concealment, to reroll your miss chance percentile roll one time to see if you actually hit. This benefit is usable once per round.

Hands: Binding a soulbound weapon to your hands chakra grants you a +2 insight bonus on initiative checks while the weapon is held.

TERRAN
Price: +2 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 7th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) evocation
Activation: —

This weapon appears to have been hewn from crystal. Its grip is inlaid with gems in a circular design.

A terran weapon automatically overcomes the damage reduction of any creature that has the air subtype. In addition, the weapon deals an extra 2d6 points of damage against such targets.

A terran weapon also bestows one negative level on any creature that has the air subtype and attempts to wield it. The negative level remains as long as the weapon is in hand and disappears when it is no longer held. This negative level never results in actual level loss, but it cannot be overcome in any way (including restoration spells) while the weapon is wielded.

Projectile weapons bestow this property upon their ammunition.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, earth subtype.

Cost to Create: Varies.

TRANSMUTING
Price: +2 bonus
Property: Weapon
Caster Level: 13th
Aura: Strong; (DC 21) transmutation
Activation: —

This odd-looking weapon has both sharp and blunt sections. Its pommel or grip is set with a diamond, a piece of jet, a sapphire, and a ruby. In addition, it is inlaid with both adamantine and silver.

When you score a successful hit with a transmuting weapon against a creature that has damage reduction, that attack is resolved normally. At the start of your next turn, however, the weapon transforms, taking on the properties required to overcome that creature’s damage reduction.

Once so changed, the weapon overcomes the designated type of damage reduction for 10 rounds, or until you strike a creature that has a different type of damage reduction. In this case, the weapon transforms in the same manner to overcome that damage reduction instead. If the target has multiple types of damage reduction, the weapon overcomes all of them. If the creature gains a new type of damage reduction after initially being struck (from changing its form, for example), the weapon must change again before it can overcome the new type.

A transmuting weapon does not gain any other benefit of the properties it takes on, and it always deals normal damage.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, fabricate.

Cost to Create: Varies.

UNHOLY SURGE [SYNERGY]
Price: +1 bonus
Property: Melee weapon
Caster Level: 11th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) evocation
Activation: — and swift (command)

Synergy Prerequisite: Unholy

This vile weapon is decorated with jagged spikes, skulls, and other macabre designs.

Characters who serve gods of murder, strife, and other base deeds craft these weapons of pure evil for themselves and for others who share their foul desires. This weapon functions as an unholy weapon (DMG 226). This is a continuous effect and requires no activation.

In addition, on a successful melee attack with an unholy surge weapon, you can command it to emit a burst of unholy energy, which deals an extra 3d6 points of damage to a good-aligned target. If used against a non-good creature, it deals no additional damage, and that use of the ability is wasted.

This ability is usable a number of times per day equal to 1 + your Cha bonus (if any). Once you activate this property, it can’t be activated by any other creature until the following day.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, unholy blight or unholy word.

Cost to Create: Varies.

Property: Melee weapon
Caster Level: 9th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) necromancy
Activation: —

A vampiric weapon functions three times per day.

Projectile weapons bestow this property on their ammunition.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, poison.

Cost to Create: Varies.

An arrow of biting can also be created as a crossbow bolt for the same price.

Cost to Create: 250 gp (plus 6 gp for masterwork arrow), 20 XP, 1 day.

Assassin Whip

Price (Item Level): 5,301 gp (10th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 11th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) transmutation
Activation: Free (command)
Weight: 1 lb.

Although this seems to be nothing more than a tangled, long-leaved vine, one end has been knotted into a sturdy handle like that of a whip.

Three times per day, you can activate this +1 whip after successfully hitting a Medium or smaller target that is standing on the ground. Doing this causes tendrils of vegetation to spring forth from the ground, entangling the target and dealing 2d6 points of damage per round. This effect lasts for 3 rounds or until the affected creature escapes from the tendrils (a DC 20 Strength check or DC 20 Escape Artist check made as a full-round action).

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, entangle.

Cost to Create: 2,500 gp (plus 301 gp for masterwork whip), 200 XP, 5 days.

Axe of Ancestral Virtue [Relic]

Price (Item Level): 8,530 gp (12th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 20th
Aura: Strong; (DC 25) transmutation
Activation: —
Weight: 8 lb.

A holy symbol of Moradin decorates the joint between the head and the haft of this sturdy adamantine waraxe.

When you wield an axe of ancestral virtue, it functions as a +1 keen adamantine dwarven waraxe if you are lawful good, lawful neutral, or neutral good. Prized by the faithful of the Soul Forger, these weapons have long been used in the defense of dwarf holdings.

Relic Power: If you have established the proper divine connection, an axe of ancestral virtue reveals its intelligence and sentience (AL LN; Int 10, Wis 17, Cha 17; speech, telepathy, darkness 120 ft., hearing; Ego score 17). In addition, the axe can use bless, cure moderate wounds (wielder only), and faerie fire, each three times per day.

To use the relic power, you must worship Moradin and either sacrifice a 5th-level divine spell slot or have the True Believer feat and at least 9 HD. If you sacrifice a 7th-level divine slot (or have the True Believer feat and at least 13 HD), the weapon can also use haste (wielder only) three times per day.

Lore: Untold years ago, one of Moradin’s high priests volunteered to be bound into the original axe of ancestral virtue so that the weapon would have both intelligence and the virtuous nature to serve Moradin well. This priest’s personality has been duplicated into the few copies of the weapon that have been forged since. The weapon has never revealed the priest’s original name to any user, but judging from the fact that the axe constantly urges its wielder to attack the ancient enemies of the dwarves (goblinoids and giants), he must have been a fierce warrior indeed. The weapon takes great delight in “illuminating targets” (faerie fire), “saving honor-wounds” (cure moderate wounds), and granting “godspeed” (haste). The axe also judges its wielders on how well they adhere to traditional dwarf culture, and it rebels mightily against nondwarves who so much as pick it up (Knowledge [religion] DC 20).

Price (Item Level): 3,400 gp (8th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 20th
Aura: Strong; (DC 25) evocation
Activation: —
Weight: 3 lb.

This elegant composite longbow is carved of rowan and inlaid with silver tracery in an elven design. Its tips are shod with silver, and its grip is wound with blue metal wire.

When you wield this bow, it functions as a +1 composite longbow if you are chaotic good, neutral good, or chaotic neutral. It adjusts its pull automatically, allowing you to add your full Strength bonus to your damage roll with each arrow fired.

Relic Power: If you have established the proper divine connection, this bow gains the frost and drow bane weapon properties (DMG 224).

To use the relic power, you must worship Corellon Larethian and either sacrifice a 5th-level divine spell slot or have the True Believer feat and at least 9 HD.

Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 20th
Aura: Strong; (DC 25) enchantment
Activation: —
Weight: 12 lb.

This spiked chain is forged of thick metal bands interspersed with long, sharp dagger points.

Followers of Hextor prize these grisly weapons for keeping their prisoners subdued. A chain of obeisance functions as a +1 unholy spiked chain if you are lawful evil, neutral evil, or lawful neutral.

Relic Power: Despite its size and apparent unwieldiness, if you have established the proper divine connection, you can wield this weapon in a grapple as if it were a light weapon. If you pin your opponent while wielding a chain of obeisance, the foe must succeed on a DC 22 Will save or be dominated as by the dominate monster spell. No more than one creature can be dominated at a time; if you use this power on a second creature, the first effect ends.

To use the relic power, you must worship Hextor and either sacrifice a 7th-level divine spell slot or have the True Believer feat and at least 13 HD.

Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) evocation
Activation: —
Weight: 4 lb.

This longsword's blade is crafted from jagged violet crystal. When you hold it close to your ear, you hear a faint hum.

Cost to Create: 2,000 gp (plus 310 gp for masterwork longsword), 160 XP, 4 days.

CUDGEL THAT NEVER FORGETS [RELIC]

Price (Item Level): 20,312 gp (15th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 20th
Aura: Strong; (DC 25) conjuration
Activation: —; see text
Weight: 8 lb.

This heavy mace has a flanged iron head and a thick wooden shaft wrapped in leather cord. At its base is an intricately carved metal representation of a stern, bearded face.

This weapon was created to aid the followers of St. Cuthbert in exacting just retribution for wrongful acts. When you wield a cudgel that never forgets, its functions as a +1 axiomatic heavy mace if you are lawful neutral, lawful good, or neutral.

Relic Power: If you have established the proper divine connection, this weapon reveals its intelligence and sentience (AL LN; Int 16, Wis 10, Cha 16; speech [Abyssal, Celestial, Common, and Infernal], darkvision 60 ft., hearing, Intimidate 10 ranks for a total modifier of +13). In addition, the mace can produce a cure moderate wounds effect three times per day.

To use the relic power, you must worship St. Cuthbert and either sacrifice a 5th-level divine spell slot or have the True Believer feat and at least 9 HD. If you sacrifice a 7th-level divine spell slot (or you have the True Believer feat and at least 13 HD), the cudgel also remembers which foes have struck you and deals extra damage to them in retribution thereafter. If an enemy hits you with a weapon (including a natural weapon), the cudgel thereafter has an enhancement bonus 2 higher than normal against that foe. It also deals an extra 2d6 points of damage against that foe.

No disguise or shapechanging ability can guard against this ability.

A cudgel that never forgets speaks little except during combat, during which it reminds you in stentorian tones about the transgressions of each enemy, whether it has witnessed them personally ("That bugbear hath wounded Lidda most grievously") or simply assumed wrongdoing based on creature type ("That succubus hath surely tempted many good men toward evil"). The impressions of a cudgel that never forgets count as an attempt to demoralize an opponent with the Intimidate skill (PH 76). Unless it’s healing you, a cudgel attempts to demoralize an opponent every round during your turn.

Lore: The first cudgel that never forgets was crafted by a master...
DAGGER OF DEFiance

Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 7th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) abjuration
Activation: —
Weight: 1 lb.

This ornate dagger seems light, almost fragile, with its stylized porcelain hilt. Its blade is long and thin, like a tiny rapier.

This +1 dagger grants you a +3 resistance bonus on saves against enchantment and fear effects.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, remove fear.

Cost to Create: 1,000 gp (plus 302 gp for masterwork dagger), 240 XP, 6 days.

DAGGER OF DENIAL [RELIC]

Price (Item Level): 20,302 gp (15th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 20th
Aura: Strong; (DC 25) abjuration
Activation: —; see text
Weight: 1 lb.

This black-bladed dagger has a wavy blade and a hilt set with a chunk of fool's gold.

When you wield this weapon, it functions as a +1 unholy dagger. Unlike most relics, a dagger of denial functions for a wielder of any alignment, and it retains its sentence and basic relic powers even if you don't establish the proper divine connection, though it will not reveal its intelligence to you or use any relic powers on your behalf. However, if you aren't neutral, lawful evil, neutral evil, or chaotic evil, the dagger betrays you at the first available opportunity. A dagger of denial starts working against you by surreptitiously dispelling your spells and those of your allies, leaving you without the magic you depend on for battle.

Relic Power: If you have established the proper divine connection, a dagger of denial reveals its intelligence and sentence (AL NE; Int 18, Wis 10, Cha 18; speech, telepathy, darkvision 120 ft., blindsense, hearing, Intimidate 10 ranks for a total modifier of +13, Spellcraft 10 ranks for a total modifier of +14, Bluff 10 ranks for a total modifier of +14, Ego score 26). In addition, the dagger can use detect magic at will and greater dispel magic once per day.

To use the relic power, you must worship Vecna and either sacrifice a 6th-level divine spell slot or have the True Believer feat and at least 11 HD. If you sacrifice an 8th-level divine spell slot (or you have the True Believer feat and at least 15 HD), the dagger grants you a continuous detect scrying effect and can use arcane eye once per day.

A dagger of denial takes great glee in disrupting other spellcasters. It giggles and cackles to you constantly when facing enemy spellcasters. It generally reads an action to counterspell such a foe's spellcasting with greater dispel magic.

Lore: The four daggers of denial known to exist were originally gifts from Vecna to the wizards he charged with keeping his priests in line (Knowledge [religion] DC 20).

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, Sanctify Relic, arcane eye, detect magic, detect scrying, greater dispel magic.

Cost to Create: 10,000 gp (plus 302 gp for masterwork dagger), 800 XP, 20 days.

DAWNSTAR [RELIC]

Price (Item Level): 9,308 gp (12th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 20th
Aura: Strong; (DC 25) evocation
Activation: —
Weight: 2 lb.

This long, wrought iron spear is clearly capable of causing devastating wounds. Blackened ritual runes of death appear along its length.

A death spike allows you to draw the life energy out of a dying target, granting you temporary vitality. It functions as a +1 cold iron spear, but whenever you reduce a living creature to -1 or fewer hit points on a melee attack with the spear, you can activate it to gain 10 temporary hit points and a +2 morale bonus on damage rolls. These benefits last for 1 hour; multiple uses of the spear don't stack. The spear can be activated three times per day.

If you also wear a magic item that grants a bonus to your Charisma score, you can add the item's bonus to the temporary hit points and a +2 morale bonus on damage rolls. These benefits last for 1 hour; multiple uses of the spear don't stack. The spear can be activated three times per day.

Cost to Create: 2,000 gp (plus 304 gp for masterwork cold iron spear, plus 2,000 gp for enhancing cold iron), 160 XP, 4 days.

This enormous greatclub bears thick patches of rusted metal bracing a spiked stone weight set within the gnarled head.

This Large +1 adamantine greatclub can only be activated by a bearer who has a Strength of 21 or higher and the Power Attack feat.

When it is activated, the next attack you make with a dwarf crusher in that round against a dwarf, a construct, or a creature that has the earth subtype is treated as a touch attack. You must also take at least a –5 penalty on this attack roll using the Power Attack feat in order to gain this benefit. This effect functions three times per day.

Thousands of black links make up this chainmail gauntlet, its knuckles ending in pitted, battle-worn spikes.

Forged long ago by dwarf hands, the fist is a +1 adamantine spiked gauntlet. While wearing the gauntlet, you are protected... from chill metal and heat metal spells. This is a continuous effect and requires no activation.

In addition, once per day you can activate the fist. When you do, your next attack with the gauntlet before the end of your turn deals an extra 2d6 points of damage, knocks the target prone, and stuns it for 1 round (Fort DC 22 negates the stun and prone effects).

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, Bigby’s clenched fist, endure elements.

Cost to Create: 2,000 gp (plus 3,005 for adamantine spiked gauntlet), 160 XP, 4 days.

This redwood arrow smells acrid and feels damp to the touch.

A fountainhead arrow is an otherwise normal arrow designed to be targeted at a point on the ground, a wall, or any other flat surface. If you hit the target area (treat as AC 5), the arrow creates a geyser of spewing acid. Each round on your turn (starting on the turn you fired the arrow), the arrow creates a 10-foot-radius burst of acid that deals 2d8 points of acid damage to all creatures in the area (Reflex DC 14 half). This effect continues for 3 rounds.

A fountainhead arrow can be created as a crossbow bolt for the same price.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, Melf’s acid arrow.

GHOST NET

Price (Item Level): 8,320 gp (11th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 13th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 21) abjuration
Activation: —
Weight: 1 lb.

This sheet of gossamer-thin netting has an iridescent sheen.

You can throw this item at a target as though it were an ordinary net. It has no effect against corporeal targets, but any incorporeal target hit by a ghost net is treated as corporeal for the purpose of dealing damage to it with physical or magical attacks (though the net doesn’t entangle an incorporeal target). It can be hit with normal weapons (though its normal damage reduction, if any, still applies), and it does not have the usual 50% chance to ignore damage from corporeal sources. A creature ensnared by a ghost net also cannot turn ethereal (or, if snared on the Ethereal Plane, can’t return to the Material Plane). The creature retains all its other special abilities and can extract itself from the net with a successful DC 20 Escape Artist check as a full-round action. However, a ghost net can’t be burst with a Strength check as a normal net can.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, ghost trap (SC 103).

Cost to Create: 4,000 gp (plus 320 gp for masterwork net), 320 XP, 8 days.

HOOKED HAMMER OF THE HEARTFIRE [RELI C]

Price (Item Level): 5,120 gp (10th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 20th
Aura: Strong; (DC 25) evocation
Activation: —
Weight: 6 lb.

The metal ends of this gnome hooked hammer glow with a faint reddish hue. Its shaft is decorated with iron bosses and uncut gemstones.

These weapons were created to help the gnomes defend their holdings. While you wield a hooked hammer of the hearthfire, it functions as a +1/+1 gnome hooked hammer if you are neutral good, neutral, chaotic good, or lawful good.

Relic Power: If you have established the proper divine connection, both ends of this weapon also have the flaming property (DMG 224). Furthermore, your hooked hammer of the hearthfire automatically deals 1d6 points of fire damage per round to any kobold or goblinoid unfortunate enough to grasp its handle.

To use the relic power, you must worship Garl Glittergold and either sacrifice a 4th-level divine spell slot or have the True Believer feat and at least 7 HD. If you sacrifice a 5th-level divine spell or have the True Believer feat and at least 9 Hit Dice, both ends of the weapon instead have the flaming burst property (DMG 224).

Lore: It is said that Garl Glittergold gave one of these weapons to each of the gnomes (Knowledge [religion] DC 20).

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, Sanctify Relic, flame strike.

Cost to Create: 2,250 gp (plus 620 gp for masterwork/masterwork hooked hammer), 180 XP, 5 days.

Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 9th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) necromancy
Activation: —
Weight: 8 lb.

This heavy mace’s blackened metal haft looks like a fleshless human femur. Its head is shaped like a skull with three screaming skeletal faces, each howling in a different direction.

MORNINGSTAR OF THE MANY [RELIC]

Price (Item Level): 7,308 gp (11th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 20th
Aura: Strong; (DC 25) necromancy
Activation: Swift (command)
Weight: 6 lb.

This austere morningstar glows with an eerie blue light at all times, and its form feels unstable.

It is said that these morningstars have been dipped in the blood of creatures from every known plane on the Great Wheel. When you wield it, a morningstar of the many functions as a +1 morningstar if you are chaotic evil, neutral evil, or chaotic neutral. Furthermore, the weapon overcomes damage reduction as if it has all four of the alignment descriptors (chaotic, evil, good, and lawful).

Relic Power: If you have established the proper divine connection, you can command a morningstar of the many to mutate for 6 rounds, taking on a different form and weapon property each round, as given on the following table. The weapon retains its normal enhancement bonus regardless of its form.

After the 6th round, a morningstar of the many again becomes a +1 morningstar until you speak the command word again. This ability functions five times per day.

To use the relic power, you must worship Erythnul and either sacrifice a 5th-level divine spell slot or have the True Believer feat and at least 9 HD.

Three times per day, you can touch any object created of force (such as Bigby's forceful hand or a wall of force) with this +1 heavy pick. Treat this touch as a touch attack against the touch AC provided by the spell or AC 0, if the spell does not provide the force effect with an AC of its own. A successful touch attack destroys the object as if you had cast disintegrate on it.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, disintegrate.

Cost to Create: 4,500 gp (plus 308 gp for masterwork pick), 360 XP, 9 days.

Activation: Swift (command)
Weight: 4 lb.

A ring of snapped arrows has been etched at one end of this metal quarterstaff, while around the other runs a ring of broken skulls.

While wielding this +1/+1 quarterstaff, you can attempt to disarm opponents as if you had the Improved Disarm feat.

If the battlestrike hits, the quarterstaff deals an extra 2d6 points of damage, and the target is knocked prone and stunned for 1 round (Fort DC 22 negates the stun and prone effects). This ability functions once per day.

SPECTRAL DAGGER

Price (Item Level): 6,000 gp (10th)

Body Slot: — (held)

Caster Level: 5th

Aura: Faint; (DC 17) necromancy

Activation: —

Weight: 1 lb.

This pocked and notched piece of yellowed bone seems to have once been used as the pommel for a dagger, though the blade is now missing.

When you grasp the hilt of a spectral dagger, a “blade” of ghostly light coalesces into existence. The weapon has no enhancement bonus (and can't be imbued with one). Attacks with a spectral dagger are treated as touch attacks, but the weapon does not deal damage normally. Instead, any target struck by the weapon is affected by a chill touch spell (Fort DC 11 partial or Will DC 11 negates; see PH 209). A spectral dagger fades away if it leaves your hand, so the weapon can't be used to make ranged attacks.

Prequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, chill touch.

Cost to Create: 3,000 gp, 240 XP, 6 days.

SPIDER FANG

Price (Item Level): 5,302 gp (9th)

Caster Level: 5th

Aura: Faint; (DC 17) conjuration

Activation: — and standard (command)

Weight: 1 lb.

Of grotesque design, this seemingly organic dagger appears to be made from sharpened layers of purple-black chitin. Sinister weblike patterns cover its surface, and the blade occasionally twitches and jerks of its own accord.

This +1 dagger quickly cuts through webs (magical or otherwise) without getting stuck. As a move action, you can cut through a web entangling you or another creature. You can move through webs created by a web spell at half your normal speed (although the weapon doesn't prevent you from being stuck in either of these webs in the first place). These are continuous effects and require no activation.

Once per day, you can activate a spider fang to create a freestanding 10-foot-by-10-foot vertical curtain of cobwebs. This curtain doesn't block movement, but does provide concealment to creatures behind it. Anyone touching the curtain causes it to collapse, dealing 2d4 points of acid damage to that creature.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, Melf’s acid arrow, web.

Cost to Create: 2,500 gp (plus 302 gp for masterwork dagger), 200 XP, 5 days.

Relic Power: If you have established the proper divine connection, you can command this staff to become a treant. In sword form, the weapon features a bowlike grip and a pommel that resembles the curving tip of a bow. In bow form, the weapon is made of metal, and each limb of the bow resembles a sword blade.

In either form, a swordbow has the same enhancement bonus. A swordbow’s enhancement bonus can be improved as if improving two separate weapons (for example, improving a +1 swordbow to a +2 swordbow costs 12,000 gp, just as if you were improving two +1 weapons to +2). A swordbow can have special weapon properties added to it (such as flaming); such properties cost twice the normal amount (again, as if improving two separate weapons) and apply to both weapons if possible. If a property can’t apply to both weapons (such as vorpal or distance), it applies only to the swordbow when it is in an eligible form (for instance, a +1 swordbow of distance is a distance weapon only in bow form). If a property can apply to the weapon in only one of its forms, it does not cost double the regular price.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, shrink item, elf.

Cost to Create: 3,000 gp (plus 375 gp for masterwork longbow), 240 XP, 6 days.

Swordbow, Great

Price (Item Level): 6,775 gp (11th)

Weight: 8 lb.

This massive bow is made entirely razor-sharp steel, yet it clearly functions as a potent ranged weapon.

This item functions as a swordbow (see above), except that its two forms are a +1 composite longbow (+4 Str bonus) and a +1 greatsword.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, shrink item, elf.

Cost to Create: 3,000 gp (plus 775 gp for masterwork composite longbow), 240 XP, 6 days.

Swordbow, Light

Price (Item Level): 6,330 gp (10th)

Weight: 2 lb.

Small and compact, this bow seems made of thin, but strong, metal sharp enough to rival the deadliest of swords.

This item functions as a swordbow, except that its two forms are a +1 shortbow and a +1 rapier.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, shrink item, elf.

Cost to Create: 3,000 gp (plus 330 gp for masterwork shortbow), 240 XP, 6 days.

Tentacle Rod

CHAPTER 2
WEAPONS

Three long, russet-colored tentacles sprout from the end of this 2-foot-long rod, writhing sinuously.

When activated, a tentacle rod makes three attacks (one per tentacle) against a single target within your melee reach that you designate. The rod uses its own attack bonus (+12) rather than yours, and each attack deals 6 points of bludgeoning damage. Treat the rod as a magic weapon for the purpose of overcoming damage reduction.

If all three tentacles strike the same living creature in a round, that creature becomes slowed (as the slow spell) for 5 rounds (Fort DC 14 negates).

Lore: The secret to crafting the first tentacle rod was learned through nightmarish visions granted by the Elder Elemental Eye (a vile and mysterious divine entity) to its most devoted followers (Knowledge [religion] DC 20).

Wielding one of these gruesome items soon became a status symbol among the cult’s leaders, which led to a need for a greater version for the most powerful followers of the Elder Elemental Eye (Knowledge [religion] DC 25).

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, Craft Rod, animate objects, Evard’s black tentacles, slow.

Cost to Create: 7,000 gp, 560 XP, 14 days.

TENTACLE ROD, GREATER

Price (Item Level): 36,000 gp (17th)
Caster Level: 12th
Aura: Strong; (DC 21) transmutation
Weight: 6 lb.

Six long violet tentacles sprout from the end of this 2-foot-long rod, writhing sinuously when you grasp the handle.

When activated, a greater tentacle rod makes six attacks (one per tentacle) against a single target within your melee reach that you designate. The rod uses its own attack bonus (+18), and each attack deals 9 points of bludgeoning damage. Treat the rod as a magic weapon for the purpose of overcoming damage reduction.

If at least three of a greater tentacle rod’s tentacles strike the same living creature in a round, that creature becomes fatigued (Fort DC 20 negates); creatures already fatigued suffer no additional effect. If all six tentacles strike the same living creature in a round, that creature instead becomes exhausted (Fort DC 20 negates).

Lore: See tentacle rod, above.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, Craft Rod, animate objects, Evard’s black tentacles, ray of exhaustion, ray of fatigue.

Cost to Create: 18,000 gp, 1,440 XP, 36 days.

TRIDENT OF SERENITY

Price (Item Level): 5,315 gp (10th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) enchantment
Activation: Standard (command)
Weight: 4 lb.

This trident looks almost delicate, with fine points on its gradually curving prongs. Silver and pearl inlays form lazy swirls down the weapon’s haft.

When you activate this +1 trident, it creates a calm emotions effect centered on you (Will DC 16 negates). The effect lasts for 5 rounds and does not require concentration. Any creature that successfully saves against this effect is immune to further uses of that ability for 24 hours.

This ability functions three times per day.

Lore: Originally created by aquatic elves for use against the blood frenzy of sahuagin, this weapon has become equally useful in fending off savage barbarians who raid coastal areas (Knowledge [arcana] DC 15).

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, calm emotions.
WARLOCK’S SCEPTER

Price (Item Level): 8,305 gp (12th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 7th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) necromancy
Activation: Swift (mental)
Weight: 1 lb.

The hilt of this dagger is shaped like a snake, and the twisted blade looks like an impossibly long tongue.

Created by cults that worship serpent deities, these +1 daggers are prized for their ability to secrete toxic venom. A viperblade has 5 charges, which are renewed each day.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, Craft Rod, bestow curse.

Cost to Create: 4,000 gp (plus 305 gp for masterwork light mace), 320 XP, 8 days.

WATER WHIP

Price (Item Level): 20,301 gp (15th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 8th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) transmutation
Activation: — and standard (command)
Weight: 2 lb.

This strange weapon looks less like a traditional whip and more like a tube of water, tapering along its length to icicle sharpness at one end. The handle is crafted from a pale blue crystal shard.

This +1 whip shimmers and undulates with deceptive grace when held. Unlike a normal whip, a water whip deals lethal damage and can affect armored creatures. Furthermore, while wielding a water whip, you are difficult to disarm. If the whip is knocked from your grasp, it immediately flows back into your hand at the beginning of your next turn (even if it is within someone else’s grasp) as long as it is within 30 feet of you. Doing this requires no action on your part. In addition, drawing a water whip is always a free action.

Both a fire elemental and water elemental are bound within a water whip, allowing it to emanate either of two energy properties, flaming or frost (DMG 224). You choose the property when you activate the whip, and it deals an extra 1d6 points of the appropriate kind of damage (fire or cold).

Lore: The first water whip was created by a sahuagin druid named Ak’ash’eck, who roamed the fringes of a great reef a decade ago (Knowledge [history] DC 20).

Ak’ash’eck enjoyed preying on unwary folk sailing south to trade with other sahuagin. He was famous for the trick of ensnaring a victim near the railing of a ship passing at night, then pulling the victim overboard before an alarm could be raised (Knowledge [history] DC 30).

Prerequisites: Bind Elemental (ECS 51) or Craft Magic Arms and Armor, planar binding.

Cost to Create: 10,000 gp (plus 301 gp for masterwork whip), 800 XP, 20 days.

WHIP OF WEBS

Price (Item Level): 6,302 gp (10th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 7th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) conjuration
Activation: Free (command)
Weight: 1 lb.

Complex strands of tightly braided spider webs have been woven together to create this unusual whip. Tiny, multilegged black shapes skitter up and down its length, hiding amid its countless knots.

When you strike a creature with this +1 whip, you can activate it to wrap the target in a web of tough, leathery filaments. The creature is entangled as if by a net (PH 119) for 3 rounds or until it escapes. Multiple strikes by a whip of webs aren’t cumulative.

This ability functions three times per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, web.

Cost to Create: 3,000 gp (plus 301 gp for masterwork whip), 240 XP, 6 days.

CRYSTAL OF RETURN

A crystal of return allows a weapon to leap into its owner’s hand.

Least: This crystal allows you to draw the weapon to which it is attached as a free action.

Lesser: As the least crystal, and in addition you can call the weapon (if unattended) to your hand from up to 30 feet away as a move action.

Greater: As the lesser crystal, and the weapon also gains the returning property (DMG 225). This property functions only for a weapon designed to be thrown.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, mage hand.

Cost to Create: 200 gp, 16 XP, 1 day (least); 750 gp, 60 XP, 2 days (lesser); 3,000 gp, 240 XP, 6 days (greater).

Caster Level: 5th

Aura: Faint; (DC 17) transmutation

Activation: —

Weight: —

This transparent black crystal has a faint, sickly glow.

A crystal of life drinking bestows a small amount of life energy upon you each time you damage a living creature with the weapon to which the crystal is attached. Dealing nonlethal damage with the weapon doesn’t activate the crystal’s effect.

Least: Each time you deal damage to a living creature with the weapon to which this crystal is attached, you heal 1 point of damage. When the crystal has healed a total of 10 points of damage, it becomes inert until the following day.

Lesser: As the least crystal, except that you heal 3 points of damage with each attack until the crystal has healed 30 points of damage.

Greater: As the least crystal, except that you heal 5 points of damage with each attack until the crystal has healed 50 points of damage.

This perfect crystal sphere emits a faint white glow.

A fiendslayer crystal helps you fight creatures infused with evil.

Least: As the least crystal, and the weapon is treated as good-aligned for the purpose of overcoming damage reduction.

Greater: As the least crystal, and if the weapon scores a critical hit against an evil outsider, that creature can’t use any teleportation abilities or spells for 1 round.

Any evil creature grasping a weapon that bears a fiendslayer crystal gains one negative level, which remains as long as it holds the weapon and disappears when the weapon is no longer wielded. This negative level never results in actual level loss, but it cannot be overcome in any way (including restoration spells) while the weapon is wielded.

The first signs that it was in use in more civilized lands were the charred bodies of Graz’zt cultists left spilled outside their dark abbey’s door after Sir Alax of Bergholdt cleansed the den with his fiery sword (Knowledge [arcana or history] DC 20).

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, true seeing.

Cost to Create: 1,000 gp, 20 XP, 1 day (least); 5,000 gp, 40 XP, 1 day (lesser); 2,500 gp, 200 XP, 5 days (greater).

A revelation crystal help you battle foes who rely on invisibility.

Least: When you damage an invisible creature using a weapon with this augment crystal attached, the creature emits a glowing golden aura for 1 round, allowing everyone to know the square or squares it occupies and where it moves during that duration. This truedeath crystal to aid themselves and others in sending undead to their final rest.

Least: A weapon with this crystal attached deals an extra 1d6 points of damage to undead.

Greater: As the lesser crystal, but the weapon also functions as a ghost touch weapon (DMG 224).

Lore: The first truedeath crystal was recovered by Iggwilv from the vanity drawer of one of Graz’zt’s previous paramours (Knowledge [arcana] DC 15). Who created the first sphere is unknown, but the Witch of the Yatills made several more after her discovery, including one for her daughter Drelzna, who employed a bastard sword called The Bleeding Infanta fitted with a blood-filled witchlight reservoir. She carried the weapon until it was lost in battle against a gnome army led by a gold dragon somewhere between Ket and Perrenland (Knowledge [arcana] DC 20).

WITCHLIGHT RESERVOIR

Price (Item Level): 5,000 gp (3rd) (9th)

Body Slot: — (weapon crystal)

Caster Level: 10th

Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) necromancy

Activation: Swift (mental)

Weight: —

This coin-sized crystal sphere is inscribed with arcane sigils representing earth, air, wind, fire, magic, death, and beauty. It ripples like soft thunder.

As its name suggests, a witchlight reservoir can hold a small quantity of magical power, which can be used to enhance the power of a melee weapon. To imbue this augment crystal with power, you must directly expose it for 8 hours to one of the following substances: sunlight, moonlight, blood, or wine (at least one pint of either of the last two substances). Each one of these substances grants the item a different effect, as described below. Exposing a full reservoir to a new substance replaces the old effect with the new effect.

When activated, a reservoir adds an extra effect to its weapon’s next successful melee strike (as long as it is made before the end of your turn). The effect depends on the substance to which the witchlight reservoir was exposed (see above).

Sunlight: +2d6 fire damage (or +4d6 fire damage if the target is undead).

Moonlight: +2d6 electricity damage (or +4d6 electricity damage if the target is a lycanthrope).

Blood: +2d6 damage to a living target.

Wine: –2 penalty on Will saves for 1 round.

Lore: The first witchlight reservoir was created by Iggwilv from the vanity drawer of one of Graz’zt’s previous paramours (Knowledge [arcana] DC 15).

Who created the first sphere is unknown, but the Witch of the Yatills made several more after her discovery, including one for her daughter Drelzna, who employed a bastard sword called The Bleeding Infanta fitted with a blood-filled witchlight reservoir. She carried the weapon until it was lost in battle against a gnome army led by a gold dragon somewhere between Ket and Perrenland (Knowledge [arcana] DC 20).

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, true seeing.

Cost to Create: 2,500 gp, 200 XP, 5 days.
A suit of armor is nice, but any adventurer whose list of garb begins and ends with “full plate armor” just isn’t giving himself a reasonable chance of success. From the humble ring of feather falling to the legendary vest of the archmages, the roster of useful (even crucial) magic items worn on the body is vast.

This chapter includes nearly 400 magic items designed as clothing, jewelry, and the like. Some are fashionable, others crude, but all provide useful benefits that can contribute to your character’s survival.

More than any other category of items, the collection in this chapter relies on the body slot entry to constrain your choices. Unless you’re comfortable making a lot of ad hoc decisions about weird combinations, we recommend that your campaign only use these items as designed (rather than switching abilities around between various body slots). See “Body Slots” in Chapter 6 for information on how the body slot system works.

CLOTHING DESCRIPTIONS

The items in this chapter are arranged alphabetically.

ACROBAT BOOTS

Price (Item Level): 900 gp (4th)
Body Slot: Feet
Caster Level: 3rd
Aura: Faint, (DC 16) transmutation
Activation: — and swift (command)

Multiple brass buckles run from the ankle to the top of the calf on these finely crafted, black leather boots.

A pair of acrobat boots grants you a +2 competence bonus on Tumble checks. This is a continuous effect and requires no activation.

In addition, these boots have 3 charges, which are renewed each day at dawn. Spending 1 or more charges grants you an enhancement bonus to your speed for 1 round.

1 charge: +10-foot enhancement bonus.
2 charges: +15-foot enhancement bonus.
3 charges: +20-foot enhancement bonus.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, cat’s grace, longstrider.

Cost to Create: 450 gp, 36 XP, 1 day.
ADAMANTINE MIND BLADE GAUNTLETS

Price (Item Level): 2,000 gp (6th)
Body Slot: Hands
Caster Level: 9th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) transmutation
Activation: —
Weight: 1 lb.

Each of these heavy leather gloves bears a violet crystal set on a small plate of adamantine.

Adamantine mind blade gauntlets allow you to give your mind blade the properties of adamantine. If you are able to enhance your mind blade (with the mind blade enhancement class feature), whenever you materialize your mind blade while wearing these gauntlets, you can choose to treat it as an adamantine weapon for the purpose of ignoring hardness or overcoming damage reduction. This ability takes the place of a property with a +1 enhancement bonus value.

For example, a 6th-level soulknife wearing the gauntlets could either choose to apply the gauntlets’ effect or apply one of the +1 enhancement bonus value properties given on the table (EPH 29). A 10th-level soulknife could apply both the gauntlets’ effect and a +1 enhancement bonus value property rather than applying a combination of properties from the table totaling +2.

Adamantine mind blade gauntlets function an unlimited number of times per day. The gauntlets require no separate activation; using them is part of the action to materialize your mind blade.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, fabricate, mind blade.
Cost to Create: 1,000 gp, 80 XP, 2 days.

Price (Item Level): See table
Body Slot: Throat
Caster Level: See table
Aura: See table; (DC varies) transmutation
Activation: Standard (command)
Weight: —

This irregularly shaped piece of natural amber is fastened at the end of a long golden chain. Within the amber a tiny creature still seems to twitch.

This item summons a giant vermin that appears and obeys your commands for 1 minute (as if summoned by summon servant's ally). At the end of this duration, the creature vanishes.

Eight varieties of the amber amulet of vermin exist (see the table for the details of each version). An amber amulet of vermin works once per day.

Body Slot: Throat
Caster Level: 9th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) enchantment
Activation: Standard (mental)
Weight: —

This crimson-tinted metal amulet is rimmed with dozens of copper pyramids. It hums cheerfully when grasped.

When activated, this amulet emits a 30-foot-radius area of telepathic noise, centered on you, for 9 rounds. If any creature in this area (including you) attempts to manifest a power, it must succeed on a DC 17 Will save or pay 4 more points than it otherwise would for that power manifestation.

The limit on the number of power points a subject can spend on a power remains in effect, so a creature that fails its saving throw might not be able to manifest its highest-level powers.

An amulet of catapsi functions once per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, anti-magic field or catapsi (EPH 82).
Cost to Create: 8,000 gp, 640 XP, 16 days.

Body Slot: Throat
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) conjuration
Activation: Immediate (command)
Weight: —

This globe-shaped citrine is bisected by a sturdy silver chain.

The wearer of an amulet of emergency healing can provide instantaneous aid to an injured ally. When it is activated, you can heal 1d4+5 points of damage to yourself or a creature within 30 feet. You can use this effect to prevent the death of a creature reduced below −9 hit points, as long as the healing provided returns the target’s hit points to −9 or higher. (For example, you couldn’t save a creature whose hit points had been reduced to −19 or lower, since the amulet can’t provide more than 9 points of healing.)

This amulet has no effect on undead creatures or creatures immune to healing spells.

An amulet of emergency healing functions three times per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, close wounds (SC 48).
Cost to Create: 3,000 gp, 240 XP, 6 days.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, break enchantment.

Cost to Create: 1,050 gp, 84 XP, 3 days.

While you wear an amulet of incarnum shielding, you are immune to any effect that would drain your incarnum or unshape one of your soulmelds. An amulet of incarnum shielding has 7 charges when created. Each time your amulet negates an effect, it expends 1 charge. When an amulet loses its last charge, it crumbles into dust.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, must have an essentia pool.

Cost to Create: 1,050 gp, 84 XP, 3 days.

Amulet of Inviolate Form

- Price (Item Level): 11,000 gp (13th)

This platinum amulet is set with seven red garnets. This amulet protects you from spells and effects that would significantly change your bodily form or composition. Whenever you are the target of such an effect, you can expend 1 charge to negate the transformation. You must decide whether to use the charge before you attempt a saving throw. Effects that the amulet protects against include, but are not limited to, polymorph, petrification, the touch of an aboleth’s tentacle, and the attack of a chaos beast.

An amulet of inviolate form has 7 charges when created, one for each garnet. Each time a charge is expended, one garnet turns a dull black color.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, break enchantment.

Amulet of Retributive Healing

- Price (Item Level): 2,000 gp (6th)
- Body Slot: Throat
- Caster Level: 9th
- Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) transmutation
- Activation: Swift (command)
- Weight: 1 lb.

This strand of ceramic beads is painted with sedate earth tones. Devoting your life to healing is often a thankless job. An amulet of retributive healing ensures that if you tend to your allies, you are renewed in turn.

When you activate your amulet, the next effect you use before the end of your turn that heals another creature’s damage also heals you of an equal amount, as long as you could be healed by that same effect. If the effect heals multiple creatures, you only gain the retributive healing once per effect.

For example, a human cleric casting cure light wounds on an ally after activating this amulet would gain the same amount of healing, but a human wizard casting repair light damage on her warforged ally would not benefit from activating the amulet (since that spell only affects constructs).
An amulet of retributive healing functions three times per day.
Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, mass cure light wounds.
Cost to Create: 1,000 gp, 80 XP, 2 days.

All affected creatures are aware of the events of the now-nonexistent round, but they are free to make entirely different choices from the ones they originally made.

An amulet of second chances functions once per day.

These gem-studded belts are sacred to followers of Kord, the god of strength. When you wear one of these items, it functions as a belt of giant strength +2 if you are chaotic good, neutral good, or chaotic neutral. ### Belt of Hidden Pouches

Price (Item Level): 5,000 gp (9th)

Body Slot: Waist

Caster Level: 9th

Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) conjuration

Activation: Move (command); see text

Weight: 1 lb.

Ten tiny pockets run along the inside of this otherwise unremarkable leather belt.

Hidden inside this belt are ten small pockets, each of which seems big enough to hold only a few coins. Each pocket actually functions as a small bag of holding and can hold up to 1/2 cubic foot or 5 pounds of nonliving matter. No object with any dimension exceeding 6 inches can be placed in a pocket. Anything placed inside a pocket effectively has one-tenth its normal weight, so a full pocket weighs only 1/2 pound at most.

In addition, two secret pockets lie behind each visible one, for a total of thirty pockets in all. The hidden pockets can be accessed only through a command word. A true seeing spell reveals the presence of the hidden pockets but not the command word needed to open them.

Even when a pocket is full, it never bulges, so a belt of hidden pouches stuffed with 150 pounds of items still looks like an ordinary belt.

To place any object in the belt, you merely press the object into the belt. Doing so while speaking the command word places the object in one of the hidden pockets (if one of them is empty). Placing an item in a pocket (hidden or visible) is a move action that does not provoke attacks of opportunity.

Naming a stored object and speaking a second command word draws the named object out of the belt and places it in your hand. Doing this is a move action that does not provoke attacks of opportunity.

You can also reach into one of the ten regular hidden pockets and draw out an item, just as if retrieving a stored object (a move action that provokes attacks of opportunity).

A casual search won’t reveal any objects placed in the belt, and searching the

Lore: Gruumsh, god of orcs, gave his shamans the knowledge to craft the first blighter’s hex-eye to help his people clear the woodlands of their enemies (Knowledge [history or religion] DC 15). A harmless trail of crackling sparks traces the path from your original location to your destination, making it obvious where you have landed. You can’t use the shirt to move into a space occupied by another creature, nor can you teleport into a solid object; if you attempt to do so, the shirt’s activation is wasted. You can bring along objects weighing up to your maximum load, but you can’t bring another creature with you.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, true seeing.

Cost to Create: 7,500 gp, 600 XP, 15 days.

You must make the charge attack in the round you activate the boots, or the effect is lost.

These wolfhide boots are secured with leather thongs that wrap twice about the ankle. The fur is exceptionally soft and has a faint sheen that makes the boots appear to shimmer in the light.

The spirit of a blink dog has been harnessed within these boots. While you are wearing these boots, your caster level for all teleportation spells is increased by 2. This is a continuous effect and requires no activation.

In addition, when you speak the command word, you can teleport up to 60 feet with no chance for error, as if using a greater teleport spell. This ability functions three times per day.

Once per day, you can activate boots of dragonstriding to gain a climb speed equal to your land speed for 10 rounds.
Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, jump, spider climb.
Cost to Create: 750 gp, 60 XP, 2 days.

BOOTS OF JUMPING

These comfortable, black leather boots have unusually springy soles.

Boots of jumping allow you to jump exceptionally long distances. You only need to move at least 10 feet in a straight line to attempt a running jump (rather than 20 feet). This is a continuous effect and requires no activation.

In addition, boots of jumping have 3 charges, which are renewed each day at dawn. Spending 1 or more charges grants you a competence bonus on Jump checks for 1 round.

on Jump checks.
3 charges: Gain a +20 competence bonus

Tordek shops for new boots, trying out rock boots, boots of the mountain king, steadfast boots, boots of tremorsense, and boots of landing.
These light blue leather boots have very thick soles. Walking in them is like dancing in the clouds.

While wearing boots of landing, you land on your feet no matter how far you fall, and you take 2 fewer dice of damage from the fall than normal (thus, a fall of 20 feet or less deals you no damage).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, feather fall or catfall (EPH 82).
Cost to Create: 250 gp, 20 XP, 1 day.

BOOTS OF THE MOUNTAIN KING

Activation: —
Weight: 1 lb.

These iron-shod red leather boots appear rugged and worn.

While wearing boots of the mountain king, you can move more easily than usual over rough and difficult terrain. In addition, you can move up stairs and slopes at normal speed and run or charge downhill without making a Balance check (DMG 89). These boots require no activation.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, freedom of movement.
Cost to Create: 750 gp, 60 XP, 2 days.

BOOTS OF SIDESTEPPING

Activation: Swift (mental)
Weight: —

These soft leather boots are adorned with a copper chain around the ankle.

Boots of sidestepping allow you to slide out of range of an enemy’s attacks. When you activate the boots, you can take a 5-foot step (PH 144). Unlike a normal 5-foot step, you can take this action even if you have already moved during the round, and it doesn’t prevent you from moving again afterward (or even taking your normal 5-foot step). For example, you could activate the boots to move 5 feet away from an adjacent monster, spend a move action to move another 20 feet away, then take a standard action.

Boots of sidestepping function three times per day.
Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, haste.
Cost to Create: 3,000 gp, 240 XP, 6 days.

BOOTS OF SKATING

These white leather boots extend to mid-calf and lace up from toe to top. They sport two dull metal edges that slant downward from the bottom of each side.

Boots of skating allow you to slide along the ground as if on smooth ice. You can gracefully skate along the ground, turn, or stop suddenly as desired. You gain a +10-foot enhancement bonus to your land speed while wearing the boots. This is a continuous effect and requires no activation.

Skating up an incline removes the bonus to speed, while skating down a decline increases the boots’ enhancement bonus to land speed by an additional 10 feet.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, expeditious retreat or skate (EPH 132).
Cost to Create: 3,500 gp, 280 XP, 7 days.

Aura: Faint; (DC 16) evocation
Activation: Standard (manipulation)
Weight: 1 lb.

The thick metal soles of these dirt-brown boots are slightly wider than the vamp. Brassy metal bands run from the sides of the soles to the tops.

When you stomp your feet and activate boots of stomping, you generate a 15-foot-long cone-shaped burst of psychokinetic force that travels along the ground, toppling creatures and loose objects. The shock wave affects only creatures standing on the ground within the area. Creatures that fail a DC 13 Reflex save are thrown to the ground, prone, and take 1d4 points of nonlethal damage.

Boots of stomping function three times per day.
Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, sonic blast (SC 195) or stomp (EPH 133).
Cost to Create: 300 gp, 24 XP, 1 day.

BOOTS OF SWIFT PASSAGE

Price (Item Level): 5,000 gp (9th)
Body Slot: Feet
Caster Level: 7th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) conjuration
Activation: Move (command)
Weight: 1 lb.

These comfortable high boots are made from deep red leather with brilliant copper-colored leather soles.

When activated, boots of swift passage teleport you up to 20 feet in any direction (with no chance of error). You must have line of sight and line of effect to your destination to use the boots. You can’t use the boots to move into a space occupied by another creature, nor can you teleport into a solid object; if you attempt to do so, the boots’ activation is wasted. You can bring along objects weighing up to your maximum load, but you can’t bring another creature with you.

Boots of swift passage function five times per day.
Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, dimension door.
Cost to Create: 2,500 gp, 200 XP, 5 days.
BOOTS OF TEMPORAL ACCELERATION

Price (Item Level): 43,000 gp (17th)

Body Slot: Feet

Caster Level: 17th

Aura: Strong; (DC 23) conjuration

Activation: Swift (command)

Weight: 1 lb.

These dark leather boots feature a small image of a sundial sewn into each side. When worn, they pulse slightly once every second.

Once per day, you can enter another time frame for 2 rounds, speeding up so greatly that all other creatures seem frozen, though they are actually moving at normal speed. Other creatures are normally immune to your attacks, powers, or spells, but if you create an area effect that lasts longer than 2 rounds, that effect applies normally once the duration of the item’s effect expires.

While under the effect of the boots, you cannot enter an area protected by an antimagic field, null psionics field, or by a spell or power that neutralizes 9th-level spells or powers. Normal and magical fire, cold, acid, and the like can still harm you. Except as described here, this effect functions as a time stop spell.

When the duration expires, you resume acting during your current turn in normal time, but you are shaken for 1 round.

Splintered or partitioned minds within your own mind, such as might be in effect through the use of psionic powers such as schism, are not temporally sped up, even if your second mind manifested this power. Your primary mind gains the benefit, while your second mind remains stuck in the standard time frame.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, time stop or temporal acceleration (EPH 136).

Cost to Create: 5,500 gp, 440 XP, 11 days.

BOOTS OF TREMORSENSE

Body Slot: Feet

Caster Level: 5th

Aura: Faint; (DC 17) transmutation

Activation: Swift (command)

Weight: 1 lb.

The soles of these black boots are unusually wide and their shape strangely cylindrical, like the feet of an elephant.

When you activate boots of tremorsense, you gain tremorsense out to 30 feet for 5 rounds. This ability functions three times per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, tremorsense.

Cost to Create: 2,500 gp, 200 XP, 5 days.

Wearing bracers of accuracy allows you to make ranged attacks with extreme precision. The bracers have 3 charges, which are renewed each day at dawn. Spending 1 or more charges grants a benefit to all ranged attacks you make before the end of your turn.

1 charge: Ignore AC bonus from cover (except total cover) for all targets.
Bracers of dawn

3 charges: Ignore both cover and concealment (as previous entries) for all targets.
Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, clairaudience/clairvoyance.
Cost to Create: 2,000 gp, 160 XP, 4 days.

BRACERS OF ARCANE FREEDOM
Price (Item Level): 2,300 gp (6th)
Body Slot: Arms
Caster Level: 7th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) abjuration
Activation: Swift (command)
Weight: 1/2 lb.

These ornate blue leather armbands are stitched with depictions of golden eagles in flight.

Bracers of arcane freedom allow you to cast arcane spells without the normal complex gestures required. When you activate these bracers, you omit the somatic component of the next arcane spell you cast before the end of your turn (as if applying the Still Spell feat to it, but without altering the spell’s level or casting time).
This effect functions two times per day.
Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, freedom of movement.
Cost to Create: 1,150 gp, 92 XP, 3 days.

BRACERS OF THE BLAST BARRIER
Price (Item Level): 3,200 gp (8th)
Body Slot: Arms
Caster Level: 7th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) evocation
Activation: Swift (command)
Weight: 1 lb.

These silver and red bracers are set with round, jet-black stones.

Bracers of the blast barrier allow you to turn a spell or spell-like ability into a temporary wall of magical energy. When you activate these bracers, the next spell you cast or spell-like ability you use before the end of your turn instead appears as a 10-foot-long, 10-foot-high opaque wall that lasts for 1 round per level of the spell. One end of the wall must be placed at any corner of your space, and the wall can extend in any direction. The wall must be continuous and unbroken when created. If its surface is broken by any object or creature, the wall fails to form and the spell and activation are lost.

Any creature passing through the wall takes damage equal to that normally dealt by the spell or spell-like ability (with a minimum of 1 point per level of the spell or spell-like ability). A successful Reflex save (using the normal save DC for a spell of that level cast by you) halves this damage.
This ability functions three times per day.
Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, wall of fire.
Cost to Create: 1,600 gp, 128 XP, 4 days.

BRACERS OF DAWN
Price (Item Level): 26,000 gp (16th)
Body Slot: Arms
Caster Level: 6th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) evocation
Activation: Move (manipulation) and standard (manipulation)
Weight: 1 lb.

These leather bracers are set with brass studs. One of the pair also features a lens-and-dial contraption.

When you turn the dial to the left, both bracers appear normal. When you turn the dial to the middle position, a beam of light emerges from the lens, illuminating your surroundings as a bullseye lantern would. Turning the dial to the left or back to the middle is a move action.

Four times per day, you can turn the dial to the right position as a standard action and aim the lens at a target, unleashing a searing light effect (as the spell). The dial automatically returns to the middle position after each use of this ability.
Even though only one bracer is equipped with the lens-and-dial apparatus, both must be worn for the magic to be effective.
Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, searing light.
Cost to Create: 13,000 gp, 1,040 XP, 26 days.

BRACERS OF THE ENTANGLING BLAST
Price (Item Level): 2,000 gp (6th)
Body Slot: Arms
Caster Level: 3rd
Aura: Faint; (DC 16) conjuration
Activation: Swift (command)
Weight: 1 lb.

Each of these jet black bracers is set with an oval of tiny, ruby-red stones.

Bracers of the entangling blast allow you to reduce the damage dealt by your magic to ensnare those affected by it. When you activate these bracers, the next spell you cast or spell-like ability you use deals only half its normal damage; however, any creature damaged by the spell becomes entangled for 1d3 rounds, taking an additional 1 point of damage per level of the spell each round on your turn. This damage is of the same type as normally dealt by the spell (or your choice if the spell deals more than one type of damage). These bracers have no effect on a spell or spell-like ability that doesn’t deal damage.
This ability function three times per day.
Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, web.
Cost to Create: 1,000 gp, 100 XP, 2 days.

BRACERS OF GREAT COLLISION
Price (Item Level): 1,500 gp (5th)
Body Slot: Arms
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 17) transmutation
Activation: Free (command)
Weight: —

These thick platinum armbands are etched with a pattern of crossed hammers.
Bracers of great collision allow you to deliver particularly crushing attacks with bludgeoning weapons. When you score a successful critical hit with a bludgeoning melee weapon, you can activate the bracers to deal an extra 2d6 points of damage with that attack (or 3d6 points of damage if you wield the weapon with two hands). You must activate the bracers before you roll damage for the critical hit.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, greater magic weapon, keen edge.

Cost to Create: 750 gp, 60 XP, 2 days.

Bracers of opportunity allow you to take advantage of opponents who let down their defenses.

If you have the Combat Reflexes feat, you gain a +2 competence bonus on any attack of opportunity you make (whether the attack of opportunity is granted by the bracers or not). This is a continuous effect and requires no activation.

When you activate these bracers, you can take an attack of opportunity granted to you by an opponent, even if you have already reached your normal limit of attacks of opportunity in the round. This ability functions two times per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, Combat Reflexes, cat’s grace.

Cost to Create: 1,150 gp, 92 XP, 3 days.

BRACERS OF QUICK STRIKE

Price (Item Level): 1,400 gp (5th)
Body Slot: Arms
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) transmutation
Activation: Swift (command)
Weight: 1 lb.

Each of these mithral bracers bears an image of a needle-sharp dagger.

When you activate bracers of quick strike, you can make one extra attack with any weapon you are holding if you already made a full attack on this turn. This attack is made at your full base attack bonus, plus any modifiers appropriate to the situation. This effect is not cumulative with any other effect that grants you an extra attack when making a full attack, such as the Rapid Shot feat, a speed weapon, or the haste spell.

Bracers of quick strike function once per day.

You must wear bracers of quick strike for 24 hours before you can access their abilities. If you take them off, they become inactive until worn for an additional 24 hours.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, haste.

Cost to Create: 700 gp, 56 XP, 2 days.

BRACERS OF REPULSION

Price (Item Level): 4,000 gp (8th)

Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) evocation
Activation: Swift (command)
Weight: —

Each of these steel bracers bears an oval of smoky quartz carved with the image of an upraised hand.

Bracers of repulsion produce an instantaneous wave of force that pushes back enemies. When you activate the bracers, all enemies within 10 feet must succeed on a DC 19 Fortitude save or be pushed 5 feet away from you. Huge and larger creatures are unaffected by bracers of repulsion, though incorporeal creatures can be affected.

This ability functions three times per day.

Bracers of retaliation protect you from attacks and punish attackers for injuring you. They grant you a +1 armor bonus to AC (as bracers of armor). This is a continuous effect and requires no activation.

In addition, when you are dealt damage by a melee attack, you can activate the bracers and sacrifice an arcane spell or spell slot of 1st level or higher to daze your attacker for 1 round. A successful Will save (DC 10 + the level of the spell sacrificed) negates this effect. This effect functions three times per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, Craft Wondrous Item, mage armor.
Cost to Create: 2,500 gp, 200 XP, 5 days.

Caster Level: 11th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) conjuration
Activation: Standard (command)
Weight: 1 lb.

These bracers consist of silver plates that can be attached to a person’s forearms by ornate leather straps. An etching on their surface echoes the swirls within crystal shards set just above the wrists.

Bracers of wind continuously emit a faint breeze, occasionally billowing your cloak or hair. Upon their activation, the winds around you swell and surge, imposing a –2 penalty on ranged attacks made against you, as if fired in a strong wind (DMG 95). Siege weapons, thrown boulders, and the like are unaffected. This effect does not stack if the wind in the area is already strong or greater. In addition, when you use a ranged weapon, you gain a +1 competence bonus on the attack roll. These effects function continuously while the bracers are activated.

You can suppress the winds about you by uttering “calm” in Auran, although doing so also suppresses the benefits the bracers bestow. You can reactivate the bracers by saying “zephyr” while focusing on the etchings of the silver plates.

Prerequisites: Bind Elemental (ECS 51) or Craft Wondrous Item, planar binding.
Cost to Create: 5,000 gp, 400 XP, 10 days.

CANNITH GOGGLES

Cost to Create: 1,000 gp, 80 XP, 2 days.

Casting gloves

While in viper form, you replace all your normal statistics and special abilities with those of a typical viper of the appropriate size, except for your alignment, your hit points, your Hit Dice (for the purpose of adjudicating effects based on HD), and your ability to understand (but not speak) the languages you normally understand. Any gear worn or carried melds into the new form and becomes nonfunctional. Treat this as a polymorph effect, as defined on page 95 of Player’s Handbook II.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, ability to wild shape.

CADDUCEUS BRACERS

Price (Item Level): 2,000 gp (6th)
Body Slot: Arms
Caster Level: 12th
Aura: Strong; (DC 21) conjuration
Activation: —
Weight: 1 lb.

These lightweight silver bracers depict a pair of intertwined, snake-like shapes.

Caduceus bracers allow you to convert your innate healing powers into other forms of restorative magic. By sacrificing 5 points of healing (derived from lay on hands, wholeness of body, or any similar ability that measures your ability to heal as a daily limit of points), you can remove 1 point of ability damage or remove the dazed, fatigued, or sickened condition from one creature.

Using these bracers in this manner follows all the normal limitations of your healing ability. For example, a paladin using caduceus bracers must touch the target to be affected (just as with lay on hands), while a monk wearing these bracers can affect only herself (since she can’t use wholeness of body on another creature).

You can spend extra points for cumulative effect. For example, you could spend 15 points of healing to remove both the fatigued condition and 2 points of ability damage.

You can also combine normal healing with the bracers’ effect. For instance, you could spend 25 points to produce the effects in the previous example and heal 10 points of damage as well.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, lesser restoration.

Cost to Create: 1,000 gp, 80 XP, 2 days.

Cannith goggles powered with a 1st-level infusion grant low-light vision. Powering them with a 2nd-level infusion grants the wearer low-light vision and darkvision out to 60 feet. If powered with a 3rd-level infusion, the goggles provide low-light vision and darkvision out to 120 feet.

CLOAK OF BATTLE
Price (Item Level): 22,000 gp (15th)
Body Slot: Shoulders
Caster Level: 14th
Aura: Strong; (DC 22) transmutation
Activation: — and standard (command)
Weight: 1 lb.

Thousands of thin, silvery chain links make up this long cloak.

A cloak of battle grants you a +4 armor bonus to AC. This is a continuous effect and requires no activation. The cloak also has two other abilities tied to unique command words.

The first command transforms the cloak into an iron +1/+1 quarterstaff that leaps into your hands (or falls at your feet if you don’t have an open hand). The same command transforms the staff back into a cloak, returning it to your shoulders.

The second command allows the cloak to make a disarm attempt against an adjacent opponent (using your base attack bonus and size modifier, and with a +4 bonus on the roll). This attempt does not provoke attacks of opportunity. If the disarm attempt succeeds, the cloak can fling the weapon up to 10 feet in any direction. (The disarmed weapon can’t be thrown at a creature as an attack.) If the disarm attempt fails, you can’t be disarmed in return. This ability can be used three times per day.

While grappling, each time you roll a grapple check (other than the initial check to enter or resist the grapple), you can activate your cloak of quills. Doing this lodges quills in your opponent, dealing 1d6 points of damage to each other creature in the grapple (Reflex DC 16 negates). This ability functions five times per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, quillfire (SC 164).
Cost to Create: 1,250 gp, 100 XP, 3 days.

Activation: —
Weight: 1 lb.

This finely crafted garment is made of blue and purple material. A pair of matched blue quartz crystals form the cloak’s clasp.

A cloak of soulbound resistance grants you a +1 resistance bonus on your saving throws. In addition, it serves as a receptacle for your essentia, much as a soulmeld does. Every point of essentia invested in it increases the bonus by 1, subject to the maximum values noted below.

Each cloak of soulbound resistance has an essentia capacity. The maximum number of essentia points that can be invested in it equals this value or your normal essentia capacity (see Table 2–1: Essentia Capacity, Magic of Incarnum 19), whichever is lower. Investing or reallocating essentia in the cloak is a swift action (and can be done as part of the normal swift action used for reallocating essentia).

A cloak of soulbound resistance has a maximum essentia capacity of 2, and the maximum resistance bonus it can grant is +3.

In addition, you can activate the collar from any distance (as long as you are on the same plane) to cure the animal wearing it. This instantly heals the creature wearing the collar of 50 points of damage and removes the fatigued or exhausted condition (if the creature currently suffers from such). This ability functions once per day.

While you wear it over your right eye, activating it grants you the benefit of the Blind-Fight feat for 1 minute. Activation: Immediate (command)
Weight: 3 lb.

These two gold coils wind around the arm from bicep to wrist like serpents. A tiny ruby is set into each end of the coils.

Deathguardian bracers allow you to trade arcane spells for protection from physical harm. When you activate the bracers, choose a prepared arcane spell or uncast spell slot. You lose that spell or spell slot (as if you had cast the spell) and gain damage reduction equal to twice the level of the spell or spell slot sacrificed. This damage reduction lasts until the start of your next turn and can’t be overcome by any type of weapon.

Deathguardian bracers can be activated as long as you have arcane spells remaining to sacrifice.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, stoneskin.
Cost to Create: 3,000 gp, 240 XP, 6 days.

DEATHSTRIKE BRACERS

Price (Item Level): 5,000 gp (9th)
Body Slot: Arms
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) transmutation
Activation: Swift (mental)
Weight: 2 lb.

Each of these black steel bracers is marked with an etching of crossed swords.

When activated, deathstrike bracers allow you to use melee weapons to deal extra damage from critical hits and sneak attacks to constructs, elementals, oozes, plants, and undead as if they were not immune to such extra damage. You must still roll a critical threat and confirm it as a critical hit or qualify to deliver sneak attack damage to gain any benefit from the bracers. This effect does not allow you to overcome any other immunity or resistance to extra damage from sneak attacks or critical hits (such as the fortification armor property). This effect lasts for 1 round. This ability functions three times per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, keen edge.
Cost to Create: 2,500 gp, 200 XP, 5 days.

DESperation CHAIN

Price (Item Level): 15,000 gp (14th)
Body Slot: Waist
Caster Level: 13th
Aura: Strong; (DC 21) no school
Activation: Immediate (command)
Weight: 5 lb.

Alternating links of a strange green metal and ivory make up this chainlike belt.

A desperation chain gives an arcane spellcaster the opportunity to either avoid capture or strike back against an enemy. You can activate a desperation chain when you are being rendered helpless by an enemy (such as being pinned, paralyzed, or dropped to –1 or fewer hit points). When you activate the chain, you can cast a single arcane spell of 3rd level or lower without spending an additional action to do so. Doing this expends the prepared spell or spell slot as if you had cast the spell. The chosen spell must have a casting time no longer than 1 full round. Casting a spell in this way requires no verbal or somatic components and does not provoke attacks of opportunity. You must still provide any material components or focus required, as well as pay any XP or other costs of the spell.

The spell you cast takes effect after the effect that rendered you helpless (so it can’t prevent that effect), though it could theoretically neutralize or reverse it. For example, a bard wearing the chain could cast cure light wounds in response to being reduced to –3 hit points.

This ability functions once per day. You must wear a desperation chain for 24 hours before you can access its abilities. If it is taken off, it becomes inactive until worn for an additional 24 hours.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, limited wish.
Cost to Create: 7,500 gp, 600 XP, 15 days.

You activate the gauntlets after you have confirmed a critical hit, but before damage is rolled.

1 charge: +2d6 points of damage.
2 charges: +3d6 points of damage.

While wearing dimension stride boots, you gain a +2 competence bonus on Jump checks. This is a continuous effect and requires no activation.

In addition, the boots have 5 charges, which are renewed each day at dawn. Spending 1 or more charges allows you to teleport a short distance (with no chance of error). You must have line of sight and line of effect to your destination. You can't use the boots to move into a space occupied by another creature, nor can you teleport into a solid object; if you attempt to do so, the boots' activation is wasted. You can bring along objects weighing up to your maximum load, but you can't bring other creatures.

1 charge: Teleport 20 feet.
3 charges: Teleport 40 feet.
5 charges: Teleport 60 feet.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, dimension door.

A dispelling cord functions five times per day. Each time it is activated, one of the five knots magically unties itself, indicating the uses remaining for the day.

In addition, three times per day, you can activate the gauntlets to treat your next melee attack against a weapon or shield as though you had the Improved Sunder feat, even if you don't meet its prerequisites.

If you have Improved Unarmed Strike, dragonfang gauntlets allow you to overcome damage reduction with your unarmed strikes as though you were wielding a magic weapon. In this case, you deal unarmed strike damage instead of spiked gauntlet damage.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, bull's strength, magic weapon, shatter.
Cost to Create: 4,000 gp (plus 610 gp for masterwork spiked gauntlets), 320 XP, 8 days.

Body Slot: Shoulders
Caster Level: 20th
Aura: Strong; (DC 25) transmutation
Activation: Swift (command)
Weight: 2 lb.

This long, flowing cloak is sewn from an assortment of chromatic dragon scales.

While wearing this cloak, you have resistance 5 to an energy type of your choice (acid, cold, electricity, or fire) provided that you are chaotic evil, neutral evil, or chaotic neutral. You can select or change the resistance by speaking the command word.

Relic Power: If you have established the proper divine connection, you can also transform a dragonscale cloak into functional dragon wings upon command. The wings (which last for 2 hours per day, divided up as you wish) allow you to fly with a speed of 60 feet and average maneuverability. Additionally, the value of the cloak’s resistance to energy increases to 20.

To use the relic power, you must worship Tiamat and either sacrifice a 6th-level divine spell slot or have the True Believer feat and at least 11 HD.

Lore: The first dragonscale cloak is said to have been created from the scales of Tiamat herself by a devoted high priest who visited the dragon queen on her home plane. Since then, those who ally with evil dragons have occasionally collected assortments of scales with which to duplicate the process (Knowledge [religion] DC 20).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, Sanctify Relic, polymorph, resist energy.

Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) illusion
Activation: 1 minute (command)
Weight: —

This black silk blindfold is embroidered with mystical symbols done in silver thread.

While wearing a dreaming blindfold, you are effectively blinded, but you can send a useful or terrible dream to a sleeping creature. Once per day, the blindfold can produce either one of two effects (but not both in the same day):

Dream: You send a phantasmal message to a specific known living creature. This effect functions as the dream spell, except that the range is 100 miles and you can’t deliver the dream through a messenger.

Nightmare: You send a hideous phantasmal vision to a specific known living creature. This effect functions as the nightmare spell, except that the range is 100 miles.

If you are also wearing a psicrown (EPH 169), you can target the recipient of the dream or nightmare with a single psionic power generated by the psicrown as if you were adjacent to that creature. However, the power costs twice the normal number of power points and renders the dreaming blindfold inert for seven days.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, dream, nightmare.
Cost to Create: 3,750 gp, 300 XP, 8 days.

Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) varies
Activation: See text
Weight: 1/4 lb.

This reddish crystal shard is inscribed with arcane symbols, banded with mithral, and hanging from a small silver chain.

An empowered spellshard is keyed to a specific spell of up to 3rd level. When you cast the attuned spell, you can use your empowered spellshard as a focus in addition to the spell’s normal components (if any). Doing this empowers the spell (as though using the Empower Spell feat, but with no adjustment to spell level or casting time).

The spellshard is activated as a part of the spellcasting process. The markings on the shard reveal the spell to which it is attuned to a character who makes a successful DC 30 Spellcraft check. The prices and levels of empowered spellshards are described on the table below.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, Empower Spell, spell to which the shard is attuned.
ENDURING AMULET

Price (Item Level): 1,500 gp (5th)

Activation: — and immediate (command)
Weight: —

This circular, coin-shaped talisman is half flame red and half ice blue.

An enduring amulet protects you from extremes of temperature, as if by the endure elements spell. This is a continuous effect and requires no activation.

In addition, the amulet has 3 charges, which are renewed each day at dawn. Spending 1 or more charges grants you resistance to cold and fire for 1 round.

- 1 charge: Resistance to cold 10 and fire 10.
- 2 charges: Resistance to cold 15 and fire 15.
- 3 charges: Resistance to cold 20 and fire 20.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, resist energy.

Cost to Create: 750 gp, 60 XP, 2 days.

ENEMY SPIRIT POUCH

Price (Item Level): 2,100 gp (6th)
Body Slot: Throat
Caster Level: 3rd
Aura: Faint; (DC 16) divination
Activation: —
Weight: 1 lb.

A small collection of teeth, small scales, knots of hair, and strange bits of jerky fills this pouch. The worn leather bag’s strings are long enough to allow the pouch to be worn as a necklace.

This item is keyed to a single type of creature (aberration, animal, magical beast, and so on). A pouch keyed to humanoids or outsiders must be keyed to a subtype as described in the ranger’s favored enemy ability (PH 47). While wearing an enemy spirit pouch, you gain a +1 competence bonus on attack rolls against creatures of this type.

If you are a ranger, the pouch increases your favored enemy bonus against creatures of its type by 2. If you don’t have the favored enemy ability, the pouch grants you a +2 bonus on damage rolls and certain skill checks as if that type of creature were your favored enemy.

If a creature of the type keyed to the pouch wears that pouch, it receives one negative level. The negative level remains for as long as the pouch is worn and disappears when it is no longer carried. The negative level never results in actual level loss, but cannot be overcome in any way (including restoration spells) while the pouch is worn.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, detect animals or plants, ranger with favored enemy type/subtype matching that of the pouch.

Cost to Create: 1,050 gp, 84 XP, 3 days.

ESSENTIA HELM

Price (Item Level): 3,000 gp (7th)
Body Slot: Head
Caster Level: 11th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) transmutation
Activation: Swift (command)
Weight: 3 lb.

A flawless sapphire is set on this heavy steel helm, shining almost too faintly to notice.

These imposing helmets are valued by incarnates and other meldshapers, because they can temporarily supercharge one or more of your soulmelds or other essentia receptacles (see Magic of Incarnum for details on incarnum).

An essentia helm has 3 charges, which are renewed each day at dawn. Spending 1 or more charges maximizes the essentia investment in one or more of your soulmelds or other essentia receptacles (as chosen by you when you activate it) for 1 round. Effectively, the helm temporarily adds essentia to the affected receptacles (soulmelds, incarnum feats, magic items, and so on) until it reaches its maximum. While this ability is in effect, you can’t reallocate essentia from the affected receptacle.

- 1 charge: Maximizes essentia investment in one receptacle.
- 2 charges: Maximizes essentia investment in two receptacles.
- 3 charges: Maximizes essentia investment in three receptacles.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, essentia pool, meldshaper.

EXECUTIONER’S HOOD [RElic]

Price (Item Level): 6,000 gp (10th)
Body Slot: Head
Caster Level: 20th
Aura: Strong; (DC 25) transmutation
Activation: —
Weight: —

This black cloth hood is made of coarse fabric. Two eyeholes have been crudely cut to allow its wearer to see, and it is secured at the neck with a piece of rope tied in the style of a noose.

Death and destruction have accompanied the former wearers of an executioner’s hood. Those who know of this item’s dark history are terrified to look upon one. While wearing an executioner’s hood, you can attempt a coup de grace attack as a standard action rather than a full-round action if you are chaotic evil, neutral evil, or chaotic neutral.

Relic Power: If you have established the proper divine connection, each time you make a successful coup de grace attempt, you gain a +1 morale bonus on melee attack rolls and damage rolls and 1 temporary hit point per level. These benefits last for 5 minutes and stack to a maximum of a +5 bonus and 5 temporary hit points per level.

To use the relic power, you must worship Erythnul and either sacrifice a 5th-level divine spell slot or have the True Believer feat and at least 9 HD.

Lore: Legend holds that a high priest of Erythnul created the original three executioner’s hoods and distributed them to followers in large cities, who wore them to terrify the local citizens (Knowledge (religion) DC 20).

One executioner’s hood was worn by a ruler named Xeric IV, who publicly executed every member of his own extended family two centuries ago. Since then, the three hoods have been scattered across the globe by tides of war and conquest (Knowledge [religion] DC 20).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, Sanctify Relic, bear’s endurance.

Cost to Create: 6,000 gp, 240 XP, 6 days.

EYES OF EXPANDED VISION

Price (Item Level): 3,200 gp (8th)
Body Slot: Face
Caster Level: 3rd
Aura: Faint; (DC 16) divination
Activation: —
Weight: —

These two ovals of murky glass are rimmed with brass and linked by a brass arch. When resting on the bridge of a wearer’s nose, the glass magically clears.

These lenses expand your field of vision. Flanking opponents gain only a +1 bonus when attacking you instead of +2 (attack benefits that are conditional on flanking, such as a rogue’s sneak attack damage, still apply because you remain flanked). You gain a +2 competence bonus on Spot checks but take a −2 penalty on saves against gaze attacks. These are continuous effects and require no activation.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, true seeing or ubiquitous vision (EPH 139).

Cost to Create: 1,600 gp, 128 XP, 4 days.

EYES OF POWER LEECH

Price (Item Level): 10,000 gp (12th)
Body Slot: Face
Caster Level: 7th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) enchantment
Activation: Standard (command)
Weight: —

Bluish energy plays about these silver-tinted lenses. Silver wires extend back to wrap around the ears.

Once per day, you can drain power points from another psionic creature by meeting its gaze. A selected target within 40 feet must succeed on a DC 16 Will save, or a connection of crackling energy is formed between the wearer and the victim. The connection drains 1d6 power points from the target for every round that the wearer concentrates (to a maximum of 7 rounds). Concentrating to drain power points is a full-round action. Each round, you gain 1 power point from those drained from the target (subject to your normal maximum). Points you cannot gain are lost immediately.

Eyes of power leech have no effect on non-psionic targets or psionic creatures with a current power point reserve of 0.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, vampiric touch or power leech (EPH 124).

Cost to Create: 5,000 gp, 400 XP, 10 days.

EYES OF POWER LEECH, VAMPIRIC

Price (Item Level): 20,000 gp (15th)
Body Slot: Face
Caster Level: 15th
Aura: Strong; (DC 22) enchantment
Activation: Standard (command)
Weight: —

Cold wire rims these dark lenses and extends back to wrap around the ears. Blue sparks of energy dance about them.

As eyes of power leech, except that you gain power points from the subject even if doing so would bring you over your normal maximum. Furthermore, you can maintain concentration for up to 13 rounds. Power points you gain in excess of your maximum fade after 8 hours if they are not spent before that time.

In addition, the gauntlet has 5 charges, which are renewed each day at dawn. Spending 1 or more charges creates a more potent dagger than normal, as described below.

1 charge: +3 dagger.
3 charges: +3 dagger of seeking.
5 charges: +3 bane dagger of seeking (choose the creature type and subtype, if needed, when activating the gauntlet).

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, Craft Wondrous Item, greater magic weapon, major creation, summon monster I, true seeing.

These leather gauntlets have small polished steel disks set in their palms.

Gauntlets of arrow reflection allow you to redirect a deflected thrown or projectile weapon back at your attacker. When you use the Deflect Arrows feat (PH 93) to deflect a ranged weapon attack, you can activate the gauntlets to cause the weapon to fly back at the character who made the attack. Use the attacker's original attack roll to determine the attack's success, and roll damage as normal as if your attacker had successfully hit with the weapon.

This ability functions three times per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, protection from arrows.

Cost to Create: 1,000 gp, 80 XP, 2 days.

This ability functions three times per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, burning hands.

Cost to Create: 3,150 gp, 252 XP, 7 days.

GAUNTLETS OF THE BLOOD-LORD [RELIC]

Price (Item Level): 5,120 gp (10th)

Body Slot: Hands

Caster Level: 20th

Aura: Strong; (DC 25) necromancy

Activation: —

Weight: 2 lb.

These heavy spiked gauntlets are made from overlapping metal plates. Blood drips slowly from the junctures, coating the surface of the gauntlets with a thick, red ooze.

Said to harbor the blood of a thousand victims, each pair of these gauntlets has a long and grisly history. They function as +1 spiked gauntlets if you are lawful evil, lawful neutral, or neutral evil.

Relic Power: If you have established the proper divine connection, gauntlets of the blood-lord grant you a +2 luck bonus on melee touch attacks while you wear them.

To use the relic power, you must worship Hextor and either sacrifice a 4th-level divine spell slot or have the True Believer feat and at least 7 HD. If you sacrifice a 6th-level divine spell or have the True Believer feat and at least 11 Hit Dice, every 3rd-level or lower melee touch spell that you cast is automatically empowered as by the Empower Spell feat (although such a spell doesn’t use a higher-level spell slot and the casting time of the spell isn’t increased).

Lore: The first pair of these gauntlets was worn by a priest of Hextor who mercilessly slew entire villages to make way for the Blood-Lord’s approaching army (Knowledge [religion] DC 15).

Upon the priest’s death, Hextor reclaimed the gauntlets. Since then, he has given a pair to a favored follower at least once every century (Knowledge [religion] DC 20).

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, Maximize Spell, Sanctify Relic, inflict serious wounds.

Cost to Create: 2,250 gp (plus 620 gp for pair of masterwork spiked gauntlets), 180 XP, 5 days.

GAUNTLETS OF ELDRITCH ENERGY

Price (Item Level): 5,000 gp (9th)
Body Slot: Hands
Caster Level: 10th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) transmutation damage (the type of energy depends on the type of gauntlets) instead of its normal damage type. You can’t apply the gauntlets’ effect to any blast already affected by an eldritch essence invocation.

Four varieties of these gauntlets exist. Each applies a different type of energy damage to your eldritch blast: gauntlets of eldritch frost (cold), gauntlets of eldritch lightning (electricity), gauntlets of eldritch fire (fire), and gauntlets of eldritch thunder (sonic).

This ability can be used three times per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, eldritch blast.
Cost to Create: 2,500 gp, 200 XP, 5 days.

GAUNTLETS OF ENERGY TRANSFORMATION

Price (Item Level): 1,000 gp (4th)
Body Slot: Hands
Caster Level: 3rd
Aura: Faint; (DC 16) evocation
Activation: Swift (command)
Weight: —

This pair of leather gloves is imprinted with arcane sigils representing different types of energy.

Gauntlets of energy transformation allow you to temporarily change the type of energy produced by any weapon you hold. When you activate the gauntlets, you change one type of energy damage produced by a melee weapon you hold into another type of energy damage (acid, cold, electricity, or fire) for 1 round. Transformed energy does the same amount of damage, but a +1 flaming longsword could be changed to deal acid, cold, or electricity damage instead of fire.

If a weapon produces more than one type of energy, each activation affects only one type of energy produced. For example, if you wield a +1 flaming shock longsword, you could activate the gauntlets to change the fire damage to acid, cold, or electricity damage, and you could activate the gauntlets a second time to change the electricity damage dealt by the shock property to acid, cold, or fire. If your weapon doesn’t deal energy damage, these gauntlets have no effect.

This ability functions three times per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, acid splash, burning hands, ray of frost, shocking grasp.

Cost to Create: 500 gp, 40 XP, 1 day.

Activation: —

Weight: 1/2 lb.

These tan leather gloves are bound in brass.

Three times per day, you can make a melee touch attack with these gauntlets. If your attack is successful, the target is subjected to the effect of a slow spell for 5 rounds (Will DC 14 negates).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, slow.

Cost to Create: 2,500 gp, 200 XP, 5 days.

GAUNTLETS OF GIANTFELLING

Aura: Faint; (DC 16) transmutation

Activation: Swift (command)

Weight: —

These leather gloves are cracked and worn, but still quite durable.

GAUNTLETS OF LASSITUDE

Price (Item Level): 5,000 gp (9th)

Body Slot: Hands

Caster Level: 5th

Aura: Faint; (DC 17) transmutation

Activation: —

Weight: 2 lb.

These gauntlets appear pitted and decayed, although closer inspection reveals them to be sound. Each is set with small amber crystals that rest on the tops of the knuckles.

Once per day, gauntlets of mindfire can be activated to project a 15-foot cone-shaped burst of mental sickness. A successful DC 14 Fortitude save negates the effect. Any creature that fails its saving throw contracts a virulent form of mindfire. A victim can be infected only once; subsequent uses of this item on an infected target produce no further effect.

Mindfire has no incubation period—a victim immediately takes 1d4 points of Intelligence damage. Each day thereafter, a victim must succeed on a DC 14 Fortitude save or take another 1d4 points of Intelligence damage. If a victim succeeds on its Fortitude save two days in a row, it fights off the disease and takes no more damage.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, mind poison (SC 141) or mindfire (CP 93).

Cost to Create: 5,500 gp, 440 XP, 11 days.

GAUNTLETS OF MINDFIRE

Price (Item Level): 11,000 gp (13th)

Body Slot: Hands

Caster Level: 5th

Aura: Faint; (DC 17) transmutation

Activation: Standard (command)

Weight: 1/2 lb.

These elegant gauntlets are made of a silvery metal and have a scaly surface. Each finger is tipped with a long talon made of sapphire.

Provided that you are lawful good, lawful neutral, or neutral good, gauntlets of the talon grant you two primary natural claw attacks that count as magic weapons for the purpose of overcoming damage reduction. Each claw deals 1d6 points of slashing damage (if you are Medium).

Relic Power: If you have established the proper divine connection and already have levels in the monk class, you are treated as if you were a monk of five levels higher than you actually are for the purposes of AC, unarmed damage, and the ki strike ability. This benefit doesn't stack with similar benefits (such as from a monk's belt). Also, you can treat your unarmed damage as either bludgeoning or slashing damage (chosen each time you attack).

To use the relic power, you must worship Bahamut and either sacrifice a 3rd-level divine spell slot or have the TRUE BELIEVER feat and at least 5 HD. If you sacrifice a 5th-level divine spell slot or have the True Believer feat and at least 9 HD, the gauntlets also function as ghost touch weapons for the purpose of attacking incorporeal creatures. In addition, you gain a +4 bonus on grapple checks.

Lore: It is said that this silvery set of gauntlets was fashioned by Bahamut himself, then given to the master of a now-defunct order of monks (Knowledge [religion] DC 15).

Members of the order’s inner circle eventually discovered the secret of their manufacture, but they managed to make only a few additional sets before their order was destroyed by followers of Tiamat (Knowledge [religion] DC 20).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, Sanctify Relic, righteous might.

Cost to Create: 2,000 gp, 160 XP, 4 days.

Relic Power: If you have established the proper divine connection, you also have blindsense out to 30 feet while wearing the gem. In addition, you know instinctively where the walls, ceiling, and floor are in any cavern you’re in, no matter how large or what the illumination.

To use the relic power, you must worship Garl Glittergold and either sacrifice a 5th-level divine spell slot or have the True Believer feat and at least 9 HD.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, Sanctify Relic, owl’s wisdom.

Cost to Create: 2,250 gp, 180 XP, 5 days.

When you activate these gloves, you deal an extra 1d6 points of damage with ranged weapons and light weapons (as well as nonlight weapons that can be used with Weapon Finesse, such as a rapier). Gloves of flame provide you with the protection of an endure elements spell against cold temperatures and resistance to cold 5. These are continuous effects and require no activation.

In addition, five times per day you can utter the word “burn” in Ignan to generate flame in the palm of one hand. This flame is as bright as a torch and persists for up to 10 minutes or until you utter either of two other command words, each of which creates a particular effect and then extinguishes the flame.

“Sorch”: Creates a 15-foot cone-shaped burst of fire that deals 5d4 points of fire damage (Reflex DC 11 half).

“Stinge”: Make a melee touch attack that deals 1d6+5 points of fire damage.

GLOVES OF INCARNUM THEFT

Price (Item Level): 8,000 gp (11th)
Body Slot: Hands
Caster Level: 7th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) necromancy
Activation: Standard (mental)
Weight: 1 lb.

These fine leather gloves are dyed midnight blue. A single ruby is set into the back of each.

While wearing gloves of incarnum theft, if you make a successful unarmed melee touch attack (as part of the activation) against a target with essentia, you gain 1 point of essentia and the target loses 1 point from its essentia pool (Will DC 15 negates). If the target has no essentia pool, the attack has no effect.

The stolen essentia can immediately be invested in any soulmeld, incarnum feat, or other essentia receptacle of yours with no action required, even if essentia investment wouldn’t normally be allowed at this time. If you have no means of using essentia, you gain no benefit, but the target still loses the point. The stolen essentia remains in your essentia pool for 12 minutes, then returns to the original possessor.

Chakra Bind (Hands): If you bind gloves of incarnum theft to your hands chakra, you instead steal 2 points of essentia with a successful touch attack, and the save DC to resist its effect increases by 2. See Binding Items to Chakras (MoI 108) for more information.

Lore: The first gloves of incarnum theft were created by an arcane trickster named Hexandros who dabbled in incarnum use (Knowledge [the planes] DC 15).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, rend essentia (MoI 104).

Body Slot: Hands
Caster Level: 3rd
Aura: Faint; (DC 16) divination
Activation: —
Weight: —

The palms and fingertips of these white lace gloves are threaded with platinum.

While wearing these gloves and handling an inanimate object, you can learn details about that object’s previous owner through the psychic impressions it has accumulated. The amount of information revealed depends on how long you study the object.

1st minute: Last owner’s race.
2nd minute: Last owner’s gender.
3rd minute: Last owner’s age.
4th minute: Last owner’s alignment.
5th minute: How last owner gained and lost the object.
6th+ minute: Next-to-last owner’s race, and so on.

Gloves of object reading will not identify casual users as owners. (Anyone who uses an object to attack someone or something is not thereafter considered a casual user.)

An object without any previous owners, or without any owners in the past ten years, reveals no information. If you employ these gloves additional times on the same object, the information yielded is the same as the first time.

Goodberry Bracelet

Price (Item Level): 2,000 gp (6th)
Body Slot: Arms
Caster Level: 3rd
Aura: Faint; (DC 16) transmutation
Activation: Standard (manipulation)
Weight: —

Hanging from this simple silver bracelet are a number of charms that look like berries.

A goodberry bracelet provides basic nourishment and minor healing to its wearer and her allies. Each day at dawn, as long as it is worn, this bracelet creates five silver, berry-shaped charms. When plucked from the bracelet, a charm becomes an edible berry with magical properties equivalent to those created by a goodberry spell, except that no character can benefit from more than one berry per day. Regardless of whether the charm is eaten, removed but uneaten, or still on the bracelet, all charms and berries created by the bracelet disappear 24 hours after they are created.

If you also wear a magic item that grants a bonus to your Wisdom score, you can add half the bonus granted by that item to the healing provided by each berry. For example, a character wearing this bracelet and a periapt of Wisdom +4 would create berries that heal 3 points of damage (instead of just 1 point).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, goodberry.

Cost to Create: 1,000 gp, 80 XP, 2 days.

A heartseeking amulet functions three times per day.

Lore: Many sunsets ago in the swamps of the lizardfolk, the Lizard King battled the Lava Children. Though he pierced them repeatedly with his trident, they were immune to the metal of his weapon; it passed through them as if they did not exist. Eventually, he drowned the Lava Children’s champions in brackish pools and drove their menace back into the magma bowels below the Geyser Fens (Knowledge [history] DC 15).

Eventually, he was able to imbue his own trident not just with the ability to ignore metal but also to pass nearly all physical defenses. Today that secret has been replicated in the tiny amulets that resemble his mighty weapon (Knowledge [history] DC 20).

While worn, an incarnum focus adds 1 to the essentia capacity of any soulmeld occupying or bound to the chakra it matches (up to a maximum capacity equal to your Constitution bonus). See Magic of Incarnum for information on essentia, soulmelds, and chakras.

Wearing an incarnum focus does not prevent you from binding a soulmeld to the corresponding chakra. This is a specific exception to the normal rule against binding a soulmeld to the same chakra as a worn magic item.

Ten different kinds of incarnum focus exist, one for each chakra (see the table)

Chakra Bind (Any): While an incarnum focus is bound to its chakra, any soulmeld occupying or bound to the same chakra can’t be unshaped except by you, nor can any essentia invested in it be lost or drained, except as part of the normal reallocation process.

You can bind an incarnum focus to its matching chakra even if it is already occupied by a shaped or bound soulmeld. See Binding Items to Chakras (MoI 108) for more information.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, Split Chakra (MoI 41), essentia pool.

Cost to Create: 7,500 gp, 600 XP, 15 days.

Weight: 1 lb.

The harsh suns carved into these heavy steel bracers resemble grim versions of the normally forgiving visage of Pelor, god of the sun.

Inquisitor bracers provide a potent method for sorting out normal townspersons from conniving vampires or similarly stealthy undead. After you activate these bracers, the next melee attack you make before the end of your turn includes a cure moderate wounds effect (in addition to the normal damage dealt by the attack). Ideally, this effect damages its undead target and reveals its evil nature, but in cases of mistaken identity, at least the healing helps counteract the damage dealt to a living (and possibly innocent) target.

You can’t use these bracers as part of a touch attack—only as part of a normal melee attack. This ability functions three times per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, cure moderate wounds.

Cost to Create: 750 gp, 60 XP, 2 days.

KI STRAPS

Price (Item Level): 5,000 gp (9th)

Body Slot: Hands

Caster Level: 7th

Cost to Create: 2,500 gp, 200 XP, 5 days.

LENSES OF BRIGHT VISION

Price (Item Level): 600 gp (3rd)

Body Slot: Face

Caster Level: 3rd

Aura: Faint; (DC 16) evocation

Activation: Swift (command)

Weight: —

These thin, yellow quartz lenses are the size of two coins.

Lenses of bright vision allow you to project light from your eyes. When placed over your eyes (a standard action), these lenses meld into your face, and the irises of your eyes take on a faint yellow hue.

When you activate the lenses, they create a 15-foot cone of bright light emanating from your eyes. Unlike normal light sources, the lenses produce no shadowy illumination. The illumination lasts for 10 minutes or until you expend another swift action to do so. Treat this effect as a 0-level spell for the purpose of interacting with darkness effects.

This ability functions three times per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, light.

Cost to Create: 300 gp, 24 XP, 1 day.

LENSES OF TRUE FORM

Price (Item Level): 10,000 gp (12th)

Body Slot: Face

Caster Level: 13th

Aura: Strong; (DC 21) divination

Activation: — and standard (command)

Weight: —

These lenses are small, clear, crystalline constructions set into a golden frame.

When you place these lenses over your eyes, they become all but invisible (Spot DC 30 to notice). While wearing the lenses, you gain a +10 circumstance bonus on Spot checks to see through a disguise. This is a continuous effect and requires no activation.

In addition, once per day you can activate the lenses to force a single shape-shifted creature within 30 feet to resume its natural form. The target creature can attempt a DC 14 Will save to resist. Failure means it immediately assumes its natural form, shape, and size, and it cannot assume a different shape for the next 24 hours.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, true seeing, dispel magic or greater dispel magic.

Cost to Create: 5,000 gp, 400 XP, 10 days.

3 charges: 4d6 points of electricity damage.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, shocking grasp.

Body Slot: Head
Caster Level: 11th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) divination
Activation: — and full-round (mental)
Weight: —

This oval purple gem is flat on one side. Images of strange runes seem to materialize and dissipate within it.

A lore gem affixes to your forehead and can be easily removed (requiring a standard action either way). While it is worn, you can better focus your mind and memory, gaining a +2 competence bonus on Knowledge checks, though you must spend a full round in contemplation to gain this bonus. This is a continuous effect and requires no activation.

Additionally, a lore gem acts as a spellbook, allowing a wizard (or any other spellcaster who requires a spellbook) to record spells into and prepare spells directly from the lore gem. The gem holds up to thirty spells of any levels, and recording a new spell into a lore gem requires the normal amount of time and expense. You can also erase an existing spell as a standard action. A newly created lore gem is empty of spells, but a lore gem recovered as treasure might have spells recorded within, at the DM’s option. If so, the value of the item should increase as if it were a spellbook.

Aura:

If you are a marshal (MH 11), a rearguard’s cape provides you with a potent ability whenever you and your allies are outnumbered. If the number of visible, active enemies within 60 feet of you exceeds the number of your visible, active allies (including yourself) within 60 feet, you can activate this cape. While it is active, the bonus granted by your minor and major auras improves by 2. This benefit lasts for 10 rounds or until you and your allies are no longer outnumbered. REPELLING GAUNTLETS
Price (Item Level): 2,300 gp (6th)
Body Slot: Hands
Caster Level: 9th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) conjuration
Activation: Immediate (command)
Weight: —

Dark birds of prey, four small chains, and a black-and-yellow checkered field adorn these leather gloves.

Inspired by the spells of the legendary wizard Bigby, these gloves help keep enemies at a safe distance. You can activate repelling gauntlets only when a visible enemy moves into a square adjacent to you. That enemy must attempt a DC 17 Reflex save; if this fails, it is immediately pushed 5 feet away from you and it loses any remaining movement allowed in that action (though it can use additional actions to move farther).

For example, if a wolf (speed 50 feet) moved 30 feet into a square adjacent to you, and it failed its save against the effect, you would push it 5 feet away from you in any direction and it would lose the remaining 20 feet of that move action. It could then use another move action, if it still had one, to close the remaining distance. If the wolf were charging, its entire full-round action would be wasted.

This ability functions once per day.
Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, Bigby’s interposing hand.
Cost to Create: 1,150 gp, 92 XP, 3 days.

RETRIBUTIVE AMULET
Price (Item Level): 9,000 gp (12th)
Body Slot: Throat
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) abjuration
Activation: Immediate (command)
Weight: 1/2 lb.

This inch-wide disk bears a large red crystal in its center. Tiny carvings around the crystal show an endless march of angels and demons at war.

You can activate a retributive amulet immediately after another creature has dealt damage to you with a melee attack. That creature takes damage equal to half the damage it dealt to you. This damage is of the same type (or types).

This ability functions three times per day.
Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, shield other.
Cost to Create: 4,600 gp, 360 XP, 9 days.

RIDING BOOTS

Body Slot: Feet
Caster Level: 10th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) transmutation
Activation: —
Weight: 2 lb.

These calf-high boots are made of smooth, supple leather and have pointed toes. They are unadorned except for a pair of shining, silver spurs that seem to leave a tracery of light behind them.

Riding boots react to your mount and correct it when necessary, almost without your guidance. While mounted, you gain a +5 competence bonus on Ride checks made during combat, plus the benefit of the Ride-By Attack feat, even if you lack the prerequisites for it. In addition, if you have the Spirited Charge feat, any charge attacks you make while mounted and wielding a lance deal ×4 damage on a critical hit (instead of the normal ×3).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, Ride-By Attack, cat’s grace.
Cost to Create: 6,000 gp, 480 XP, 12 days.

RING OF BRIEF BLESSING
Price (Item Level): 1,000 gp (4th)
Body Slot: Ring
Caster Level: 3rd
Aura: Faint; (DC 16) transmutation
Activation: Swift (command); see text
Weight: —

The clear crystal set into this silver ring glows faintly with a holy light.

A ring of brief blessing, which functions only if you are good-aligned, allows your attacks to pierce the defenses of evil foes. When you activate this ring, choose a single melee weapon you hold (or your unarmed strike). Until the end of your turn, that weapon is considered both magic and good-aligned for the purpose of overcoming the damage reduction of an evil creature, as well as for the purpose of affecting incorporeal evil creatures.

A ring of brief blessing functions once per day. Once it is activated, its glow fades. However, while wearing the ring you can expend a turn undead attempt as a standard (command) action to recharge it (which also restores its glow).
Prerequisites: Forge Ring, bless weapon.
Cost to Create: 500 gp, 40 XP, 1 day.

RING OF COMMUNICATION
Price (Item Level): 2,000 gp (6th)
Body Slot: Ring
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) divination
Activation: Free (mental)
Weight: —

Each of these identical silver rings is inscribed with the Draconic word for friendship.

When you activate a ring of communication, for the next minute you can clearly hear any words spoken by anyone within 1 mile who is wearing another ring of communication to which you are attuned. The volume of the speech and the background noise at either end make no difference; whis- pers are audible above even the sounds of combat.

Any two or more ring wearers need only touch their rings together (a standard action) and speak the command word in unison to attune the rings to each other. Any number of rings can become attuned to one another in this manner, so long as all are touched together at the same time.

A ring remains attuned to the others until you attune it to a different ring.
Prerequisites: Forge Ring, detect thoughts.
Cost to Create: 1,000 gp, 80 XP, 2 days.

RING OF DRAGON FRIENDSHIP
Price (Item Level): 16,000 gp (14th)
Body Slot: Ring
Caster Level: 17th
Aura: Strong; (DC 23) enchantment
Activation: — or standard (command)
Weight: Varies

This silver ring is forged in the shape of a dragon biting its own tail.

While wearing a ring of dragon friendship, you gain a +5 enhancement bonus on Diplomacy checks made to influence the attitudes of creatures of the dragon type.

In addition, once per day, you can activate the ring to produce a suggestion effect directed at a creature of the dragon type. The effect functions as a 9th-level spell (as if affected by the Heighten Spell feat), and its Will save DC is 23.

If you or one of your allies attacks a dragon in any way (including using the ring’s suggestion power) while you wear the ring, it loses its powers for 24 hours, though any active suggestion effect continues working while the ring is inactive.

More than a dozen etchings of closed eyes circle this tarnished silver ring.

You are invisible to darkvision, although you are fully visible in normal light.
Prerequisites: Forge Ring, invisibility.
Cost to Create: 1,000 gp, 80 XP, 2 days.

RING OF DIVERGENCE

Body Slot: Ring
Caster Level: 13th
Aura: Strong; (DC 21) abjuration
Activation: — and immediate (mental)
Weight: —

This hefty ring of twisting metal splits several times and turns back upon itself.

A ring of divergence provides resistance 10 against a specific type of energy (acid, cold, electricity, fire, or sonic), determined when it is created.

Once per day, if you are targeted by a spell of 3rd level or lower with the same descriptor as the energy type the ring protects against, you can activate the ring as an immediate action to reflect the spell back at the caster, as if spell turning had been cast upon you.
Prerequisites: Forge Ring, resist energy, spell turning.
Cost to Create: 1,500 gp, 120 XP, 18 days.

CLOTHING

RNG OF ENTRPC DEFLECTION

Prerequisites: Forge Ring, Heighten Spell, dominate monster, suggestion.
Cost to Create: 8,000 gp, 640 XP, 16 days.

Price (Item Level): 8,000 gp (11th)
Body Slot: Ring
Caster Level: 3rd
Aura: Faint; (DC 16) abjuration
Activation: —; see text
Weight: —

This platinum ring is set with a large, hypnotic white opal.

A ring of entropic deflection provides a mobile wearer with protection against ranged attacks. At the end of any turn, if you are at least 10 feet from the point where you started your turn, this ring creates a field of warping energy that lasts until the start of your next turn. This field functions as an entropic shield spell. Any ranged attacks directed at you that require an attack roll have a 20% miss chance.

At any time within the next 24 hours, you can use this entropic shield effect as if it were part of your own entropic shield spell—even if you don't have entropic shield effect of your own—simply by willing its release while you wear the ring.

The stored entropia returns to its original owner automatically after you use it, or after 24 hours if it remains unused. Alternatively, the donor of the stored entropia can reclaim it earlier by touching the ring and willing it to return (a standard action).

Prerequisites: Forge Ring, entropic shield.
Cost to Create: 4,000 gp, 320 XP, 8 days.

RING OF ESSENTIA

Price (Item Level): 6,000 gp (10th)
Body Slot: Ring
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) necromancy
Activation: —
Weight: —

This plain silver band is set with a small sapphire, which shimmers faintly when invested with essentia.

Any creature that has an essentia pool can transfer 1 point of essentia from its pool into a ring of essentia simply by touching it and willing the transfer to occur (a standard action). Doing so reduces the size of the donor's essentia pool by 1. The ring can hold no more than 1 point of essentia.

At any time within the next 24 hours, you can use this essentia as if it were part of your own essentia—though even if you don't have essentia of your own—simply by willing its release while you wear the ring.

The stored essentia returns to its original owner automatically after you use it, or after 24 hours if it remains unused. Alternatively, the donor of the stored essentia can reclaim it earlier by touching the ring and willing it to return (a standard action).

Prerequisites: Forge Ring, essentia pool, soul boon (Mol 104).
Cost to Create: 3,000 gp, 240 XP, 6 days.

CLOTHING

Wall of Force

Dawn. Spending 1 or more charges creates a 10-foot-square vertical wall of force (as the spell) up to 30 feet away from you. The number of charges spent determines the duration of the wall.

- 1 charge: 2 rounds.
- 2 charges: 3 rounds.
- 3 charges: 4 rounds.

Prerequisites: Forge Ring, Wall of Force.

Cost to Create: 2,550 gp, 204 XP, 6 days.

RING OF FOUR WINDS

Price (Item Level): 2,000 gp (6th)

Body Slot: Ring

Caster Level: 3rd

Aura: Faint; (DC 16) evocation

Activation: Immediate (command)

Weight: —

Four clouds, each a different shade of green or blue, adorn this simple wooden ring. The faces of four old men puffing up their cheeks are also carved into the sides.

When you activate a ring of the four winds, it creates gusts of wind that grant you a +2 deflection bonus to AC against a single attack.

Alternatively, you can activate it to use a feather fall effect on yourself.

This ring functions a total of four times per day.

Prerequisites: Forge Ring, feather fall, gust of wind, shield of faith.

Cost to Create: 1,000 gp, 80 XP, 2 days.

---

RING OF GREATER COUNTERSPELLS

Price (Item Level): 16,000 gp (14th)

Body Slot: Ring

Caster Level: 15th

Aura: Strong; (DC 22) abjuration

Activation: — and immediate (command)

Weight: —

A ring of greater counterspells can hold a spell of 1st through 6th level, much like a ring of counterspells. You cannot cast a stored spell out of the ring, but should that spell ever be cast upon you, it is immediately countered, as a counterspell action, requiring no action (or even knowledge) on your part. This use causes the ruby stone to flash once and uses up the stored spell. Once it is gone, a new spell (or the same one as before) can be placed into the ring.

If you are a spellcaster capable of countering a spell on your own, you can also access the ring’s secondary ability. Once per day as an immediate action, you can attempt to counter a single spell cast by a spellcaster you can see, provided he is within 100 feet. Like the ring’s other ability, this one requires no preparation or knowledge on your part. You need not make a Spellcraft check to identify the spell being cast, and the spell you use to counterspell can be of any level. This counterspell attempt functions like greater dispel magic used to counter a spell, except that you add your caster level to the counterspell check (maximum +20). Thus, a 12th-level wizard wearing a ring of greater counterspells would roll 1d20+12 when activating this ability. When you activate this secondary effect, the braids of white gold seem to twist and writhe on your finger, and the metal glows faintly as if it were growing hot, although you feel no heat.

Prerequisites: Forge Ring, greater dispel magic, imbue with spell ability.

Cost to Create: 8,000 gp, 640 XP, 16 days.

---

RING OF THE ICY SOUL

Price (Item Level): 18,000 gp (14th)

Body Slot: Ring

Caster Level: 9th

Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) transmutation

Activation: —

Weight: —

There seems to be little physical substance to this ring. It resembles a fine, circular sliver of fragile ice surrounded by a blue-white mist of incredible cold.

You gain resistance to cold 20, but you also gain vulnerability to fire and lose any resistance or immunity to fire you already have. You take 1-1/2 times the normal amount of damage from fire, regardless of whether a saving throw is allowed, or if the save is a success or a failure.

Prerequisites: Forge Ring, mantle of the icy soul (SC 138).

Cost to Create: 9,000 gp, 720 XP, 18 days.
RING OF LIGHTNING FLASHES

Price (Item Level): 11,500 gp (13th)
Body Slot: Ring
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) evocation
Activation: Swift (mental)
Weight: —

This ring is crafted from interwoven bands of copper and electrum.

When you activate a ring of lightning flashes, it emits a powerful blast of lightning that deals 5d6 points of electricity damage (Reflex DC 13 half) to all creatures within 5 feet (other than yourself). Any creature that is in physical contact with you at the time (grappling, engulfing, swallowing, or the like) receives no saving throw against the blast.

This ability functions three times per day.

Prerequisites: Forge Ring, lightning bolt.

Cost to Create: 5,750 gp, 460 XP, 12 days.

RING OF MASTER ARTIFICE

Price (Item Level): 25,000 (15th)
Body Slot: Ring
Caster Level: 14th
Aura: Strong; (DC 22) no school
Activation: —; see text
Weight: —

These thin, interlocking rings are made of different metals, including silver, adamantine, mithral, and platinum.

A ring of master artifice functions only if you can imbue infusions (see the Eberron Campaign Setting). Assembling the ring from its various components requires 5 minutes and a successful DC 22 Intelligence check, which you can attempt any number of times. Once assembled, a ring of master artifice must be worn for 24 hours for its magic to take effect. After that time, you gain the ring’s benefit every time you concentrate to regain your daily allotment of infusions.

The ring increases the number of infusions you can imbue daily. A ring of master artifice provides one bonus 3rd-level infusion and one bonus 4th-level infusion.

Prerequisites: Forge Ring.

Cost to Create: 12,500 gp, 1,000 XP, 25 days.

Caster Level: 16th
Aura: Strong; (DC 23) no school
Activation: —

Several interlocking rings of many different metals—including adamantine, gold, and mithral—seem to thrum faintly with power.

This item functions as a ring of master artifice, except a greater ring provides you with one bonus 5th-level infusion and one bonus 6th-level infusion (instead of one bonus 3rd-level infusion and one bonus 4th-level infusion).

Prerequisites: Forge Ring.

Cost to Create: 30,500 gp, 2,440 XP, 61 days.

RING OF MYSTIC FIRE

In addition, this ring has 3 charges, which are renewed each day at dawn. Spending 1 or more charges grants a bonus to the amount of damage you deal with the next fire spell you cast before the end of your turn. (If the fire spell doesn’t normally deal fire damage, this expenditure has no effect).

1 charge: +2d6 fire damage.
2 charges: +3d6 fire damage.

A ring of nine lives has 9 charges when created, but most are discovered with only 2d4 charges left.

If you don’t cast a touch spell that deals hit point damage before the end of your turn, you gain no benefit from the ring.

This ability functions three times per day.

Body Slot: Ring
Caster Level: 6th

This sturdy band of mithral is set with tiny sculpted teeth.

While wearing a ring of soulbound protection, you gain a +1 deflection bonus to AC. In addition, the ring serves as a receptacle for your essentia, much like a soulmeld does. Every point of essentia invested in the ring increases its deflection bonus to AC by 1 (up to a maximum bonus of +3).

Each ring of soulbound protection has an essentia capacity. The maximum number of essentia points that can be invested in it equals this value or your normal essentia capacity (MoI 19), whichever is lower.

A ring of soulbound protection (set with two sapphires) has a maximum essentia capacity of 2.

Aura: Strong; (DC 22) abjuration
Activation: — and immediate (mental)
Weight: —

This simple gold band looks like a tiny armored girdle set with small spheres of silver.

A ring of spell-battle informs you of all spell-casting that occurs within 60 feet of you, as well as allowing you to attempt a Spellcraft check (DC 15 + spell level) to identify the spell being cast (even if you can’t see its casting or effect). This is a continuous effect and requires no activation.

Once per day, when you succeed in identifying a spell in this manner, you can activate the ring to counterspell that spell as if with dispel magic, or change the target of the spell to any target within 60 feet of you. If you choose an illegal target (because of the spell’s range limitation or other restrictions), the spell functions normally and the effect is wasted.
Prerequisites: Forge Ring, detect magic, dispel magic, spell turning, Spellcraft 10 ranks.
Cost to Create: 6,000 gp, 480 XP, 12 days.

The sheath is harmful to the touch, dealing 1d4+4 points of force damage to any creature that successfully strikes you with a non-reach weapon. Cost to Create: 15,000 gp, 1,200 XP, 30 days.

ROBE OF ARCANE MIGHT
Price (Item Level): 21,000 gp (15th)
Body Slot: Body
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) abjuration
Activation: —
Weight: 1 lb.

Mystical sigils line the hems of this bulky, thick-shouldered robe. Minuscule gems adorn the cuffs, collar, and hems.

A robe of arcane might grants you a +4 armor bonus to AC.

In addition, each robe is attuned to one of the eight schools of magic, chosen during creation (and identifiable with a successful DC 20 Spellcraft check). When casting a spell from that school, you gain a +1 competence bonus to your caster level.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, mage armor, specialist wizard in the relevant school.
Cost to Create: 10,500 gp, 840 XP, 21 days.

ROBE OF THE INFERNO
Price (Item Level): 37,000 gp (17th)
Body Slot: Body
Caster Level: 10th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) abjuration, evocation
Activation: See text
Weight: 1 lb.

The coal-colored cloth of this robe is decorated with crimson-stitched runes. The runes run around the bottom and up the length of the garment in meandering lines, and are a mixture of arcane formulas and praises to fire written in Ignan. The robe emits a faint odor of brimstone, and a gentle warmth surrounds it.

While you wear this robe, it provides you with a +4 armor bonus to AC. This is a continuous effect and requires no activation.

The robe can also be activated as a swift (command) action by speaking a word in Ignan that causes four fiery orbs, each about 6 inches in diameter, to spring from the sleeves. They circle slowly around your body at waist height as long as the robe remains active, but don’t interfere with your actions in any way. As long as they are active, they collectively provide light equal to that of a torch and grant you resistance to fire 10.

Two times per day, you can send one of the fiery orbs streaking toward a single enemy within 60 feet as a ranged touch attack, which is a standard (command) action. Failure means the orb misses and explodes harmlessly in a shower of sparks. Success means it explodes in a 5-foot-radius burst around the target, dealing 8d6 points of fire damage and leaving affected creatures dazzled for 1 round (Reflex DC 16 halves the damage and negates the dazzled condition).

Lore: The first robe of the inferno was crafted by an elf evoker named Killaith Markaun, who was badly burned in a battle against a large number of summoned thoqqua. Deeply humiliated by the scars... they left, she constructed the robe so that she, too, could harness the power of fire (Knowledge [arcana or history] DC 20).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, mage armor, resist energy, scorching ray.

Cost to Create: 18,500 gp, 1,480 XP, 37 days.

SCARAB OF INVULNERABILITY

Price (Item Level): 40,000 gp (17th)
Body Slot: Throat
Caster Level: 15th
Aura: Strong; (DC 22) transmutation
Activation: Swift (command)
Weight: —

This broad adamantine necklace bears a scarab of the same metal, polished to a mirrorlike sheen.

A scarab of invulnerability provides you with brief but complete protection from all forms of damage. For 1 round after activating the scarab, you are immune to all forms of damage (including ability damage), whether from weapons, spells, psionic powers, poison, environmental effects, or any other cause. The scarab doesn’t protect you from harmful effects that don’t deal damage.

A scarab of invulnerability functions once per day. You must wear a scarab of invulnerability for 24 hours before you can access its abilities. If it is taken off, it becomes inactive until worn for an additional 24 hours.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, iron body.

SCARAB OF STABILIZATION

Price (Item Level): 20,000 gp (15th)
Body Slot: Throat
Caster Level: 11th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) evocation
Activation: —
Weight: —

This solid gold scarab has obsidian chips for eyes. Glyphs of protection and health are carved into its carapace. A button at the base of its abdomen makes its legs clench or release, allowing it to be worn as a cloak clasp or a decorative piece of jewelry.

If your hit points drop below 0 but you are still alive (above –10 hit points), a scarab of stabilization automatically stabilizes you. You are still unconscious from your wounds, but you need not make a stabilization check each round to prevent further hit point loss. If another wound causes your hit points to drop lower, the scarab automatically stabilizes you again at your new hit point total, provided that it is still between –1 and –9.

If a wound would drop you to –10 hit points or lower, the secondary power of the scarab activates automatically. You do not die, but your hit point total becomes –1, and you automatically stabilize. This power functions only once—the scarab crumbles into dust as soon as this ability is used.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, contingency, cure light wounds.
Cost to Create: 10,000 gp, 800 XP, 20 days.

This is a continuous effect and requires no activation.

In addition, once per day, you can activate a silkslick belt to gain a +10 competence bonus on the next Escape Artist check you begin before the end of your next turn.

This is a continuous effect and requires no activation. A character without the skirmish class feature does not gain this benefit.

In addition, you can activate skirmisher boots to make a single extra melee or ranged attack using your full base attack bonus. You can only activate this ability if you have already moved at least 10 feet from the space where you started your turn. Movement while mounted does not allow you to activate the boots. This benefit does not require the skirmish class feature and can be activated two times per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, haste.
Cost to Create: 1,600 gp, 128 XP, 4 days.

SOULSMITE GAUNTLETS
Price (Item Level): 3,000 gp (7th)
Body Slot: Hands
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) evocation
Activation: Free (command)
Weight: 2 lb.

Each of these white steel gauntlets has a smooth cerulean gem mounted on the wrist.

Soulsmite gauntlets allow a soulborn (MoI 25) to channel the power of a soulmeld into her smite opposition ability. When you use smite opposition, you can select one soulmeld you have shaped. All essence invested in that soulmeld becomes... uninvested, and you gain an additional bonus on your attack roll and damage roll equal to the essentia that was invested. For example, if you were an 8th-level soulborn with 2 essentia invested in your impulse boots, you could drain that soulmeld temporarily to gain an additional +2 bonus on the attack roll and damage roll of your smite attack.

Essentia drained from a soulmeld in this way returns to your essentia pool and can be invested again as normal.

Chakra Bind (Hands): If you bind soulmite gauntlets to your hands chakra, you gain one additional daily use of your smite opposition ability. When the gauntlets are bound, the gems mounted on them glow with soft inner light. See Magic of Incarnum for rules on binding magic items to your chakras.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, essentia pool.

Cost to Create: 1,500 gp, 120 XP, 3 days.

SOULSTONE

Price (Item Level): 10,000 gp (12th)
Body Slot: Face
Caster Level: 9th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) transmutation
Activation: —; see text
Weight: —

This faceted gemstone is the size of a coin and mounted on a golden disk covered in runes and scrollwork.

Soulstones are boons to all those who channel the power of incarnum (see Magic of Incarnum). When you use the proper command thought, this gem adheres to the center of your forehead (the same command thought causes the soulstone to disengage). While you wear a soulstone, you can bind a soulmeld to your brow chakra, gaining the normal ability granted by such a bind. This effect functions despite the fact that you are currently wearing a magic item in that chakra. This bind is in addition to any binds you are already allowed (though it doesn’t let you bind an extra soulmeld to your brow chakra).

If you are already able to bind soulmelds to your brow chakra, the soulstone instead grants you 1 bonus essentia that can be invested only in a soulmeld bound to your brow chakra.

If you also wear a magic item that grants an enhancement bonus to your Wisdom, a soulstone also allows you to unshape a soulmeld bound to your brow chakra and immediately reshape another soulmeld, even binding it to your brow chakra if you want. This ability requires a full-round action and functions once per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, bind a soulmeld to a chakra, essentia pool.

Cost to Create: 5,000 gp, 400 XP, 10 days.

SPARE HAND

Price (Item Level): 12,000 gp (13th)
Body Slot: Waist
Caster Level: 11th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) transmutation
Activation: —

Weight: 5 lb.

This strange item consists of an animated arm and three-fingered claw attached to a heavy leather belt reinforced with strips of metal.

As its most basic function, a spare hand can grasp or carry any object you could normally carry in one hand, freeing your normal hands for other tasks. A spare hand can hold magic items such as wands and rods for easy access, but you cannot activate those items while they are so held. Transferring an item to or from a spare hand is a free action.

Whenever your spare hand is not carrying an item, you gain a +2 competence bonus on Climb, Escape Artist, and grapple checks. Without further augmentation from an infusion (see below), a spare hand cannot do anything other than hold an item—it cannot wield a weapon, retrieve a stored item, or perform any other task.

If you power a spare hand with a 1st-level infusion (see the Eberron Campaign Setting), it gains additional qualities. Once per round, you can command the hand to stow an item or retrieve a stowed item (including a weapon) as a free action.

If you instead expend a 2nd-level infusion, the spare hand gains the above ability and can also hold a buckler or light shield, freeing your normal hand while still providing a bonus to AC from the shield. You still incur any armor check penalty or other drawbacks of holding the shield, and are subject to normal penalties if you are not proficient with the shield.

If you expend a 3rd-level infusion, a spare hand gains all the above abilities and becomes capable of wielding a light weapon. You can command a spare hand to make off-hand attacks with this weapon as if you were wielding it. A spare hand attacks using your normal attack modifier plus any appropriate penalties for an off-hand attack.

Using an infusion to power a spare hand requires 10 minutes and the expenditure of an infusion of the appropriate level. An infusion powers a spare hand for 24 hours.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item.

Cost to Create: 6,000 gp, 480 XP, 12 days.

CHAPTER 3
CLOTHING

point damage, you can take a
–5 penalty on the attack roll to deal an extra 1d6 points of damage with the spell.

A duskblade (PH2 19) can use these bracers when delivering a touch spell through a melee weapon, even if the spell doesn’t deal hit point damage. In this case, the weapon (rather than the spell) deals
an extra 1d6 points of damage.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, keen edge.

Cost to Create: 1,650 gp, 132 XP, 4 days.

SPELLSIGHT SPECTACLES

Price (Item Level): 2,500 gp (7th)

Caster Level: 3rd
Aura: Faint; (DC 16) divination

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, read magic.

Cost to Create: 1,250 gp, 100 XP, 3 days.

Body Slot: Throat
Caster Level: 11th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) abjuration
Activation: Immediate (command)
Weight: —

Exotic and arcane symbols circumscribe this scarab-shaped brooch.

You can activate a spellsink scarab whenever you would take hit point damage from a spell or psionic power. A scarab has 3 charges, which are renewed each day at dawn. Spending 1 or more charges reduces the damage dealt to you by the spell or power (to a minimum of 0 points of damage).

1 charge: Reduce damage by 2d6
points.

2 charge: Reduce damage by 3d6
points.

3 charges: Reduce damage by 4d6
points.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, greater dispel magic.

Cost to Create: 1,000 gp, 80 XP, 2 days.

Body Slot: Feet
Caster Level: 3rd
Aura: Faint; (DC 16) transmutation
Activation: —
Weight: 1 lb.

These thick, heavy boots are reinforced with iron along the sole.

Steadfast boots help keep you on your feet.
You gain a +4 bonus on checks made to avoid being bull rushed, overrun, or tripped.

Furthermore, as long as you carry a two-handed weapon, you are treated as if you had readied that weapon against any creature that charges you (and thus it deals double damage if your attack is successful), even if the weapon can't normally be set against a charge.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, bull's strength.

Cost to Create: 700 gp, 56 XP, 2 days.

STORM GAUNTLETS

Price (Item Level): 10,604 gp (13th)

Body Slot: Hands

Caster Level: 9th

Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) evocation

Activation: — and standard (command)

Weight: 1 lb.

Ribbons of electricity crackle over these gleaming, blue-tinged metal gauntlets. Jagged white bolts arc between the pair, filling the air with the scent of ozone.

When worn together, this pair of +1 spiked gauntlets grants you resistance to electricity 5. This is a continuous effect and requires no activation.

In addition, storm gauntlets have 4 charges, which are renewed each day at dawn. Spending 1 or more charges allows you to generate a number of electricity-based effects.

- 1 charge: shocking grasp.
- 2 charges: lightning bolt (Reflex DC 14 half).
- 4 charges: electric spheres. These act like flaming spheres, except that you create four spheres of crackling electricity. You can direct any or all of the spheres with the same action. Multiple spheres directed at the same creature deal damage separately (Reflex DC 13 half). These spheres deal electric damage.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, shocking grasp, lightning bolt.

Cost to Create: 5,000 gp (plus 604 gp for two masterwork gauntlets), 400 XP, 10 days.

STRONGARM BRACERS

Price (Item Level): 6,000 gp (10th)

Body Slot: Arms

Caster Level: 3rd

Aura: Faint; (DC 17) transmutation

Activation: —

Weight: 1 lb.

These flexible, blue-green leather armbands are covered with gold studs.

When wearing strongarm bracers, you can wield weapons as if you were one size category larger than normal. (You don't take any penalty when using weapons as normal for your size.) For example, a human wearing these bracers could wield Large or Medium weapons without penalty.

The effect of these bracers doesn't stack with the powerful build trait (such as that possessed by the half-giant and goliath races).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, enlarge person.

Cost to Create: 3,000 gp, 240 XP, 6 days.

SURCOAT OF VALOR

Price (Item Level): 4,000 gp (8th)

Body Slot: Torso

Aura: Faint; (DC 17) transmutation

Activation: —

Weight: 1 lb.

This is a fine blue linen surcoat, with gold and white trim and a golden dragon rampant emblazoned on the chest.

If you are a knight (PH2 24), a surcoat of valor grants you various benefits associated with your challenge ability. You can increase the save DC of your knight's challenge by 1.

If you also wear a magic item that provides a bonus on Will saves (or on all saves), the duration of your knight's challenge increases by 1 round.

Despite the described appearance, a surcoat automatically changes its colors and image to match your official symbol or heraldry.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, eagle's splendor.

Cost to Create: 2,000 gp, 160 XP, 4 days.

SURGE CRYSTAL

Price (Item Level): 18,000 gp (14th)

Body Slot: Head

Caster Level: 10th

Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) transmutation

Activation: Swift (command)

Weight: —

This leather band holds an indigo crystal that pulses with a vibrant radiance.

A surge crystal allows you to exceed your normal manifesting limits briefly. A crystal has 5 charges, which are renewed each day at dawn. Spending 1 or more charges increases your manifester level for the next psionic power you manifest in that round. The manifester level boost gives you the ability to augment the power to a higher degree than you otherwise could; however, you must still pay the extra power point cost for this augmentation.

- 1 charge: +1 manifester level.
- 3 charges: +2 manifester level.
- 5 charges: +3 manifester level.

The benefit from a surge crystal doesn't stack with wild surge or the Overchannel feat.

A surge crystal can be activated only after being worn continuously for 24 hours. If it is taken off, it becomes inactive until it is again donned and worn for a full 24 hours.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, wild surge (EPH 31) or Overchannel feat.

Cost to Create: 9,000 gp, 648 XP, 18 days.

SYMBOL OF TRANSFIGURATION

Body Slot: Throat

Caster Level: 3rd

Aura: Faint; (DC 16) transmutation

Activation: Swift (command)

Weight: —

This holy symbol is warm and radiates a sense of peace and security, as if an angel had been wearing it close to her heart.

Many good-aligned religions have some especially well-wrought holy symbols that are actually symbols of transfiguration. Three times per day, a symbol of transfiguration allows you to produce a purify food and drink effect. Once per day, you... can use align weapon (good only) on any weapon you hold, though the duration is only 1 round.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, align weapon, purify food and drink.

Cost to Create: 250 gp, 20 XP, 1 day.

TABARD OF THE DISEMBODIED [RELIC]

Price (Item Level): 6,000 gp (10th)
Body Slot: Torso
Caster Level: 20th
Aura: Strong; (DC 25) transmutation
Activation: Standard (mental)
Weight: 1 lb.

This misty gray tabard is silky soft to the touch. It is embroidered with small sequins in a skull motif.

A tabard of the disembodied is connected to the Ethereal Plane, the realm where ghosts hold sway. Once per day, you can activate this tabard to become ethereal for 1 round, provided that you are neutral evil, lawful evil, chaotic evil, or neutral.

Relic Power: If you have established the proper divine connection, you can activate a tabard of the disembodied to transport yourself to the Ethereal Plane (as the ethereal jaunt spell) for up to 10 rounds per day. This duration need not be continuous, and the effect is dismissable with another standard (mental) action. While you are on the Ethereal Plane, the spells you cast affect the Material Plane normally, unlike those of spellcasters who reach the Ethereal Plane by other means.

To use the relic power, you must worship Nerull and either sacrifice a 7th-level divine spell slot or have the True Believer feat and at least 13 HD.

Lore: The first of these tabards is said to have been among the burial raiments of Shedlazzar IV, a legendary wizard-king who haunted his castle for decades after his death. His grandson, a noted necromancer in his own right, wrested the secret of the tabard’s creation from his ancestor’s ghost using an exceptionally cruel torture technique designed to psychically flay the spirit (Knowledge [religion] DC 20).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, Sanctify Relic, ethereal jaunt.

Cost to Create: 3,000 gp, 240 XP, 6 days.

Activation: — and move (manipulation); see text
Weight: 1 lb.

This silvery tabard is emblazoned with a stylized sunburst design. Because of its association with uncommon valor and amazing healing power, a tabard of the great crusade is a welcome sight at any scene of armed conflict. When you wear one of these garments over armor, you and every ally within 20 feet gains a +1 morale bonus on saving throws, provided that you are lawful neutral, lawful good, lawful evil, or neutral. This is a continuous effect and requires no activation.

Relic Power: If you have established the proper divine connection, a tabard of the great crusade also provides you with damage reduction 5/evil. Furthermore, any ally other than you who grasps the hem of the tabard (a move [manipulation] action) can gain the benefit of a heal spell. This ability functions once per day.

To use the relic power, you must worship St. Cuthbert and either sacrifice an 8th-level divine spell slot or have the True Believer feat and at least 15 HD.

Lore: Only seven of these tabards are known to exist. Originally made for an elite cadre of warrior-healers, they have since been passed down from one battlefield cleric to another (Knowledge [religion] DC 20).

Cost to Create: 2,750 gp, 220 XP, 6 days.

A bright white light shines from the heart of this crystal, seeming to offer the promise of protection.

A third eye conceal protects you from view by all devices, spells, or powers that detect, influence, or read emotions or thoughts, as well as those with mind-affecting or scrying descriptors. It even foils bend reality, limited wish, miracle, reality revision, and wish when they are used to affect your mind or to gain information about you (however, metafaculty can pierce the protective quality). In the case of arcane eye, remote viewing, or a scrying spell used to scan an area you are in, the effect works but you simply aren’t detected.

Both you and the target must occupy the same size of space on the battlefield (for instance, a human could swap places with a dwarf or a goblin, but not with an ogre or a cat). Vanguard Treads

Price (Item Level): 3,100 gp (8th)
Body Slot: Feet
Caster Level: 3rd
Aura: Faint; (DC 16) transmutation
Activation: —
Weight: 2 lb.

These massive boots have spiked, treaded soles and look large enough to fit a heavily armored ogre. A row of inset amethysts runs around the top cuff.

Vanguard treads provide you with superior traction and stability, which provides the following effects:
• You can move through difficult terrain (such as rubble, undergrowth, steep slopes, stairs, or snow) at normal speed and without suffering any other impairment.
• You are unaffected by slippery ice, wet stones, or other surfaces where traction is a problem.
• You gain a +8 bonus on attempts to resist bull rushes and a +4 bonus on grapple checks to resist a grapple attempt if that grapple would move you into another square.
• Areas that have been magically manipulated to impede movement (such as by an entangle spell) still affect you, as do water, quicksand, and other nonsolid surfaces. You still have to slow down for narrow paths requiring Balance checks and for surfaces steep enough to require Climb checks.
• If the terrain deals damage (such as the burning ground on the Elemental Plane of Fire), you still take that damage.

The massive spikes and treads on the soles of vanguard treads leave a distinctive trail. Anyone following you gains a +10 circumstance bonus on Survival and Search checks made to track you.

Lore: Ancient giants made the first vanguard treads to aid their scouts in navigating difficult terrain and hazards (Knowledge [arcana] DC 15).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, vampiric touch.
Cost to Create: 2,500 gp, 200 XP, 5 days.

1 charge: You become invisible for 4 rounds.
2 charges: You and one adjacent ally become invisible for 3 rounds.
3 charges: You and up to three adjacent allies become invisible for 2 rounds.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, invisibility.

Aura: Faint; (DC 17) transmutation
Activation: —
Weight: —

Dyed in swirls of pink and purple, this semi-transparent veil looks like the garb of a sultan’s harem dancer.

Vest of the Archmagi

Price (Item Level): 200,000 gp (25th)
Body Slot: Torso
Caster Level: 20th
Aura: Strong; (DC 25) no school
Activation: — and swift (command)
Weight: 2 lb.

This gold-brocaded, burgundy garment seems fit to be worn by the gods themselves.

The vest of the archmagi is legendary. It fills the dreams of every apprentice sent to clean the inkpots and dust the tomes, but rumors of this item are unfounded. Whispering in the bunkrooms of the Academy at night, after the oil lamps are quenched and curfew has long passed, eager apprentices claim that a vest of the archmagi provides its wearer with continuous defensive bonuses equivalent to the most potent bracers of armor (+8 armor bonus to AC) and cloak of resistance (+5 resistance bonus on saving throws).

It is also said that the vest provides its wearer with the continuous ability to overcome the magical defenses of her enemies (+2 enhancement bonus on caster level checks made to overcome spell resistance), and that it allows him to recall up to three arcane spells that he had previously prepared and cast (as a pearl of power, except that it can be used for any spell up to 9th level and activating it requires only a swift action).

Finally, it is suggested, the wearer of the vest of the archmagi could expend a prepared arcane spell or spell slot to heal himself of damage equal to five times the level of the spell so expended. This act requires but a moment’s thought (a swift action), and can be repeated as often as desired throughout the day.

Sadly, these stories obviously have no basis in reality, for such an item would undoubtedly be prized above all others by any mage with the resources to craft one. Of course, as a thing of myth, the vest of the archmage can’t be created. But if it could, it might possibly have the following prerequisites and costs.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, wish.
Cost to Create: 100,000 gp, 8,000 XP, 200 days.

VEST OF DEFENSE

Price (Item Level): 2,000 gp (6th)
Body Slot: Torso
Caster Level: 3rd
Aura: Faint; (DC 16) transmutation
Activation: Swift (command)
Weight: 1 lb.

This snug-fitting vest is crafted from the skin of a huge tan-and-black snake.

A vest of defense improves your ability to dodge attacks. When activated, this vest improves the dodge bonus to AC granted by fighting defensively, the total defense action, or the Combat Expertise feat by 2. Using more than one of these techniques doesn’t provide more than a +2 bonus. This bonus lasts for 1 round.

This ability functions three times per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, cat’s grace.
Cost to Create: 1,000 gp, 80 XP, 2 days.

VEST OF THE MASTER EVOKER

Price (Item Level): 10,000 gp (12th)
Body Slot: Torso
Caster Level: 9th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) evocation
Activation: Swift (command)
Weight: 2 lb.

Crackling with power, a vest of the master evoker intensifies arcane evocation spells you cast. Many an ambitious evoker sees gaining this vest as a rite of passage, much like casting his first magic missile or fireball, and among elite warmages (CAr 10) it serves as an unparalleled status symbol.

Three times per day, you can activate the vest to enhance the next arcane evocation spell you cast before the end of your turn. That spell deals additional damage equal to twice its spell level, and the save DC of the spell increases by 2. This damage is of the same type as normal for the spell (or, if the spell deals more than one type of damage, of any one of those types at your discretion). If the spell doesn’t normally deal damage, this use of the vest has no effect.

In addition, you can apply the effect of any sudden metamagic feat (CAr 83) you know to any evocation spell you cast from a wand or staff as if you were casting the spell yourself. Doing this requires no activation, but uses up that feat’s daily use as normal.
VEST OF RESISTANCE

Price (Item Level): 1,000 gp (4th) (+1); 4,000 gp (8th) (+2); 9,000 gp (12th) (+3); 16,000 gp (14th) (+4); 25,000 gp (15th) (+5)

VESTMENTS OF EBONISILK [RELIC]

Price (Item Level): 5,000 gp (9th)

Body Slot: Torso

Caster Level: 20th

Aura: Strong; (DC 25) abjuration

Activation: —

Weight: 1 lb.

These lightweight black robes are covered in a silvery spiderweb tracery. The clasp at the neck is a silver brooch shaped like a spider with amethyst eyes.

Thus far, the only known vestments of ebonsilk have been found in the possession of drow clerics. If you are chaotic evil, neutral evil, or chaotic neutral, wearing these vestments grants you a +2 resistance bonus on saving throws.

Relic Power: If you have established the proper divine connection, the vestments also grant you a continual spider climb effect.

To use the relic power, you must worship Lolth and either sacrifice a 4th-level divine spell slot or have the True Believer feat and at least 7 HD. If you sacrifice a 7th-level spell slot or have at least 13 HD and the True Believer feat, you also gain a continual freedom of movement effect.

Lore: Said to be woven from silk extruded by Lolth herself, vestments of ebonsilk are occasionally awarded to underserving followers of Lolth as a test to see how quickly her favored clerics can appropriate them (Knowledge [religion] DC 20).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, Sanctify Relic, freedom of movement, spider climb.

Cost to Create: 2,500 gp, 200 XP, 5 days.

WAND BRACELET

Price (Item Level): 12,000 gp (13th)

Body Slot: Arms

Caster Level: 6th

Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) transmutation

Activation: See text

Weight: —

This golden chain bracelet has a number of small metal objects hanging from it like charms.

A wand bracelet can store up to four items, which appear as charms along the bracelet. You can grab one of the charms from the bracelet as a swift (manipulation) action, causing it to appear in your hand.

If you have an item in hand, you can use a move (manipulation) action to store the item in the bracelet or to switch a held item for a stored item by touching the item to the charm representing the stored item. Storing an item causes it to shrink down and appear as a charm hanging from the bracelet. Any item stored can weigh no more than 3 pounds and must be able to be held in one hand, such as a wand or a light weapon. Only the wearer of the bracelet is able to retrieve or store items.

Lore: The name wand bracelet describes the most common use of this item. Originally designed to hold small keepsakes as charms, and crafted to be appropriate for formal gatherings, wand bracelets have found popularity among artificers (ECS 29) who favor spell trigger devices (Knowledge [history] DC 15).

These bracelets are also sometimes known as assassins’ charms, because small weapons can easily be concealed within them (Knowledge [history] DC 20).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, shrink item.

Cost to Create: 500 gp, 50 XP, 1 day.

War Wizard Cloak

Price (Item Level): 16,000 gp (14th)

In addition, this cloak has four other abilities, each of which can be activated once per day: dimension door, mage armor, protection from arrows, and sending.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, dimension door, endure elements, feather fall, mage armor, protection from arrows, and sending.

This sailcloth cloak’s elaborate embroidery evokes the waves of the sea. Within the pattern of the waves, a repeating swirl of thread matches the symbol writhing within the large, dark crystal shard that forms the clasp at the neck of the cloak. The cloak appears damp, and the lower edge looks as though it has been soaked in water.

Despite its damp appearance, a water cloak always feels completely dry to its wearer, even in pouring rain. This cloak grants you a +5 bonus on Reflex saves against any effect that deals fire damage and allows you to avoid fire damage as if you had evasion. Whenever you make a successful Reflex saving throw against any fire effect that deals half damage on a successful save, you instead take no damage. This is a continuous effect and requires no activation.

In addition, a water cloak offers two other activated abilities.

Extinguish: The cloak extinguishes all nonmagical fires within 30 feet. This ability has no effect on fire creatures. It functions five times per day.

Counterfire: The cloak can counter any spell with the fire descriptor (as if you were casting dispel magic). This ability functions once per day. Attempting to counter a spell that doesn’t have the fire descriptor wastes the effect.

Prerequisites: Bind Elemental (ECS 51) or Craft Wondrous Item, planar binding.

Cost to Create: 6,000 gp, 480 XP, 12 days.

In addition, this cloak has two other abilities, each of which can be activated once per day: spider climb and hold person.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, hold person, resistance, spider climb.

Cost to Create: 2,100 gp, 168 XP, 5 days.

This ability functions three times per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, charm person.

Cost to Create: 300 gp, 24 XP, 1 day.

WYRFANG AMULET

Aura: Strong; (DC 21) transmutation
Activation:

Weight: 1 lb.

All attacks you make with natural weapons or unarmed strikes while wearing this amulet overcome damage reduction as through they were magic weapons. (The attacks don’t gain an enhancement bonus, just the ability to overcome some creatures’ damage reduction.)

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, greater magic fang.

Cost to Create: 675 gp, 54 XP, 2 days.
s any veteran of adventure would tell you, sometimes even your best weapon isn’t enough to see you through the dangers lurking in dank swamps and dark dungeons. Any successful hero can undoubtedly point to the times when he reached into his backpack and pulled out the perfect tool for the unbelievable situation at hand.

The following pages include over 300 such magic items: wondrous devices meant to give you an edge at just the right time. Though these tools are not as ubiquitous as the armor or magic amulet you wear every day, or the weapon you swing every round, experienced adventurers recognize that a tool needn’t be useful in every encounter for it to be worth bringing along. Whether as mundanely functional as a bag of holding or as explosively exciting as a strand of lightning, the magic items in this category are an important part of your arsenal.

"Fiendish acid-spitting zombie dragons? No problem—I have just the thing for that."

Created by alienists (CAr 21) and other cultists who worship aberrant entities, an aberrant sphere allows its wielder to summon creatures from beyond space and time at the cost of a fraction of his own sanity. A sphere has 3 charges, which are renewed each day at dawn. Spending 1 or more charges causes the sphere to shatter, as it summons a particular kind of aberration, which appears anywhere within 30 feet of you and serves you (as summon monster I) for 7 rounds. You also take a penalty on your Will saves as long as the creature is present.

1 charge: Summons a choker; –1 penalty on Will saves.
2 charges: Summons a grick; –2 penalty on Will saves.
3 charges: Summons a carrion crawler; –3 penalty on Will saves.

At the end of the duration (or when the creature is destroyed), the sphere re-forms in your hand (or at your feet if your hands are full) and the penalty on your Will saves disappears.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, summon monster IV.
Cost to Create: 1,400 gp, 112 XP.
CHAPTER 4
THIEVES’ TOOLS

ANSTRUTH HARP
Price (Item Level): 32,100 gp (16th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 14th
Aura: Strong; (DC 22) conjuration, enchantment, transmutation
Activation: — and swift (command)
Weight: 3 lb.

This teakwood lap harp is slender and graceful, its strings made of silver wire. An engraved design depicting waves and fog graces the wood.

This masterwork harp grants you a +2 circumstance bonus on Perform (string instruments) checks. If you have at least 12 ranks in Perform (string instruments), you can also command it to produce one of three spell effects (control water, mass cure light wounds, or mind fog), each once per day.

If you pick up an Anstruth harp but do not have 12 or more ranks in Perform (string instruments), the instrument bestows one negative level on you, which persists for as long as you hold it. This negative level never results in actual level loss, but it cannot be overcome in any way (including restoration spells) while the instrument is held.

Lore: A wise and powerful bard named Falataer reportedly created the first of these instruments, which he used to test and reward the students at all seven levels of his bardic college. Others have since copied the designs but honored Falataer by keeping the name Anstruth harp (Knowledge [arcana] or bardic knowledge DC 15).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, control water, mass cure light wounds, mind fog, bard.
Cost to Create: 16,000 gp (plus 100 gp for masterwork harp), 1,280 XP, 32 days.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, knock, trapping.
Cost to Create: 700 gp, 56 XP, 2 days.

AROMA OF CURDLED DEATH
Price (Item Level): 4,500 gp (9th)
Body Slot: —
Caster Level: 9th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) conjuration
Activation: Standard (manipulation)
Weight: —

This elegant, stoppered glass bottle holds a dark, viscous fluid.

One round after you apply this elixir to your skin, it creates an invisible cloud of gas in a 10-foot radius that moves with you and persists for 5 rounds. You are immune to the cloud’s effects, but every other creature in the area that has 3 Hit Dice or more takes 1d4 points of Constitution damage (Fort DC 17 half) per round of exposure.

If you open the bottle but do not immediately apply the liquid, the cloud of gas spreads to fill a 5-foot-radius area, centered on the opened bottle or the place where the liquid was poured out. This cloud persists for 1 minute.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, deep slumber, Craft (alchemy) 4 ranks.
Cost to Create: 750 gp, 60 XP, 2 days.

BAG OF BOULDERS
Price (Item Level): 1,400 gp (5th)
Body Slot: —
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) transmutation
Activation: Standard (thrown)
Weight: 1 lb.

This worn doeskin pouch holds a few unremarkable pebbles.

This pouch creates tiny pebbles that strike with the force of a catapult stone when thrown. Each stone has a range increment of 50 feet. You are proficient with the stones and must make a successful ranged attack to strike with one. A stone disappears after it completes its flight. Activating a bag of boulders is a standard action that includes both drawing and throwing a stone.

Each bag of boulders has 3 charges, which are renewed each day at dawn. Spending 1 or more charges when you draw a pebble from the bag determines the damage dealt by the stone when thrown.

1 charge: Deals 2d6 points of bludgeoning damage.
2 charges: Deals 3d6 points of bludgeoning damage.
3 charges: Deals 4d6 points of bludgeoning damage.
BAG OF ENDLESS CALTROPS
Price (Item Level): 800 gp (3rd)
Caster Level: 9th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) conjuration
Activation: Move (manipulation)
Weight: 2 lb.

This nondescript brown leather pouch is secured with a piece of twisted wire that has several sharp points.

Five times per day, you can reach into this pouch and pull out a handful of caltrops (enough to cover a 5-foot square). In addition to the activation cost, filling a 5-foot square with caltrops by hand requires a standard action.

The caltrops produced are not magical and follow all the rules for normal caltrops (PH 126).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, Leomund’s secret chest.

Cost to Create: 400 gp, 32 XP, 1 day.

BAG OF FLAMES
Price (Item Level): 3,500 gp (8th)
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) transmutation
Activation: Standard (manipulation)
Weight: —

This red burlap sack feels warm to the touch.

A bag of flames contains a tiny ember of pure elemental fire. The bag has 3 charges, which are renewed each day at dawn. Spending 1 or more charges when you place your hand into the bag allows you to draw forth fire to create a particular effect.

1 charge: Flame burns in your hand, as the produce flame spell, with a duration of 1 minute. Your melee touch attack deals 1d6+5 points of fire damage, or you can hurl the flame up to 120 feet as a ranged touch attack that deals 1d6+5 points of fire damage (and ends the duration).

2 charges: You hurl the flame up to 30 feet away, whereupon it immediately turns into a Small fire elemental. The elemental is under your control (as if summoned by summon nature’s ally II) and remains for 5 rounds.

3 charges: Faint wisps of flame spread up your arm and cover your body. This sheath provides immunity to fire for 1 hour or until it has negated 60 points of fire damage. As a standard action, you can touch an adjacent creature to grant it any remaining immunity to fire you have from this effect (you lose the remaining immunity).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, produce flame, protection from energy, summon nature’s ally II.

Cost to Create: 1,750 gp, 140 XP, 4 days.

Caster Level: 7th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) enchantment

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, Mounted Combat, Ride-By Attack, calm animals.

Cost to Create: 4,500 gp, 360 XP, 9 days.

Body Slot: —
Caster Level: 6th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) transmutation
Activation: Full-round (manipulation)
Weight: —

The viscous liquid in this vial has an oily brown color and smells a little like wet leaves.

Drinking beetle elixir causes your skin to harden, darken, and gloss over, and short antennae to sprout from your forehead.
You gain darkvision out to 60 feet and a +2 enhancement bonus to your existing natural armor. (A creature without natural armor has an effective natural armor bonus of +0.) These effects last for 12 hours.

Cost to Create: 675 gp, 54 XP, 2 days.

BLAST DISK

Price (Item Level): 900 gp (4th)

Body Slot: — (held)

Caster Level: 5th

Aura: Faint; (DC 17) evocation

Activation: Standard (manipulation)

Weight: 1 lb.

This jet-black, 8-inch-diameter plate bears a bas relief humanoid skull surrounded by runes and sigils. Its other side is perfectly smooth and flat.

A blast disk can be set to explode through proximity or on a timer. In either case, when the disk activates it explodes, destroying the blast disk and dealing 5d6 points of fire damage to all creatures and objects within 10 feet (Reflex DC 14 half).

If set to explode through proximity, a blast disk must be set down in a square on the battlefield. The next creature of Small or larger size to enter that square (either on the ground or airborne within 5 feet) sets off the blast disk. That creature receives a —2 penalty on the save against the blast.

A blast disk can also be set to automatically explode up to 10 rounds after placement.

A character who has trapfinding can find (Search DC 28) and disable (Disable Device DC 28) a blast disk.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, fireball.

Cost to Create: 450 gp, 36 XP, 1 day.

BLAST GLOBES

Price (Item Level): 8,000 gp (11th)

Body Slot: — (held)

Caster Level: 11th

Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) evocation

Activation: Standard (command); see text

Weight: 1 lb.

Dozens of smaller glass spheres comprise this fist-sized orb. The flicker of a small flame seems to reflect from deep within.

When you activate a set of blast globes, the transparent globes separate and begin circling each other. One round after they activate, you can direct the globes to strike (as a group) any location within 400 feet as a free action. The globes then move to that location and create an explosion in a 20-foot-radius spread. Any creature in the area takes 10d6 points of fire damage and 2d6 points of sonic damage, is deafened for 2d6 rounds, and is pushed 1d6 squares away from the center of the blast.

A successful DC 15 Reflex save halves the fire damage and negates the deafening effect.

After exploding, the globes reform in your hands or at your feet (if your hands are full). This ability functions once per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, fireball, shout.

Cost to Create: 4,000 gp, 320 XP, 8 days.

BLESSED BANDAGE

BLIGHT STONE

Price (Item Level): 300 gp (2nd)

Body Slot: — (held); see text

Caster Level: 3rd

Aura: Faint; (DC 16) necromancy

Activation: Standard (thrown) or — (ammunition)

Weight: 1 lb.

This stone is tacky with a putrid green residue.

A blight stone creates an instantaneous burst of vapor that damages plants and plant-based creatures. The stone must be thrown (range increment 10 feet) or hurled from a sling (using that weapon’s normal range increment) as a ranged touch attack.

When the stone strikes its target or a hard surface, it deals no damage but explodes in a 10-foot-radius burst of noxious vapors. This cloud of gas deals 5d6 points of damage to all plants and plant creatures in the area (Fort DC 14 half).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, blight.

Cost to Create: 150 gp, 12 XP, 1 day.

CAMOUFLAGE PAINT

Price (Item Level): 1,500 gp (5th)

Body Slot: — (held)

Caster Level: 3rd

Aura: Faint; (DC 16) transmutation

Activation: Standard (manipulation)

Weight: 1/2 lb.

This jar contains a colorful, jellylike substance.

As a standard action, the user of camouflage paint can spread a glob of the substance across her face. Once applied, camouflage paint changes the color of the user’s skin, clothing, and gear to that of her surroundings. This effect provides a +5 circumstance bonus on Hide checks, but only when the user is stationary. An application of camouflage paint lasts for 2 hours. Each 3-inch-diameter, 2-inch-deep jar of camouflage paint has enough material for five applications.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, disguise self.

Cost to Create: 750 gp, 60 XP, 2 days.

This masterwork mandolin grants you a +2 circumstance bonus on Perform (string instruments) checks. Cost to Create: 4,000 gp (plus 100 gp for masterwork mandolin), 320 XP, 8 days.

CENSER OF THE LAST BREATH [RElic]

Price (Item Level): 2,500 gp (7th)

Body Slot: — (held)

Caster Level: 15th

Aura: Strong; (DC 22) conjuration

Activation: Standard (manipulation)

Weight: 1 lb.

This censer is a perforated iron ball hung from a jeweled chain. The holy symbol of Nerull is inscribed on a boss at its center.

Nerull’s faithful fill the censer of the last breath with ground gems rather than incense. When you burn 10 gp worth of quartz dust in it, the censer produces an obscuring mist effect, which, if you are neutral evil, neutral, lawful evil, or chaotic evil, you can see through as if it weren’t there.

Filling the censer is a standard action. Once it has been filled, it automatically starts burning the quartz dust, creating a cloud in a 20-foot-radius emanation centered on you. For the duration of the effect, the cloud moves with you as long as you hold the censer. The quartz dust burns in the censer for 10 rounds, after which the cloud dissipates.

Relic Power: If you have established the proper divine connection, you can burn other kinds of gem dust in the censer to produce additional effects, as detailed on the table below. In each case, the cloud produced is the same size as the one produced by the quartz dust and behaves in the same way, except as noted on the table. You are always unaffected by the cloud created.

A chime of harmonic agony functions three times per day.

CLI LYRE

Price (Item Level): 18,100 gp (15th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 11th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) abjuration
Activation: — and standard (command)
Weight: 3 lb.

This elegant lyre is carved from jade and strung with gold wire. Rubies adorn its frame.

This masterwork lyre grants you a +2 circumstance bonus to Perform (string instruments) checks. If you have at least 10 ranks in Perform (string instruments), you can also command it to produce one of three spell effects (break enchantment, dimension door, or shout), each once per day.

If you pick up a Cli lyre but do not have 10 or more ranks in Perform (string instruments), the instrument bestows one negative level on you, which persists for as long as you hold it. This negative level never results in actual level loss, but it cannot be overcome in any way (including restoration spells) while the instrument is held.

COGNIZANCE CRYSTAL

Price (Item Level): See text
Body Slot: —
Caster Level: See table
Aura: See table; (DC varies) evocation
Activation: Free (mental)
Weight: 1 lb.

Silver wire gently encloses and binds a large core crystal and several smaller crystals in a geometric design. The aquamarine crystals emit a faint glow.

A cognizance crystal stores power points, which the holder can use to manifest a psionic power she knows (instead of spending points from her own power pool). You cannot directly replenish your personal power points from those stored in a cognizance crystal, nor can you draw power points from more than one source to manifest a power (even if that second source is your own power pool).

A cognizance crystal can store only as many power points as its original maximum, set at the time of its creation. When a crystal’s power points are used up, the glow of the crystal dims. A user can recharge it by paying power points on a 1-for-1 basis (a standard [mental] action). While doing this depletes the user’s own power point reserve for the day, those power points remain available in the crystal until used.

Before you can use a cognizance crystal, you must hold or have it on your person for at least 10 continuous minutes.

A typical cognizance crystal has AC 7, 10 hit points, hardness 8, and a break DC of 16.

Prerequisites: Craft Cognizance Crystal (EPH 44).

Cost to Create: See table.

CONDUIT ROD

Price (Item Level): 6,000 gp (10th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 13th
Aura: Strong; (DC 21) abjuration
Activation: Swift (command)
Weight: 3 lb.

Each end of this slender ebony rod is set with a clear, jagged crystal. A wild energy seems to flicker in the depths of these stones, and gazing intently into one reveals minute flares of fire, tiny sparks of electricity, and other glimpses of suppressed energy.

Conduit rods alter the fundamental ways in which magical energies interact. When you activate a conduit rod and specify an energy type (acid, cold, electricity, fire, or sonic), your existing resistance to energy of the chosen type increases by 20. This protection also extends to every creature adjacent to you (though the value is based on the value of the energy resistance of those creatures rather than your own) and lasts for 1 round. The rod has no effect on creatures that are immune to the chosen energy type or have no resistance to it at all.

This ability functions three times per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Rod, antimagic field.
Cost to Create: 3,000 gp, 240 XP, 6 days.

Cornucopias of the needful were created to provide Yondalla’s most intrepid followers with aid for their journeys. For as long as you possess the cornucopia, you can withdraw one fruit from it every morning (roll 1% each morning to determine the kind of fruit obtained), provided that you are lawful good, neutral good, or lawful neutral. Body Slot: — (held)

Caster Level: 11th

Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) evocation

Activation: — and swift (command)

Weight: 3 lb.

Carved chromatic and metallic dragon scales descend like leaves down the length of this regal scepter.

A dragondoom scepter aids spellcasters in defeating dragons. When you hold this scepter, you gain a +2 competence bonus on caster level checks made to overcome the spell resistance of dragons. This is a continuous effect and requires no activation.

In addition, when you activate a dragon-crystal wand, the next spell of 6th level or lower you cast before the end of your turn deals an extra 50% damage to any creature with the dragon type. Spells that don’t deal damage are unaffected. This ability can be activated three times per day, but not in consecutive rounds.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, Empower Spell.

Cost to Create: 9,000 gp, 720 XP, 18 days.

Using the drums doesn’t adversely affect a performer’s speed.

This fine powder sparkles like ground gems.

You can fling this powder into the air up to 10 feet away from yourself to create a translucent cloud that occupies a 10-foot cube. Creatures outside the cloud can see into it and through it (though their sight is slightly blurred), but any ranged attack entering or passing through the cloud has a 50% miss chance.

Creatures within the cloud make ranged attacks normally.

The cloud persists for 3 minutes, but a moderate wind (11+ mph) disperses it in 4 rounds. A strong wind (21+ mph) disperses the cloud in 1 round, and any spell that deals fire damage burns away any part of the cloud in its area. Dust of dispersion cannot be used underwater.

Once activated, this dust is expended and cannot be used again.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, blur, glitterdust.

Cost to Create: 250 gp, 20 XP, 1 day.

This brown fur pouch is secured with a leather thong threaded through a large brass buckle.

When first opened, this pouch holds three ordinary-looking acorns. If you are neutral good, lawful good, chaotic good, or neutral, these acorns function as goodberries. Each morning, the pouch once again holds three acorns, no matter how many were in it before.

Relic Power: If you have established the proper divine connection, you can create one of the following effects (your choice) to occur whenever you fling an acorn from the pouch. An acorn can be thrown up to 100 feet.

- A treat emerges from the acorn into any space in which it will physically fit. This effect otherwise functions like the change staff spell, lasting for 1 hour.
- A wall of thorns (as the spell) springs up from the ground where the acorn lands.
- The acorn functions as a splash weapon that deals 1d6+1 points of fire damage upon impact. This effect otherwise functions like the fire种子 spell, except that the damage isn’t split up among multiple acorns.

To use the relic power, you must worship Ehlonna and either sacrifice an 8th-level divine spell slot or have the True Believer feat and at least 15 HD.

Lore: Legend holds that Ehlonna created the first of these pouches and used it to seed the world’s great forests with oaks and treants. Since then, she has occasionally given a pouch to one of her favored clergy in recognition of service (Knowledge [religion] DC 20).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, Sanctify Relic, change staff, fire seeds, goodberry.

Cost to Create: 700 gp, 56 XP, 2 days.

Imbibing electric eel elixir turns your skin silvery and grants you a +1 enhancement bonus to your existing natural armor bonus. (A creature without natural armor has an effective natural armor bonus of +0.)

Furthermore, one time while the elixir is in effect, you can make a melee touch attack that deals 1d6+1 points of electricity damage. You gain a +3 circumstance bonus on the attack roll if the target is wearing metal armor. The elixir’s effect lasts for 12 hours.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, alter self, shocking grapple, Craft (alchemy) 5 ranks.

Cost to Create: 200 gp, 16 XP, 1 day.
This heavy vial appears to be filled with solid black metal, but when upended, the blackness flows slowly downward.

An elixir of adamantine blood causes a reaction that hardens your flesh. You gain 10 temporary hit points, which last for up to 1 hour. These temporary hit points do not stack with any other effects that grant temporary hit points.

If you wear adamantine armor when you drink this elixir, you instead gain 20 temporary hit points (though if you remove the armor before the duration elapses, you lose 10 of the temporary hit points immediately).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, stoneskin.

Cost to Create: 250 gp, 20 XP, 1 day.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, burning hands.

Cost to Create: 150 gp, 12 XP, 1 day.

ENVELOPING PIT [RELIC]

Price (Item Level): 3,600 gp (8th)
Body Slot: —
Caster Level: 20th
Aura: Strong; (DC 25) conjuration
Activation: Swift (command)
Weight: —

This flat black square looks like a piece of silken cloth, folded many times upon itself. Fleeting images of creatures and objects flit across the surface of the fabric.

Kobolds are among the finest trapmakers in the world, but this portable pit trap exceeds even their expertise. If you are lawful evil, lawful neutral, or neutral evil, an enveloping pit functions like a portable hole, except that it is 50 feet deep.

An enveloping pit covers a 10-foot square when opened fully, but the opening can be as small as 1 foot in diameter if it is laid upon the ground while still folded. The pit opens fully only if it has enough flat space to do so; it stops opening when an edge hits a wall or an obstruction of similar size.

Relic Power: If you have established the divine power, you can open or close an enveloping pit with a command word from anywhere within 60 feet.

ESSENTIA JEWEL

Price (Item Level): 400 gp (2nd)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 3rd
Aura: Faint; (DC 16) necromancy
Activation: Free (command)
Weight: —

The facets of this small, translucent white crystal gleam with faint light.

When activated, an essentia jewel adds 1 point of essentia to your essentia pool for a single round. This essentia can be invested as normal. Only one essentia jewel can be used in each round, and each can be used only once, after which it crumbles to dust.

You need not hold an essentia jewel to activate it, but you must keep it somewhere on your body (in a pouch or a backpack, for example).

Lore: Essentia jewels are mined from enormous crystalline structures on the Positive Energy Plane (Knowledge [the planes] DC 15).

These crystalline structures are actually fonts of unborn souls. Pure soul energy flows like water through these areas, imbuing the surrounding structures with echoes of incorporeal (Knowledge [the planes] DC 25).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, soul boon (MoI 104).

Cost to Create: 200 gp, 16 XP, 1 day.

ETERNAL WAND

Price (Item Level): See table
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: See table
Aura: Faint; (see table) school of spell contained in eternal wand
Activation: Standard (command)
Weight: —

This long, tapered wand ends with a pink crystal containing red swirls.

An eternal wand holds a single arcane spell of 3rd level or lower, determined during creation. Any character who can cast arcane spells can activate the wand to use the spell contained in it, regardless of whether the spell appears on his class spell list.

An eternal wand functions two times per day.

Lore: During the final years of the last great war, the artificers and wizards of a powerful noble family perfected a new form of wand built around a crystal shard (Knowledge [history] DC 10).

The development of the eternal wand allowed lesser arcants to take the place of war wizards during the final days of the last great war, supplementing their passive spells with more aggressive magic (Knowledge [history] DC 20).

While the artificers have been searching for ways to streamline the process of creation, the technique is still in its infancy. Currently, the wands are rarely seen except in military units, but a few soldiers who served in the war brought their eternal wands of magic missile home from the front lines (Knowledge [history] DC 20).

Prerequisites: Craft Wand, Craft Wondrous Item, the spell contained in the eternal wand.

Cost to Create: See table.

Activation: Standard (manipulation)
Weight: 1/2 lb.

This plain, iron spike feels warm to the touch and pulses with stored energy.

An exploding spike becomes invisible 1 round after you plant it firmly in the ground. Thereafter, as soon as any creature comes within 10 feet of it, the spike explodes in a fireball that deals 10d6 points of fire damage (Reflex DC 14 half) to every creature within 20 feet of it. This blast destroys the spike.

During the round that an exploding spike remains visible after being planted, any creature can safely remove it from the ground (a standard action) to render it harmless and ready for reuse.

When the stone strikes its target or a hard surface, it deals no damage, but explodes in a 10-foot-radius burst of glittering shards. GLYPH SEAL

Price (Item Level): 1,000 gp (4th)

Body Slot: — (held)

Caster Level: 5th

Aura: Faint; (DC 17) transmutation

Activation: Standard (manipulation)

Weight: —

This multicolored, thumb-sized opal is carved with a variety of arcane symbols.

A glyph seal allows you to convert any arcane or divine spell of up to 2nd level into a symbol similar to a glyph of warding. To do so, you must cast the spell while holding the seal; doing this is called keying the seal. You can safely transport a keyed glyph seal until you activate it by pressing the seal to the desired surface. The seal can adhere to any nonmagical, nonliving object. An activated glyph seal functions as the spell glyph function of a glyph of warding and can be detected and disabled as a magic trap (DC 30).

A glyph seal is unaffected by the spell within it. Once activated, the now-empty glyph seal can be retrieved (though it requires a successful DC 30 Search check to find) and used. You can always remove any glyph seal you keyed and activated to redeploy it elsewhere.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, glyph of warding.

Cost to Create: 500 gp, 40 XP, 1 day.

Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 20th
Aura: Strong; (DC 25) evocation
Activation: — and standard (command)
Weight: —

This rolled-up sheet of vellum is generally kept in a dark-colored scroll tube decorated with wagon wheel motifs.

A map of unseen lands is a boon to caravans of halfling pilgrims, who use it to avoid danger and make their way through the wilderness. While holding the map, you gain a +5 competence bonus on Knowledge (geography) and Survival checks if you are neutral good, lawful good, chaotic good, or neutral.

Relic Power: Once per day, if you have established the proper divine connection, you can command a map of unseen lands to spend 2 minutes redrawing itself. Doing so causes it to map the terrain within a 10-mile radius with total accuracy but only middling detail. This ability doesn’t function underground.

When the redraw command is issued, the DM should spend no more than 2 minutes of real time sketching out a map, adding items from the following list in the given order of priority.

- General terrain features (mountains, rivers, and so forth), labeled if their names are widely known.
- Structures encompassing more than 5,000 square feet (castles, temples, and ruins), named either specifically (“Fortress of the Undying”) or generally (“bardic college”).
- Structures important for travel (bridges, dungeon entrances, and magic portals), labeled only if they are unusual in some respect.
- Lairs of creatures of CR 12 or higher, labeled by creature type only.

To use the relic power, you must worship Yondalla and either sacrifice a 5th-level divine spell slot or have the True Believer feat and at least 9 HD.

Lore: The first map of unseen lands was sketched out by Pharlinthan as a gift for Yondalla. Since then, she has occasion-ally given one to a large tribe of halflings intending to strike out for new territory (Knowledge [religion] DC 20).

Prerequisites:Craft Wondrous Item, Sanctify Relic, discern location.

Cost to Create: 2,700 gp, 208 XP, 6 days.

Body Slot: — (held)

Caster Level: 7th

Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) conjuration

Activation: Standard (command)

Weight: 1/2 lb.

This silver hand mirror is exceedingly smooth, even slippery, to the touch.

When activated, a mirror of time hop must be held in such a way as to force a creature within 30 feet to see its own reflection. This functions as a gaze attack; any creature that fails a DC 14 Will save is pushed 5 rounds forward in time. In effect, the creature disappears in a shimmer of silver energy, then reappears after the duration expires in the same position, orientation, and condition. From the creature’s point of view, no time has passed. Any active effects on the creature simply resume when it appears as if no time had passed. The creature can act normally on its next turn after the effect ends.

A mirror of time hop functions two times per day, and each activation of the mirror can affect only a single creature. The mirror’s wielder is immune to its effect.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, suggestion or psionic suggestion (EPH 135).

Cost to Create: 1,800 gp, 144 XP, 4 days.

Noble Pennon

Price (Item Level): 5,000 gp (9th)

Body Slot: —; see text

Caster Level: 7th

Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) enchantment

Activation: Immediate (mental)

Weight: —

A lion rampant adorns this narrow, finely woven streamer.

At the touch of a paladin or knight (PH2 24), the image on this narrow banner changes to represent the coat of arms of its bearer. Once claimed, it can be transferred to a new owner only if the current owner is willing or the current owner dies. A pennon can be attached to a lance, carried by a cohort or follower, or flown as a standard from a saddle or any fixed object. Mounting a pennon is a standard action.

As long as a noble pennon flies within 60 feet of the knight or paladin who owns it, the save DC for his knight’s challenge increases by 1, and his smite evil attacks deal an extra 2 points of damage.

In addition, a pennon has 3 charges, which are renewed each day at dawn. Activating a pennon and spending 1 or more charges grants you a morale bonus on Fortitude or Will saves (your choice when activated) for 3 rounds.

1 charge: +2 morale bonus.
2 charges: +3 morale bonus.
3 charges: +4 morale bonus.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, heroism.

Aura: Strong; (DC 23) transmutation

Activation: — and standard (command)

Weight: 3 lb.

This elongated green lap harp is strung with gold. Twinkling red rubies adorn its frame.

This masterwork lap harp grants you a +2 circumstance bonus on Perform (string instruments) checks. If you have at least 14 ranks in Perform (string instruments), you can also command it to produce one of three spell effects (control weather, eye-bite, or repulsion), each once per day.

If you pick up an Ollamh harp but do not have 14 or more ranks in Perform (string instruments), the instrument bestows one negative level on you, which persists for as long as you hold it. This negative level never results in actual level loss, but it cannot be overcome in any way (including restoration spells) while the instrument is held.

Lore: See Anstruth harp (page 150).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, control weather, eyebite, repulsion, bard.

Cost to Create: 25,000 gp (plus 100 gp for masterwork harp), 2,000 XP, 51 days.

When you hold the orb in your hand and activate it, it transforms into a faintly glowing sphere of protection centered on you. The radius of this sphere can vary between 5 and 30 feet (and can be altered by you as a move action). All creatures and objects within the sphere take no harm from being in a hot or cold environment. They can exist comfortably in conditions between −50 and 140 degrees Fahrenheit, and their equipment is likewise protected.

An orb of environmental adaptation functions for up to seven consecutive days, after which it is dormant for seven days.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, endure elements.

PEARL OF BRAIN LOCK

Price (Item Level): 900 gp (4th)

Body Slot: — (held)

Caster Level: 3rd

Aura: Faint; (DC 16) enchantment

Activation: Standard (thrown)

Weight: —

This tiny pearl is engraved with the draconic symbol for the mind.

You can hurl a pearl of brain lock as a ranged touch attack with a range increment of 10 feet. If the target fails a DC 13 Will saving throw, the pearl seems to impact and then enter the flesh of the creature, dazing it for 3 rounds. This is a mind-affecting ability.
A flying creature affected by a pearl of breath crisis is allowed to descend to the nearest safe, level area rather than be dazed, while a swimmer incapable of breathing water is allowed to head directly for the surface. In either case, the creature is dazed for the remaining duration once it has reached safety.

Once activated, a pearl is expended and cannot be used again.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, daze monster or brain lock (EPH 81).

Cost to Create: 450 gp, 36 XP, 1 day.

Pearl of Breath Crisis

Price (Item Level): 2,000 gp (6th)

Body Slot: — (held)

Caster Level: 5th

Aura: Faint; (DC 17) enchantment, evocation

Activation: Standard (thrown)

Weight: —

A draconic rune representing the body has been carefully engraved on this small pearl.

You can hurl a pearl of breath crisis as a ranged touch attack with a range increment of 10 feet. If it strikes a humanoid that fails a DC 14 Will saving throw, the pearl seems to impact and then enter the flesh of the creature, compelling it to purge itself of breath. For the next 5 rounds, the creature can continue to breathe only by taking a standard action each round to do so. This is a mind-affecting ability.

At the end of each of the target’s turns in which it chooses not to consciously take a breath, it must succeed on a DC 14 Fortitude save or begin to suffocate, falling to 0 hit points and potentially dying in later rounds (DMG 304), as long as the duration continues. If the effect ends before a suffocating creature has died, the creature is no longer considered to be suffocating.

Once activated, a pearl is expended and cannot be used again.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, suggestion or crisis of breath (EPH 89).

Cost to Create: 1,000 gp, 80 XP, 2 days.

A brightly colored oasis complete with fruit-bearing desert trees and bright blue water covers the surface of this woven blanket. It smells slightly of old incense.

When you unroll this 10-foot-by-10-foot blanket and activate it, a 5-foot-by-10-foot tent springs from the blanket, along with a campfire, a bowl of dates, and a gallon of cool water. The tent functions in all ways as a Leomund’s tiny hut spell. The campfire burns continuously, never needing fuel, and the dates provide enough food to sustain a person for one day. When you speak the command word again, a personal oasis rolls back up into blanket form.

A personal oasis functions once per day for up to 10 hours.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, create food and water, Leomund’s tiny hut, produce flame.

Cost to Create: 2,300 gp, 184 XP, 5 days.

Pipes of Frenzied Revelry [Relic]

Price (Item Level): 3,100 gp (8th)

Body Slot: — (held)

Caster Level: 20th

Aura: Strong; (DC 25) enchantment

Activation: Standard (manipulation)

Weight: 1 lb.

This set of pan pipes is made of hollowed-out reeds lashed together with sturdy vines. Somewhere on the surface of each reed is the symbol of Olidammara.

When you play these pipes, you gain a +5 competence bonus on Perform (wind instruments) checks if you are chaotic neutral, neutral, chaotic good, or chaotic evil.

Relic Power: If you have established the proper divine connection, you can attempt a DC 25 Perform (wind instruments) check each round that you are playing the pipes. If you succeed, every living creature within 30 feet must make a successful DC 16 Will save or be affected as if by a confusion spell, with one exception: Whenever the die roll calls for the subject to attack another creature, the subject instead makes a mildly amorous advance (such as an embrace or kiss) toward the target creature. For each affected creature, this effect lasts as long as the piping continues (a standard action each round) and you are within 30 feet of that creature at the end of your turn. If your playing is interrupted, or you fail a Perform check and then resume piping with a successful check, every creature within 30 feet can make a new save attempt. Subjects that successfully save are immune to the pipes of frenzied revelry for the next 24 hours.

To use the relic power, you must worship Olidammara and either sacrifice a 5th-level divine spell slot or have the True Believer feat and at least 9 HD.

Lore: These pipes were originally created by a secretive order of bard/clerics devoted to Olidammara. For the past several centuries, members of the order have distributed them to musically inclined followers of the deity (Knowledge [religion] DC 15).

Rumor holds that a satyr named Elovan came into possession of a set of these pipes and used them to woo a fair princess while she was on a picnic in the woods with her court. Since then, members of that nation’s royal family have occasionally displayed odd physical quirks, such as unusually hairy legs and vestigial horns, as well as an unusual aptitude for music (Knowledge [religion] DC 20).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, Sanctify Relic, confusion.

Cost to Create: 1,550 gp, 124 XP, 4 days.

In addition, hundreds of needle-sharp quills sprout from your body. These quills enable you to deal 1d6 points of piercing damage with a successful grapple attack. This sooty, black powder comes in a small tin, which is set with pieces of jet in the shape of dark-colored goggles.
When you cast this sooty, black powder into an area, it creates a 10-foot-high cloud in a 10-foot spread, centered on you (but not moving with you). The cloud remains for 2d4 rounds, and any creature, other than you, caught in the area (or one that enters it) is blinded for as long as it stays in the cloud and for 1d4 rounds after it leaves (Will DC 15 negates). Once activated, a dose of this powder is expended and cannot be used again.
Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, blindness/deafness.
Cost to Create: 2,500 gp, 200 XP, 5 days.

PSYCHOACTIVE SKIN

This fist-sized blob of murky ectoplasm shimmers faintly in the light.

Once a psychoactive skin is donned, a deployed skin completely covers the wearer and all his equipment, but allows him to see, hear, and breathe normally. It rolls away from various parts of the body as needed, such as when the wearer needs to eat or access a backpack. Held items or items specifically excluded are not covered up.
Up to three skins can be worn simultaneously, although only the outermost is active in any given round (the powers of the hidden skins cannot be activated or accessed). Skin layers can be changed as a standard (mental) action, which causes the desired lower-layer skin to come to the surface.

This bright yellow crystal globe feels faintly warm to the touch.

These spheres are prized possessions of priests who worship a god of sun or light. As long as at least 1 charge remains (see below), a radiant sphere continuously sheds bright illumination in a 20-foot radius and shadowy illumination out to 20 feet beyond that. This effect requires no activation.

A radiant sphere has 3 charges, which are renewed each day at dawn. Spending 1 or more charges as a standard (command) action creates a ray of pure light that extends up to 60 feet. The ray requires a successful ranged touch attack.

1 charge: The ray deals 4d6 points of damage to any undead creature it hits.

2 charges: The ray deals 6d6 points of damage to any undead creature it hits.

3 charges: The ray deals 8d6 points of damage to any undead creature it hits.

Quiver of energy can hold up to 20 arrows or bolts. Each quiver imbues arrows or bolts drawn from it with a particular type of energy (acid, cold, electricity, or fire), indicated by the arcane symbols it bears. Such projectiles, if left within the quiver for at least 1 round before being drawn, deal an extra 1d6 points of the appropriate type of damage.

The projectile loses this extra damage after it is used in an attack, or 1 round after it is drawn (whichever comes first).

The rod generates fresh air within this space, so no chance of suffocation exists. This effect lasts for 10 minutes.

This black iron rod is 18 inches long and a half inch wide. It hums with suppressed power. A rod of force can be used five times per day. Each time you activate this rod, you can choose to create one of the following effects.

Blade of Force: Upon command, a 3-foot-long glowing blade of force springs forth from the rod. This “blade” can be used as a +1 brilliant energy longsword and lasts for 10 rounds. Activating this power is a swift (command) action.

Blast of Force: Upon command, a ray of force projects from the rod out to a maximum distance of 100 feet. This ranged touch attack deals 10d6 points of damage. Activating this power is a standard (command) action.

Wall of Force: This effect functions as the spell. Activating this power is a standard (command) action.

Prerequisites: Craft Rod, magic missile, Mordenkainen’s sword, wall of force.

Cost to Create: 30,000 gp, 2,400 XP, 60 days.

A rod of frost emits a beam of cold that can create a variety of effects.

Three times per day, you can fire a 30-foot line of frost from the rod. The line of frost deals 2d6 points of cold damage to all creatures in the area (Reflex DC 14 half). Natural fires in the area of the line are automatically extinguished, and open water in the area of the line freezes to a depth of 1 foot—thick enough for a Large creature to walk upon safely. The ice melts normally.

Prerequisites: Craft Rod, ray of frost.

Cost to Create: 700 gp, 56 XP, 2 days.

A rod of fumbling instills sudden clumsiness in a nearby creature. When you activate the rod, a chosen creature within 30 feet must immediately drop all items it holds (without waiting until its turn). A successful DC 15 Will save negates the effect. SHACKLES OF SILENCE

Price (Item Level): 6,000 gp (10th)

Activation: —

Weight: 2 lb.

These iron manacles look old, slightly rusted, and heavily dented.

A creature can slip free from shackles of silence with a successful DC 28 Escape Artist check, or break free with a successful DC 28 Strength check. However, if the creature bound by shackles of silence escapes by breaking them or using Escape Artist, the silence effect ends and the shackles ring for 1 round, as an alarm spell’s audible alarm. Broken shackles of silence lose their power after sounding this alarm, becoming nonmagical and useless.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, alarm, silence.

Cost to Create: 3,000 gp, 240 XP, 6 days.
SHARD OF THE SUN
[RElic]

Price (Item Level): 3,500 gp (8th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 20th
Aura: Strong; (DC 25) evocation
Activation: — or standard (command)
Weight: 1 lb.

This brightly glowing holy symbol of Pelor is made of hammered gold and set with small diamonds.

A shard of the sun is mentioned in several religious texts as “Pelor’s gift, which I carry into darkness—a sun that never sets.” When you hold this item, it continuously emits a warm light equivalent to a daylight spell heightened to 5th level, provided that you are neutral good, lawful good, chaotic good, or neutral. The symbol must be covered completely to douse its light.

Relic Power: If you have established the proper divine connection, you can command a shard of the sun to fire two simultaneous searing light spells, though each must be aimed at a different target. Each beam deals 10d6 points of damage to undead, 5d6 points to constructs and other creatures. Creatures particularly vulnerable to bright light, such as vampires, take 10d8 points of damage from these beams. This ability functions three times per day.

To use the relic power, you must worship Pelor and either sacrifice a 6th-level divine spell slot or have the True Believer feat and at least 11 HD. If you sacrifice an 8th-level spell slot or have the True Believer feat and at least 15 HD, you can fire four searing light beams with each activation (no two at the same target).

Lore: The first shards of the sun were hewn by Pelor himself from the orb of the sun and molded into the shape of his symbol. Over the centuries, he gifted them to his most favored high priests, and most of them remain in the hands of his clergy today (Knowledge [religion] DC 20).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, Sanctify Relic, daylight, searing light.
Cost to Create: 1,750 gp, 140 XP, 4 days.

SLASHING SAND

Price (Item Level): 50 gp (1/2)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 7th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) transmutation
Activation: Swift (command)

This tiny fragment of cast-off crystal glows with a miniscule bit of power.

When held, a skill shard telepathically whispers its command word into your mind. When you activate it, you gain a competence bonus on your next check with a specific skill, chosen during the item’s creation. The check must begin before the end of your turn and must be completed within 10 minutes. A skill shard disintegrates when used.

Normal: +2 competence bonus.
Greater: +5 competence bonus.
Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, specified skill 2 ranks (lesser) or 5 ranks (greater).
Cost to Create: 25 gp, 1 XP, 1 day (lesser); 150 gp, 6 XP, 1 day (greater).

SLIPPING SPIKE

Price (Item Level): 2,000 gp (6th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 10th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) transmutation
Activation: Standard (thrown)

A handful of thick, glassy black sand fills this minuscule bit of power.

When you fling slashing sand onto the ground, it covers an area of up to four contiguous squares with razor-sharp obsidian shards for 1 hour (the equivalent of a spike stones spell). At least one affected square must be adjacent to your space. Once activated, this item is expended and cannot be used again.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, spike stones.
Cost to Create: 1,000 gp, 80 XP, 2 days.

SLEEPING SPIKE

Price (Item Level): 3,500 gp (8th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 9th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) enchantment
Activation: Standard (manipulation)

This twisted wooden spike was carved from the misshapen limb of an ash tree.

A sleeping spike becomes invisible 1 round after you plant it firmly in the ground. Thereafter, as soon as any creature comes within 10 feet of it, the spike emits a sleep effect (Will DC 17 negates) in a 20-foot-radius burst that affects all creatures with 10 Hit Dice or fewer. The spike is destroyed when the sleep effect is triggered.

During the round that a sleeping spike remains visible after being planted, any creature can safely remove it from the ground (a standard action) to render it harmless and ready for reuse.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, symbol of sleep.
Cost to Create: 1,750 gp, 140 XP, 4 days.

SOUL ANCHOR

Price (Item Level): 10,000 gp (12th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 9th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) enchantment
Activation: Standard (command)

Thin iron bands twine around jagged fragments of jet-black obsidian to form the haft of this cruel-looking rod.

When you activate a soul anchor, each creature adjacent to you must succeed on a DC 18 Will saving throw or be unable to move from its current space for 1 round. Creatures that are flying or sinking when the spell takes effect are magically held in place. However, affected creatures are neither paralyzed nor entangled, so they can fight and cast spells normally.
The power of a soul anchor prevents all voluntary movement that would allow the affected creatures to leave their respective spaces (including teleportation magic or other spells and items that allow movement). However, it does not preclude involuntary movement, such as that resulting from a bull rush. If an affected creature is involuntarily moved out of its space for any reason, the effect on that creature ends immediately.

This ability functions five times per day, but it can’t be activated in consecutive rounds.

Prerequisites: Craft Rod, hold monster.
Cost to Create: 5,000 gp, 400 XP, 10 days.

SOULVOID ORB
Price (Item Level): 700 gp (3rd)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 3rd
Aura: Faint; (DC 16) necromancy
Activation: Standard (thrown)
Weight: 1 lb.

This black, fist-sized orb feels faintly greasy to the touch.

When you throw a soulvoid orb against a hard surface, it explodes in a shower of orange sparks that fills a 10-foot-radius burst. Each creature within that area is affected as if by a divest essence spell (Mol 101).

Lore: Soulvoid orbs were first created by the githyanki for use in a struggle with a splinter group of githzerai who had taken up the practice of meldshaping (Knowledge [the planes] DC 15).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, divest essence.
Cost to Create: 350 gp, 28 XP, 1 day.

SPHERE OF AWAKENING
Price (Item Level): 1,800 gp (5th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 9th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) abjuration
Activation: Swift (mental)
Weight: 1 lb.

This fist-sized sphere of crystal is perfectly clear.

A sphere of awakening allows you to silently rouse your allies from slumber, even if magically created. When you activate the sphere, all allies in a 60-foot-radius burst are immediately awakened from sleep (whether mundane or magical in origin). In addition, any fatigue or exhaustion affecting you and those allies immediately ends. Furthermore, you and all affected allies gain immunity to fatigue, exhaustion, and sleep effects for 10 minutes after the sphere is activated.

A sphere of awakening functions once per day.
Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, break enchantment.
Cost to Create: 900 gp, 72 XP, 2 days.

SPIDER ROD
Price (Item Level): 15,000 gp (14th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 9th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) necromancy
Activation: Standard (command)
Weight: 3 lb.

A complex relief of webs and tiny arachnids covers this silvery rod. Its surface is strangely sticky to the touch.

A spider rod has two different abilities that each function three times per day.

Silk Strand: The rod produces an entangling strand of silk as a ranged touch attack (range 100 feet). A target hit by this strand is entangled for 1 minute (Reflex DC 20 negates entanglement, but the creature’s speed is still halved for the duration of the effect). Treat this as a net attack, except that the strand has 15 hit points and takes double damage from fire.

Poison Touch: You can make a melee touch attack with the rod to deliver a virulent contact poison (Fort DC 16, 1d6 Con/1d6 Con).

Prerequisites: Craft Rod, poison, web.
Cost to Create: 7,500 gp, 600 XP, 15 days.

STENCH STONE
Price (Item Level): 300 gp (2nd)
Body Slot: — (held); see text
Caster Level: 3rd
Aura: Faint; (DC 16) necromancy
Activation: Standard (thrown) or — (ammunition)
Weight: —

This stone reeks of rotting meat.

A stench stone nauseates its target and sickens those nearby. The stone must be thrown (range increment 10 feet) or hurled from a sling (using that weapon’s normal range increment) as a ranged attack. If the stone strikes its target, it deals no damage but bursts into a cloud of noxious vapor. If a stench stone misses its target, it is consumed without effect.

Any living creature struck by a stench stone becomes nauseated for 1 round (Fort DC 13 negates). Regardless of the success or failure of the save, the target exudes a stench for 3 rounds that causes all creatures within 10 feet of it to become sickened for the remaining duration of the stench (Fort DC 13 negates). Creatures immune to poison are unaffected by stench stones; any effect that neutralizes or delays poison also protect against the effect.

Once activated, this item is expended and cannot be used again.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, ghouls touch.
Cost to Create: 150 gp, 12 XP, 1 day.

To use a spool of endless rope, you feed out as little or as much rope as desired, up to a maximum of 500 feet at any one time. When you are finished with the rope, you can simply wind it back onto the spool. (Feeding out or rewinding requires 1 full-round action per 50 feet of rope.)

The rope can’t be entirely separated from the spool, though it can be cut or broken like a normal silk rope. Any portion of rope cut away from the spool disappears instantly.

Rope from a spool of endless rope can be spliced or knotted together with another rope (including one from a second spool of endless rope), but it can’t be wound back into the spool while so attached.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, Lomund’s secret chest.
Cost to Create: 700 gp, 56 XP, 2 days.

To use a stench stone, you must have a spool of endless rope as a component, and the stench stone must be thrown or hurled into the area you wish to affect.

Each of the seven coils on this chain can be detached and thrown. When thrown, a coil explodes into a 30-foot line of lightning originating from you. Each creature in the area takes electricity damage based on the size of the coil (Reflex DC 14 half).

Each of the four smallest coils deals 3d6 points of damage. The next larger two each deal 5d6 damage, and the largest coil deals 7d6 points of damage.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, lightning bolt.

Cost to Create: 2,175 gp, 174 XP, 5 days.

STUNNING SPIKE

Price (Item Level): 9,000 gp (12th)

Body Slot: — (held)

Caster Level: 13th

Aura: Strong; (DC 21) enchantment

Activation: Standard (manipulation)

Weight: 1/2 lb.

This bronze spike sparks with static electricity. A stunning spike becomes invisible 1 round after you plant it firmly in the ground. Thereafter, as soon as any creature comes within 10 feet of it, the spike bursts into fragments, stunning all creatures in a 20-foot radius for 1 round (Will DC 20 negates). This effect destroys the spike.

During the round that a stunning spike remains visible after being planted, any creature can safely remove it from the ground (a standard action) to render it harmless and ready for reuse.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, symbol of stunning.

Cost to Create: 4,500 gp, 360 XP, 9 days.

SUMMONER’S TOTEM

Price (Item Level): 3,100 gp (8th)

Body Slot: — (held)

Caster Level: 3rd

Aura: Faint; (DC 16) conjuration

Activation: —; see text

Weight: 2 lb.

A boon for those who magically conjure animals to aid them in combat, a summoner’s totem allows instantaneous enhancement of your summoned allies. When you summon a single animal using a summon nature’s ally spell, you can cast another spell targeting the summoned creature as a swift action. The second spell must be no higher than 3rd level, it must target the summoned creature (and only the summoned creature), its casting time must be no longer than 1 standard action, and it expends the spell or spell slot as normal.

For example, immediately after summoning a brown bear with summon nature’s ally IV, you could cast bull’s strength upon that bear as a swift action (as long as you were adjacent to the bear). You couldn’t use the totem to cast obscuring mist (since that spell doesn’t target the bear).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, speak with animals, summon nature’s ally II.

Cost to Create: 1,550 gp, 124 XP, 4 days.

SURVIVAL POUCH

Price (Item Level): 3,300 gp (8th)

Body Slot: — (held)

Caster Level: 9th

Aura: Moderate; (DC 19) conjuration

Activation: Standard (manipulation)

Weight: 5 lb.

This pouch looks like it’s seen its share of rough use. It is tattered and stained from use in the wild.

Five times per day, you can reach into a survival pouch and retrieve your choice of one of the following items. You can draw out the same item five times in one day, draw out five different items, or produce any combination of up to five items.

Each item lasts for 8 hours or until indicated below, whichever comes first.

- Trail rations for one Medium creature for one day.
- Two gallons of water stored in a waterskin. The waterskin disappears if it is emptied completely.
- A tent and two bedrolls sized for Medium creatures.
- A 50-foot coil of hemp rope.
- A shovel.
- A campfire (about 2 feet square). The fire can be left to burn, or it can be pulled apart to produce eight lit torches. Each removed torch lasts for 1 hour and reduces the remaining burning time of the campfire by 1 hour. If the fire is extinguished, the unburnt portion vanishes.
- A composite shortbow (+1 Str bonus) and a quiver of 20 arrows. The bow disappears 1 round after the last arrow has been drawn from the quiver.
- A mule with bit, bridle, saddle, and saddlebags (treat as a summoned creature, except that it will not fight for you).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, major creation.

Cost to Create: 1,650 gp, 132 XP, 4 days.

TOME OF ANCIENT LORE [RELIC]

Price (Item Level): 5,500 gp (10th)
Body Slot: —
Caster Level: 20th
Aura: Strong; (DC 25) transmutation
Activation: 1 hour; see text
Weight: 2 lb.

This ancient, leather-bound book is stuffed to overflowing with yellowing sheets of parchment.

A boon to arcane spellcasters of all sorts, a tome of ancient lore contains every conceivable spell. Perusing it for 1 hour gives you a +5 competence bonus on Knowledge (arcana) and Spellcraft checks made that day, provided that you are neutral, neutral good, neutral evil, lawful neutral, or chaotic neutral. The hour spent studying the tome is in addition to any time you spend preparing spells.

Relic Power: Though the pages of this book contain all the world’s arcane knowledge, a tome of ancient lore is cursed with a deliberately confusing, ever-changing system of cross-referencing. Because its pages constantly rearrange themselves, apparently at random, finding any useful information by browsing the book is impossible. However, if you have established the proper divine connection, you can use a tome of ancient lore while preparing arcane spells to prepare a single spell that isn’t in your spellbook.

You have a 50% chance of finding any arcane spell of the highest level you can cast, and a 100% chance to find any other spell that you can cast. The book functions in this manner once per day.

To use the relic power, you must worship Boccob and either sacrifice a 5th-level divine spell slot or have the True Believer feat and at least 9 HD.

Lore: Allegedly penned by Boccob himself and “borrowed” from his library, the original tome disappeared for centuries. Eventually, copies began to appear in the possession of arcane colleges, spellcasting dragons, and powerful wizards (Knowledge [religion] DC 20).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, Sanctify Relic, secret page.

Cost to Create: 2,750 gp, 220 XP, 6 days.

TOME OF THE STILLED TONGUE [RELIC]

Price (Item Level): 7,500 gp (11th)
Body Slot: —
Caster Level: 20th
Aura: Strong; (DC 25) transmutation
Activation: See text
Weight: 5 lb.

This thick, leather-bound manuscript has a particularly disgusting decoration—a desiccated tongue nailed to its front cover.

A tome of the stilled tongue is a treasure trove of arcane potential. If you are neutral evil, chaotic evil, lawful evil, or neutral, the book reveals full instructions for creating a lich’s phylactery and offers 500 blank spell pages that function like those in Boccob’s blessed book (DMG 249).

Relic Power: A tome of the stilled tongue also contains directions for eldritch mental exercises designed to strengthen your spellcasting. If you have established the proper divine connection and read the appropriate section of the tome (requiring 1 hour of mental exercises), you can increase your effective caster level for all spells by 1 for 24 hours. However, because the exercises are mystically strenuous, doing them reduces your full normal hit point total by 1 per character level while the caster level increase is in effect. This ability functions once per day.

To use the relic power, you must worship Vecna and either sacrifice a 5th-level divine spell slot or have the True Believer feat and at least 9 HD.

Lore: The grisly cover decoration on the original tome of the stilled tongue once belonged to a former cleric of Vecna who couldn’t keep her order’s secrets. Now five copies are known to exist, but the origins of the other four tongues have never been revealed (Knowledge [religion] DC 20).

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, Sanctify Relic, Scribe Scroll, secret page.

Cost to Create: 3,750 gp, 300 XP, 8 days.

Price (Item Level): 1,500 gp (5th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 3rd
Aura: Faint; (DC 16) transmutation
Activation: 1 minute or 1 standard action; see text
Weight: 1 lb.

This small book is bound in hammered silver and engraved with the continents of the world.

A tome of worldly memory allows you to call upon the secret memories of the world to aid you in unlocking forgotten knowledge. By studying the book for 1 minute, you gain a +5 competence bonus on a single Knowledge check. The tome functions three times per day.

If you have at least 5 ranks in the Knowledge skill in question, you need only peruse the book as a standard action to gain its benefit.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, fox's cunning.

Cost to Create: 750 gp, 60 XP, 2 days.

TOMEBOUND EYE OF BOCCOB

Price (Item Level): 7,000 gp (11th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 7th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) enchantment
Activation: Standard (command)
Weight: —

The watchful Eye of the Uncaring One staring out from this seal.

When affixed to a wizard's spellbook, this seal provides a focus for arcane energy. A tomebound eye of Boccob has 3 charges, which are renewed each day at dawn. Spending 1 or more charges when you prepare your wizard spells from a spellbook to which a tomebound eye is attached grants one or more spells a competence bonus on caster level checks to overcome a target's spell resistance.

1 charge: Gain a +4 competence bonus on your caster level check to overcome spell resistance.

2 charges: Gain a +6 competence bonus on your caster level check to overcome spell resistance.

3 charges: Gain a +8 competence bonus on your caster level check to overcome spell resistance.

You can divide the 3 charges between spells, or spend all three to enhance a single spell. For example, you could grant three spells each a +4 bonus, one spell a +6 bonus and another a +4 bonus, or a single spell a +8 bonus. No spellbook can have more than one of these items affixed to it, and you can't gain benefits from more than one eye in a given day.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, ability to prepare 3rd-level arcane spells.

Cost to Create: 3,500 gp, 280 XP, 7 days.

TROLL GUT ROPE

Price (Item Level): 500 gp (3rd)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 7th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) conjuration
Activation: Standard (command)
Weight: 7 lb.

Troll Gut Rope

One end of this pile of pungent-smelling intestines has been tied with an intricate knot.

Once per day, you can command this 50-foot rope to grow up to 350 feet in length. Any length beyond the original 50 feet decays to nothingness after 12 hours. If the large knot on one end is ever untied or cut open, the rope's magic is destroyed.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, minor creation.

Cost to Create: 250 gp, 20 XP, 1 day.

TRUELIGHT LANTERN

Price (Item Level): 36,000 gp (17th)
Body Slot: — (held)
Caster Level: 11th
Aura: Moderate; (DC 20) divination
Activation: — and standard (command)
Weight: 3 lb.

True Light Lantern

This lantern is elaborately crafted from flame-touched iron, burnished to a silvery hue. A continuous, translucent white flame flickers within, though it sheds no heat.

A true light lantern continually emanates bright light as a continual flame spell. Its true power can be activated by speaking the word "reveal" in Celestial. Once it is activated, a true light lantern provides bright illumination in a 60-foot cone and shadowy illumination for another 60 feet beyond that. Everything within the 60-foot cone of bright illumination can be seen as if all viewers were under the effect of a true seeing spell. This effect lasts for 10 minutes.

A true light lantern can normally be activated once per day, but can be activated additional times if a true seeing spell is cast into it (overriding the normal targeting restriction of the spell). Each casting of true seeing allows a lantern to be activated one more time per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, true seeing.

Cost to Create: 18,000 gp, 1,440 XP, 36 days.

WILDING CLASP

Price (Item Level): 4,000 gp (8th)
Body Slot: —
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) transmutation
Activation: —
Weight: —

Wilding Clasp

This 3-inch-long gold chain has a clasp on each end.

A wilding clasp can be attached to any item worn on the body. When worn, a clasp prevents the worn item from melding into your new form when you use wild shape (as long as the item could reasonably be worn by the new form). Thus, the item remains fully functional and can be used normally in your new form.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, wild shape.

Cost to Create: 2,000 gp, 160 XP, 4 days.
A magic item set consists of three to six thematically linked magic items that provide extra bonuses or effects when worn together. The abilities scale or accumulate with the number of items worn. A character gains a particularly potent effect when all the items of a set are worn or used together.

Armor of the Watching Master

Those who wear the armor of the watching master know what it feels like to be in command and to sense what others miss. They possess unnatural sight and unusual powers to blind, burn, and bully their enemies. Individually, each piece of the armor of the watching master provides a useful ability, but only those with the full set know its true powers.

The armor of the watching master works best in the hands of a barbarian or other melee warrior. As medium armor, a breastplate of terror allows a barbarian to use his fast movement ability, and its damage reduction stacks with the barbarian’s. The armor of the watching master also provides other advantages useful to any melee-oriented character, such as frightening or blinding foes, ignoring hardness, and overcoming damage reduction. Note that the Strength bonus provided by the armor of the watching master can be increased using the rules in Chapter 6.

Lore

Characters who have ranks in Knowledge (arcana) or Knowledge (the planes), or who have the bardic knowledge ability, can research the armor of the watching master to learn more about these items. When a character succeeds on a check, the following lore is revealed, including the information from lower DCs.

DC 15: The first set of the armor of the watching master belonged to a powerful elf paladin who returned from planar travel wearing the items. The paladin founded an organization devoted to guardianship and order, and sets of the armor of the watching master became standard issue for the highest-ranking members of that group. The organization, called the Watchful Eyes, collapsed due to internal strife one hundred years ago, and now sets of this armor continue to appear from time to time in the hands of various individuals.

DC 20: The Watchful Eyes collapsed because many of its paladin members became blackguards at about the same time that its founder vanished. Lacking leadership and warring internally, the group eventually disintegrated.

DC 25: Stories persist that the founder of the organization was the first to fall from grace, and that she returned from the planes tainted by evil. The stories don’t say how she managed to hide this from other members of the organization.
Watchful Eyes or why she founded the group, but supposedly the dark side of the Watchful Eyes persists as a cultlike order of barbarians and blackguards who wear pieces of the armor of the watching master as a sign of their devotion to the cult.

DC 30: A check result of 30 or higher reveals the location of another piece of the set. Use this to drive further adventure and direct the PCs toward some location or story you would like them to explore.

COLLECTION BENEFITS

Wearing pieces of the armor of the watching master allows you to command or frighten foes, blind and burn enemies, or crush objects that impede your vision. Wearing the entire set grants you vision that can pierce invisibility.

When all four pieces of the armor are worn, the staring eyes marking each item appear to come to life, becoming bloodshot, yellow-pupiled orbs that look around of their own accord.

2 Pieces: You gain a +2 bonus on initiative checks.

4 Pieces: You gain a +5 competence bonus on Spot checks. Once per day, you can speak the command word of "Cabiri" and activate the armor with a standard action to gain the effect of a see invisibility spell for 3 minutes.

BREASTPLATE OF TERROR

Price (Item Level): 13,200 gp (14th)
Body Slot: Body
Caster Level: 5th
Aura: Faint; (DC 17) necromancy
Activation: --- and immediate (mental)
Weight: 30 lb.

This adamantine breastplate bears an emblem of a wide, staring eye surrounded by raised rays of glittering mithral.

As a +1 adamantine breastplate, this item grants damage reduction 2/—. A breastplate of terror’s damage reduction stacks with damage reduction gained as a class feature (but not from any other source). For example, a 10th-level barbarian would have damage reduction 4/—.

In addition, once per day immediately after you have been damaged by a melee attack, you can activate this armor to render a foe that just wounded you frightened for 1 round. If the enemy succeeds on a DC 20 Will save, it is shaken for 1 round rather than frightened.

Prerequisites: Craft Magic Arms and Armor, cause fear, possession of a piece of the set.
Cost to Create: 1,500 gp (plus 10,200 gp for adamantine breastplate), 120 XP, 3 days.

WOUNDING SIGHT

HELM OF

If a character must somehow pay for the ability, collecting the additional abilities to feel like he has paid too much for his items. Their value is not added to the costs of the items in the set. We don’t want a player whose item set components have not yet yielded any additional abilities to feel like he has paid too much for his items. If a character must somehow pay for the ability, collecting the set feels more like working off a debt than seeking something fun. Instead, the balancing factor of the sets comes from the PC using his item slots for the items of the set instead of items that might be more advantageous.

The value of a collection benefit stays within certain boundaries. The collection benefit for two pieces should equal roughly 25% of the cost of the cheapest item or combination of items you need to reach the threshold of gaining the ability. The capstone ability of the set might be as much as 30% of the value of the most expensive item in the set.

Each of these spiked steel gauntlets has an embossed image of an eye on its back. Each eye has an emerald for a pupil. Gauntlets of destruction grant you a +2 enhancement bonus to Strength.

In addition, you can activate the gauntlets to enable the next melee attack made during your turn to overcome damage reduction and ignore hardness as if the attack were made with an adamantine weapon. This ability functions three times per day.

Gauntlets of destruction are masterwork spiked gauntlets and can be used as a weapon. You can enhance a gauntlet beyond its base abilities by using the rules for crafting a magic weapon, but each gauntlet must be enhanced separately.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, Item creation, bull’s strength, shatter.

Cost to Create: 1,750 gp, 140 XP, 4 days.

MASK OF MASTERY

Price (Item Level): 3,500 gp (8th)

Body Slot: Face

Caster Level: 5th

Aura: Faint; (DC 17) enchantment

Activation: Standard (command)

Weight: 1 lb.

This steel half-mask covers only the lower face. Over the wearer’s mouth, an emblem depicting a large eye with a crystal for its pupil stares forth.

Wearing a mask of mastery causes the wearer’s voice to sound more commanding and authoritative, adding a +5 competence bonus on Intimidate checks.

When activated, this mask allows you to utter a command (as the spell; Will DC 20 negates). Unlike the command spell, this effect is not language-dependent—the target needs only to be able to hear you. This ability functions once per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, command, possession of a piece of the set.

Cost to Create: 3,250 gp, 260 XP, 6 days.

HELM OF WOUNDING SIGHT

Price (Item Level): 6,500 gp (10th)

Body Slot: Head

Caster Level: 5th

Aura: Faint; (DC 17) evocation

Activation: Standard (command)

Weight: 2 lb.

This steel helmet covers all of the wearer’s head but the face. A single huge eye with a crystal pupil is embossed on the helm’s forehead.

When a helm of wounding sight is activated, the embossed pupil sheds light with the brightness of a light spell until it is commanded to cease or the helm is removed.

In addition, three times per day, a helm of wounding sight can be activated to emit an instantaneous 60-foot-long cone of bright, burning light. This cone deals 26d6 points of fire damage and blinds all creatures in the area for 1 round. Creatures that succeed on DC 20 Reflex saves take half damage and are dazzled for 1 round.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, light, burning hands, possession of a piece of the set.

Cost to Create: 3,000 gp (plus 610 gp for two masterwork spiked gauntlets), 240 XP, 6 days.

ARRAY OF THE MANTICORE

This striking set of magic items grants you the freedom of the skies and the power to wreak havoc from above. Crafted in honor of their namesake creature, the array of the manticore is tailored for the individual who fights in the air or fights airborne foes, bestowing the ferocity of a manticore and its fearsome sting.

Characters focused on making ranged weapon attacks get the most benefit from the array of the manticore. Scouts and ranged sees the most benefit, since an airborne scout can skirmish more easily and a ranger’s combat styles prove useful.

LORE

Characters who have ranks in Knowledge (arcana), or who have the bardic knowledge ability, can research the array of the manticore to learn more about these items. When a character succeeds on a check, the following lore is revealed, including the information from lower DCs.

DC 15: A hobgoblin sorcerer crafted the first array of the manticore for his favorite bugbear bodyguard. This bugbear rode a tamed manticore into battle, and it seemed fitting to the hobgoblin to reward his servant’s skill and bravery with a tribute to his ferocity.

DC 20: A group of humans and halflings attacked the goblinoid stronghold. The goblins were eventually defeated, but only after many of the invaders died from the javelins and spikes cast down upon them from the air. The few survivors divided up the array of the manticore among themselves, not understanding the power the items held when worn together. When one of the halflings inherited a second piece from a fallen companion, she discovered the power of feather fall granted by possessing two pieces of the array. When this knowledge spread among the others, infighting broke out, and eventually only two remained. They made a truce, and each parted to investigate the means of creating the missing companion pieces. In this way, use and knowledge of the array spread.

DC 25: Although the array of the manticore bears no curse or magic that makes one vulnerable, legend says that the hobgoblin who created the first set also created a spell whereby he could command the movements of the wearer by impelling the items to move, accomplishing a jerky, puppetlike control over a wearer’s body. This spell also prevented the items from being removed. Many have sought the spell or attempted to recreate it, but no one is known to have succeeded.

DC 30: A check result of 30 or higher reveals the location of another piece of the set. Use this to drive further adventure and direct the PCs toward some location or story you would like them to explore.

Wearing any two pieces of the array of the manticore grants you freedom from the threat of falling damage. Wearing the full set allows you to call upon a manticore for aid, bringing it into battle on swift wings to rain death down upon your foes.

2 Pieces: You function as though perpetually affected by a feather fall spell (CL 5th). You can negate or renew this power as a swift (mental) action.

The manticore has damage reduction 10/magic and gains a +5 competence bonus on attack rolls. FIVE VIRTUES

Whether brave or meek, you will wake to valor when girded with the five virtues, legendary implements of courage brandished by knights of a previous age. When the five virtues are worn in part or in whole, bold heroism blazes within your chest.

These five items were created to help knights uphold their values. The abilities granted by the set bolster various abilities of that class (PH2 24), but the items are also useful for warriors of other disciplines.

LORE

Characters who have ranks in Knowledge (nobility and royalty), or who have the bardic knowledge ability, can research the five virtues to learn more about these items. When a character succeeds on a check, the following lore is revealed, including the information from lower DCs.

DC 15: In an age now past, an order of knights was chartered to defend against illithid incursions. For hundreds of years, the knights fought against all manner of infiltration, control, and even attempts at invading small border kingdoms. Through it all, the knights prevailed, relying on their code to give them strength and resolve. This code was a manifestation of five virtues upon which the order was founded.

Those virtues came to be embodied in a special set of magic items called, appropriately enough, the five virtues. The items exemplified honor, freedom, valor, vigilance, and sacrifice.

DC 20: The knightly order is long gone, and even its name is lost to history. However, archivists have studied relics found in the ancient ruins of their stronghold. Through knowledge gained thereby, they learned about the lost virtues of the knights. Archivists suspect, based on clues unearthed in their delvings, that some or all of the five virtues might yet be found in far-separated keeps, or perhaps in isolated treasures of long-lived subterranean monsters.

DC 25: Recently, a group of miners opened a new face on a coal seam they had found long ago. Almost immediately they broke into a cavity long sealed from the surface. The cavity contained a warm, salty lake in which eyeless, albino, many-legged creatures swam. Unable to plumb the lake’s depth, the miners did find an ancient ruin on the lake’s edge—one sort of fortress, calcified under years of dripstone. In it they found some barely preserved records of the knightly order. The incomplete records claimed a dead mind flayer community lay sealed beneath the lake, and within that carcass of ancient evil lay one or more pieces of the five virtues stolen from the knights.

DC 30: A check result of 30 or higher reveals the location of another piece of the set. Use this to drive further adventure and direct the PCs toward some location or story you would like them to explore.

COLLECTION BENEFITS

The wearer of the five virtues gains benefits that aid his ability to fight honorably and help his allies.

When you wear two pieces of the set, your eyes shine and sparkle with bravery. When you wear all five virtues and activate the power of the shield of vigor, the virtues take on a silvery sheen as if lit from a plane where valor and virtue rule supreme.

2 Pieces: You gain a +1 morale bonus on Will saves.

5 Pieces: Adjacent allies gain a +1 bonus to AC.

FLEET WARRIOR’S ARRAY

The fleet warrior’s array is a work of art, both in craftsmanship and magic. Apart, the items prove a great boon, but together they make their wearer as swift as the wind and just as elusive. The items in this set enable the elf warriors it was designed for to move exceptionally quickly, as well as to fight effectively under any conditions and in all types of terrain. While wearing this set, these warriors were almost impossible to capture or even slow down.

The fleet warrior’s array should appeal to virtually any character, though spellcasters get less benefit from bracers of blinding strike than adventurers who focus on weapon attacks. Rogues and other stealthy characters in particular should consider the fleet warrior’s array. Gaining an extra sneak attack while flanking can be critical, and the benefits to mobility provided by the array allow a rogue to focus less on skills such as Tumble and Escape Artist, and instead invest in other useful skills.

LORE

Characters who have ranks in Knowledge (arcana), or who have the bardic knowledge ability, can research the fleet warrior’s array to learn more about these items. When a character succeeds on a check, the following lore is revealed, including the information from lower DCs.

DC 15: The fleet warrior’s array was created by an elf kingdom for a legion of warriors chosen for their speed and endurance. Called the Green Runners, these warriors received special training that built upon their talents. They were noted for tirelessly running long distances and for acting as expert scouts and commandos. The Green Runners were the kingdom’s elite fighting force, and bands of Green Runners were occasionally sent to aid the kingdom’s allies.

The warriors received pieces of the fleet warrior’s array as an indication of rank. The highest-ranking members owned all three and were elevated out of the ranks of the legion to serve as an elite cadre of Green Runner guards for the royal family. Each of the elves in this group effectively held the rank of general and acted as an advisor to the king and queen, a position to which every Green Runner could aspire.

Tales of the Green Runners have traveled widely, and in many of the lands surrounding their former kingdom, elves and half-elves tell tales of their bravery and prowess. An elf or half-elf wearing an item from the fleet warrior’s array is often mistaken for one of the Green Runners by those who know the stories.

DC 20: When the elf kingdom was conquered by its enemies, the Green Runner generals went into hiding, taking with them the pregnant queen and the last hope of preserving the dynasty. They vanished into the depths of a huge and ancient forest, and efforts to locate their hideout proved futile.

When the Green Runners fled into the forest with the elf queen they split into many small groups to confuse their pursuers. The group that guarded the queen never rejoined the rest, and now the Green Runners who remain search for clues to what happened to their leader and her child. If the queen gave birth, the royal heir would now be an adult, perhaps ignorant of his or her heritage.

DC 25: Some say that the Green Runner generals were traitors to the elf kingdom, and they kidnapped the queen for some personal gain. Those who tell these tales blame the fall of the empire on the generals, because the king lacked his best fighters and advisors when the kingdom was attacked and was forced to divide his attention between two foes. That the Green Runners now seek the queen and her child there can be no doubt, but whether the Green Runners who seek them are the generals or those from the rank and file, none can say.

GARAB OF THE HUNTING CAT

Although made of mere steel and skin, the garab of the hunting cat presents a powerful combination of abilities that makes any wearer a deadly predator. This garab gives you the rending claws, incredible stealth, and hunting ability of a tiger. While anyone can wear the garab and become like the best, only the most skilled combatants can use the abilities of the garab of the hunting cat to their fullest.

Characters of any melee-oriented class can find the garab of the hunting cat useful, but the set provides benefits most suited to rangers, rogues, ninjas, and scouts.
Feats that help you capitalize on the set's abilities include Spring Attack and Two-Weapon Fighting.

LORE

Characters who have ranks in Knowledge
(arcana), or who have the bardic knowledge ability, can research the garab of the hunting cat to learn more about these items.
When a character succeeds on a check, the following lore is revealed, including the information from lower DCs.

DC 15: The garab of the hunting cat first came to light due to a number of shocking attacks upon human and elf settlements.
The countryside was terrorized by strange, tigerlike people who would slaughter whole villages. The creatures were difficult to track and, when overmatched, vanished into thin air. When at last one was killed, the victors discovered not a monster but a man wearing the garb of the hunting cat.

Claw gloves

DC 20: Those who attacked the elves and humans were members of a cult of rakshasa worshipers. Each of the cultists was outfitted with a set of the garb of the hunting cat, and participating in a “hunt” against other humanoids was a necessary part of the rite of passage to receive a set. Most of the sets ended up in the hands of those who survived cultist assaults and were later sold. Many who now wear parts of the garb of the hunting cat are ignorant of the set’s bloody history.

DC 25: The rakshasa at the center of the cult was confronted, but it escaped and might still be alive. It’s said that the evil creature can be recognized in any form it adopts because its natural form has pure white fur without stripes, and it seems incapable of creating hair with any pigment when it adopts another shape.

Many of those who have collected the entire garb of the hunting cat set have died by the claws of some kind of animal. Stories abound of hunting trips gone wrong, supposedly domesticated beasts going wild, and even of terrible bloody deaths behind locked doors that no animals should be able to penetrate. The common thread through all these stories is that the death occurred when the owner of the garb was not wearing it. If the rakshasa is at fault, as many suspect, its motives remain a mystery because the pieces are always left behind with the body of their owner.

DC 30: A check result of 30 or higher reveals the location of another piece of the set. Use this to drive further adventure and direct the PCs toward some location or story you would like them to explore.

COLLECTION BENEFITS

The garb of the hunting cat provides you with a deadly rending attack and the power to disappear from sight. When wearing the entire garb of the hunting cat, you take on the appearance of a humanoid tiger during combat. When this occurs, the fur on the various items appears to be that of a living creature, making you appear something like a bestial rakshasa or weretiger.

2 Pieces: If, during your turn, you hit a single foe with both a primary claw glove attack and an off-hand claw glove attack, the second attack rends, dealing an extra 3d6 points of damage. You can rend only once per round.

3 Pieces: Once per day, you can use invisibility on yourself (CL 3rd) as a standard (mental) action.

Gharyn’s Monastic Array

The half-moon-shaped blade of the kama is dangerous enough, but it becomes deadly when infused with the power of ki. When wielding this array of monastic tools, you become as the wind: at times violent and unstoppable, at other times a darting blur of speed.

Gharyn’s monastic array is most useful for a monk, especially one who uses a kama to enhance her hand-to-hand fighting. Each of the items allows its wielder to better mimic the natural movements of a certain animal, and some wielders believe that by mimicking motions found in nature, they will be able to merge their physical and spiritual consciousnesses.

Lore

Characters who have ranks in Knowledge (arcana), or who have the bardic knowledge ability, can research Gharyn’s monastic array to learn more about these items. When a character succeeds on a check, the following lore is revealed, including the information from lower DCs.

DC 15: The original monastic array was discovered amid the ashes of a fallen monk known as Gharyn. He died sacrificing his life to protect his brother monks from the wrath of a red dragon. Many believe the dragon’s fire charged Gharyn’s array with magical power.

DC 20: The Monastery of the Lone Dove, a haven for ascetic monks devoted to Pelor, had strict policies of asceticism, silence, and discipline. Brothers ate two bowls of rice per day, were allowed to speak ten words outside of prayer, and had to be in their chambers by sundown. Some brothers chafed under this strict regimen. One was a monk named Gharyn.

Gharyn didn’t believe such restrictions applied to him. While he espoused the support of law and order, he felt the monastery’s stricures were meaningless, and he claimed they even hindered the success of a lawful society. Needless to say, this belief did not make him particularly popular among his very conservative and traditional brothers. He knew that a change was needed, but that it had to occur gradually for the brothers to accept it.

Gharyn slowly altered his behavior and routine. He substituted barley for his bowl of rice and used long, multisyllabic words for his ten per day. He was in his room by sundown, but stayed up well past midnight.

While many brothers objected to his actions, Gharyn developed a cult following in the monastery. He began to train his supporters in unusual fighting styles from around the world. He urged them to reject meaningless stricures, but encouraged people to follow the greater rules of society. This was not a rejection of order as much as an acknowledgment of the universe’s true laws and mysteries.

The Monastery of the Lone Dove had begun proceedings to expel Gharyn, but fate stepped in when a flight of rampaging dragons attacked. Many of the monks, so used to their daily routines, were unable to conduct a proper defense against a siege by dragons. Gharyn took charge and led the monks in battle, proving an able leader. In the end, he sacrificed himself by shielding the other monks from the breath of a red dragon. His sacrifice gave by shielding the other monks from the leader. In the end, he sacrificed himself to conduct a proper defense against a few dragons attacked. INSTRUMENTS OF THE BLOOD GIFT

The three instruments of the blood gift fuel magic through personal sacrifice. When precious blood is spilled, magical energy is unleashed. With the proper instruments, that energy can be harnessed, directed, and used toward ends both foul and fair.

The instruments of the blood gift are most useful for sorcerers who want to further enhance their sorcery—if they aren’t too squeamish to sacrifice their own blood. Characters of draconic origin can also make use of the instruments’ power, regardless of class.

LORE

Characters who have ranks in Knowledge (arcana), or who have the bardic knowledge ability, can research the instruments of the blood gift to learn more about these items. When a character succeeds on a check, the following lore is revealed, including the information from lower DCs.

DC 15: The instruments of the blood gift were created by a sorcerer named Palamandius, who used the principle behind their manufacture to free himself and other sorcerers from the tyranny of a mysterious group called the Wizards of the Pure.

In truth, the Wizards of the Pure did more than seek—they sent out agents to secretly round up a sampling of sorcerers and other spontaneous spellcasters. Across many lands, sorcerers of power large and small went missing.

The captives found themselves bound within the confines of a dead zone where magic, both inborn and learned, was suppressed. There they were housed, without explanation and without hope of release. The Wizards of the Pure hoped that they could kill a creature’s talent for sorcery if the flame was doused long enough. All the kidnapped sorcerers served the Pure as subjects in this hateful experiment.

Fortunately for the captives, one among them, a spellscalé (see Races of the Dragon) named Palamandius, possessed particular talent. In his dreams, he could almost taste again the magic that once ran in his blood. In those dreams, he found salvation. Using the power of his own blood to wake and catalyze his suppressed sorcery—even within the dead magic zone—he blasted himself and his companions free. Unprepared for the escape, the Pure saw its power base destroyed.

With the insight gained while in captivity, Palamandius crafted his item set, which is powered through a sacrifice of blood. As a result, he named them the instruments of the blood gift.

DC 20: A cabal known as the Wizards of the Pure sought to eliminate all inborn magical talent in the world. The cabal despaired all those who came by their magic from birth without study or sacrifice—they equated such gifts with devilish pacts and demonic corruption. The Pure spoke of the dangers of uncontrolled magical ability and “untrained talent.”

DC 25: A scattering of surviving members of the Wizards of the Pure still lurk in large cities and villages. Now and then, one or more of them, working alone or in temporary alliance, decides to murder a passing sorcerer out of fear and rage over the splintering of their once-powerful cabal.

DC 30: A check result of 30 or higher reveals the location of another piece of the set. Use this to drive further adventure and direct the PCs toward some location or story you would like them to explore.

3 Pieces: You can expend a sorcerer spell slot as a swift (command) action to heal yourself of a number of points of damage equal to twice the spell slot’s level. This ability functions three times per day.

This blood rage can’t be ended prematurely except by unconsciousness or any effect that would end a rage (such as a chill emotions spell). Unlike a barbarian’s rage, the blood rage doesn’t limit your actions in any way.

While in a blood rage, a character gains a +5 morale bonus on melee weapon damage rolls. However, each affected creature also takes 5 points of damage each round at the end of its turn as its own body suffers under the strain. If you are a sorcerer or you have the dragon-blood subtype (see Races of the Dragon or Dragon Magic), you also gain a +5 morale bonus on damage with your arcane spells while in a blood rage created by bands you wear.

Bands of the blood rage function three times per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, rage, sorcerer or dragonblood subtype, possession of a piece of the set.

Cost to Create: 1,300 gp, 104 XP, 3 days.

Barbs of Retribution

Price (Item Level): 4,500 gp (9th)

Body Slot: Hands

Caster Level: 7th

Aura: Moderate; (DC 18) necromancy

Activation: Immediate (mental)

Weight: 1 lb.

These barbed chains are forged of reddish metal.

Each time you don barbs of retribution, they deal 1 point of damage to you. This damage can’t be healed as long as you wear these barbed hand wrappings.

When you activate barbs of retribution and sacrifice a sorcerer spell slot of 2nd level or higher, you can force an enemy within 30 feet to reroll a saving throw that just succeeded, with a penalty equal to half the level of the spell sacrificed. This effect manifests as a stream of arcane energy flowing from your hands toward the target.

If you have the dragonblood subtype (see Races of the Dragon or Dragon Magic), you can instead sacrifice your own hit points when activating the barbs. You must sacrifice at least 5 hit points, and the rerolled save is made with a penalty equal to –1 per 5 hit points expended (maximum –5 for 25 hit points spent). This effect manifests as a stream of fiery blood flowing from your hands toward the target.

Barbs of retribution function once per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, bestow curse, sorcerer or dragonblood subtype, possession of a piece of the set.

Cost to Create: 2,250 gp, 180 XP, 5 days.

Blood Claw Choker

Price (Item Level): 12,000 gp (13th)

Body Slot: Throat

Caster Level: 12th

Aura: Strong; (DC 21) necromancy and transmutation

Activation: — and swift (mental)

Weight: —

This unusual device appears to be some sort of amulet worn as a choker necklace. However, sharp barbs point inward, and look capable of shredding muscle and flesh.

Each time you don a blood claw choker, it deals 1 point of damage to you. This damage can’t be healed as long as you wear the item.

A blood claw choker grants you a +2 enhancement bonus to your Constitution score. This effect functions continuously.

In addition, when you activate a blood claw choker, you regain any one sorcerer spell slot that you have already used today (up to a maximum of 5th level). The slot becomes available as if you had never cast a spell of that level. At the time you activate it, the choker deals damage to you equal to twice the level of the spell regained. This ability functions twice per day.

Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, bear’s endurance, vampiric touch, possession of a piece of the set.

Cost to Create: 6,000 gp, 480 XP, 12 days.

Raiment of the Four

The items of the raiment of the four are energized by the four cornerstones of the world: earth, sky, sea, and sun. When you don pieces of the four, you become more attuned with reality itself, even gaining a measure of control over it.

Individual items from the raiment are useful to any character, and the entire set is particularly useful for druids, rangers, and any other spellcasters who travel to difficult, dangerous places.

Lore

Characters who have ranks in Knowledge (arcana) or Knowledge (nature), or who have the bardic knowledge ability, can research the raiment of the four to learn more about these items. When a character succeeds on a check, the following lore is revealed, including the information from lower DCs.

DC 15: A charismatic druid named Alain made his home in the village of Ra’anan. The village was the target of various natural disasters—droughts, floods, tornados, and more. Alain was able to fend off many of these disasters because of his bond with nature. One night a vision came to him, instructing him in the methods to create a set of magic items tied to the earth, sky, sea, and sun. Following the instructions from his vision, Alain traveled to the four corners of the world to gather the necessary components for each item. Once constructed, the raiment of the four aided Alain in his exploits, which eventually expanded beyond the small village in which he was born. With the raiment he could travel safely through deadly areas of the world, and survive once there. Alain... traveled the worlds for the rest of his days, never again returning to Ra’anan.

DC 20: Alain’s spirit is said to be drawn to pieces of the raiment. If all four pieces are brought together, Alain’s spirit can communicate with the wearer, imparting secrets of the multiverse.

DC 25: The orc shaman Grotarb the Sly once wore the raiment of the four, but only briefly. The orcs of Grotarb’s tribe heard strange cries in the night from the shaman’s private cavern. The next day, the orcs of the tribe found the drowned, burned, and partly dismembered body of their shaman, but no pieces of the raiment. It’s said to this day that Grotarb’s dark spirit is sometimes drawn to those who find two or more pieces of the raiment, hoping to visit upon them the same harm that the great spiritual force visited upon him.

DC 30: A check result of 30 or higher reveals the location of another piece of the set. Use this to drive further adventure and direct the PCs toward some location or story you would like them to explore.

COLLECTION BENEFITS

Wearing multiple pieces of the raiment of the four grants you an increasing number of protections derived from aspects of the sky, sun, sea, and earth.

When you wear all four parts and use a belt of the wide earth to teleport, it seems as if a pillar of fire strikes down from the sky to engulf you (and anyone else being transported). When the flame dissipates, the travelers are gone.

2 Pieces: You gain resistance to cold 5; this stacks with any similar resistances you have from your race, class, or template.

3 Pieces: You gain resistance to cold 5 and electricity 5, which stacks as described above.

4 Pieces: You gain resistance to cold 5, electricity 5, and fire 5; 1/day commune (4 questions)

RAIMENT OF THE STORMWALKER

To wear the raiment of the stormwalker is to become the storm. With it, you can travel on the thunderclouds and strike foes like lightning. Cloaked in clouds, booming like thunder, and crackling with electricity, you become a tempest.

The raiment of the stormwalker works best in the hands of a monk, druid, or other character who enters melee but prefers not to wear armor. In particular, a druid should consider the items of this set, as its powers are available while in wild shape. However, a character of any class should consider collecting at least two pieces of the set to gain some of the raiment’s lesser collection benefits and the abilities of the desired items.

LORE

Characters who have ranks in Knowledge (arcana) or Knowledge (nature), or who have the bardic knowledge ability, can research the raiment of the stormwalker to learn more about these items. When a character succeeds on a check, the following lore is revealed, including the information from lower DCs.

DC 15: The first Stormwalker was a half-orc druid. Unwelcome in the societies of both parents, he learned to live in the wilderness. The seasons were his teachers, and the beasts his family. The half-orc brought the rains to wash away his father’s village and a lightning strike to consume his mother’s home. Then he took the storm as his symbol and came to be known as the Stormwalker. He crafted the first raiment of the stormwalker for himself, and since his death, the secrets of its creation and the title of Stormwalker have been passed on to others.

DC 20: The first Stormwalker was killed by his half-sister in revenge for his deadly attack on their human mother’s home. She was killed out of vengeance as well, dying at the hands of the Stormwalker’s orc father, who desired the power of his son’s creations. The secrets of the raiment thus passed into the possession of both orcs and humans, and now druids of both races claim the Stormwalker title, crafting items with the same name.

DC 25: An inescapable vortex of vengeance seems to follow those who wear the whole raiment. No curse can be detected on the items, but putting on the whole raiment and becoming one of the Stormwalkers always seems a harbinger of trouble to come. Old enemies return and the wearer soon finds that once-fast friends become foes.

DC 30: A check result of 30 or higher reveals the location of another piece of the set. Use this to drive further adventure and direct the PCs toward some location or story you would like them to explore.

COLLECTION BENEFITS

Wearing multiple pieces of the raiment of the stormwalker gives you the power to create clouds, call down electricity from the sky, and laugh off lightning strikes.

When you wear the entire raiment of the stormwalker, the robe of thunder flashes with lightning that crackles across the other parts of the raiment.

All the collection benefits of the raiment function normally for and can be activated by a druid while in wild shape, even if the items have melded with her form and would otherwise be considered nonfunctional.

2 Pieces: You can use obscuring mist (CL 5th) as a standard (mental) action three times per day.

3 Pieces: You can use call lightning (CL 5th) as a standard (mental action) once per day.

4 Pieces: You take only half damage from electricity. If such an attack allows a save for half damage, you instead take no damage on a successful save.

During this time, your melee and ranged attacks gain the shock property (DMG 225). Even your melee touch attacks deal this extra electricity damage.

Cost to Create: 5,500 gp, 440 XP, 11 days.

When activated, a robe of thunder surrounds you in an invisible, faintly rumbling aura of thunder that lasts for 5 rounds (Listen DC 10 to hear the aura). Prerequisites: Craft Wondrous Item, air walk, possession of a piece of the set.

Cost to Create: 25,000 gp, 2,000 XP, 50 days.
REGALIA OF THE HERO

The three pieces of the regalia of the hero are excellent tools for inspiring trust in others. The trappings aid their wearer by enabling him to aid others. Through mere desire, the wearer can inspire trust and greatness, and pull victory from seemingly insurmountable odds.

The regalia of the hero is useful for a bard or a marshal (MH 11), or anyone who wants to motivate allies (or oneself) to greater heights of ability and increase his chance of success.

LORE
Characters who have ranks in Knowledge (arcana), or who have the bardic knowledge ability, can research the regalia of the hero to learn more about these items. When a character succeeds on a check, the following lore is revealed, including the information from lower DCs.

DC 15: The three items of this set belonged to a courageous soldier named Reynard. He sacrificed his life to allow his fellow soldiers to escape from an army of orcs. Many believe that his sacrifice empowered the regalia, allowing them to inspire future generations.

DC 20: Bards fondly recall in song and prose the Coalition of the Bulwark, whose brave sacrifices enabled the defeat of a great orc invasion. One of the great heroes of the war was a young soldier named Reynard Ellison.

Reynard served as an elite scout for the army, but his best talents lay elsewhere. His songs were electrifying, his words calmed fears, and his very presence in combat seemed to steady the hands of his allies on their weapons.

During the war, Reynard conducted a raid into the heart of the orcs’ offense. The raid successfully discovered the orc’s plans and codes, but before the raiders could retreat, the creatures mounted a fierce counterattack. Reynard fought in the rear guard as they retreated, his encouraging shouts and skill with his blade allowing his fellow soldiers to escape. Reynard, however, failed to return through the breach. While holding off the enemy, he was slain by the throng of orcs.

The pillaged plans and codes allowed the Coalition of the Bulwark to finally thwart the invasion. In the aftermath, some of Reynard’s items were recovered, including his helm, horn, and badge. The intensity of Coalition members’ thankfulness and remorse over Reynard’s loss is said to have directly transfigured the items, creating the item set now called the regalia of the hero.

DC 25: The Coalition of the Bulwark persists yet, always vigilant to the possibility of another great orc invasion into civilized lands. The Coalition seeks accomplished spies and adventurers to supplement their own patrols. They occasionally send such groups into orc-infested wilderness to monitor the orcs and gauge the probability of a new leader arising who could pull their disparate tribes together. Anyone applying at the Fortress of the Bulwark could be assigned such a mission, as well as given aid and assistance in the fulfillment of that mission.

DC 30: A check result of 30 or higher reveals the location of another piece of the set. Use this to drive further adventure and direct the PCs toward some location or story you would like them to explore.

COLLECTION BENEFITS
Wearing multiple parts of the regalia of the hero awakens your ability to inspire and command others. When you wear two items, your eyes sparkle with the clarity of conviction, and your posture straightens with confidence. When you sound a horn of resilience while wearing the other two pieces, all three items flash with gold light, like the promise of sunrise chasing away night’s dreary doubts.

2 Pieces: You can grant a single ally within 30 feet (other than yourself) a +5 insight bonus on a single attack, save, or skill check as an immediate (command) action. This ability functions once per day.

3 Pieces: You use a standard (command) action to grant a single ally within 30 feet (other than you) an extra move action, taken immediately. (If you have the marshal’s grant move action class feature, this benefit instead affects all allies within 30 feet of you.) This ability functions once per day.

kingdom, spreading knowledge of the regalia of the phoenix to foreign lands.

DC 25: The forgotten kingdom of legend was an elf empire, and some say that the Phoenix Queen’s lover also survived the assassin’s quarrel. According to some, the lover was true to his pitiless mistress, and the assassins tricked him into asking the queen to remove her mask. Rumors persist that this elf lives still, clutching to life despite his extreme age and the call of his ancestors, hanging on with the inhuman strength that only a thirst for vengeance can give. It’s said he seeks any who would dare profit from the assassins’ foul deed by using any piece of the regalia or its copies. When he finds them, he snuffs out their lives as calmly as one might blow out a candle.

DC 30: A check result of 30 or higher reveals the location of another piece of the set. Use this to drive further adventure and direct the PCs toward some location or story you would like them to explore.

COLLECTION BENEFITS
Wearing parts of the regalia of the phoenix grants its owner protection from fire and even the immunity to flames that the legendary phoenixes enjoy. When a creature wears all the pieces of the regalia of the phoenix and wields the talon scepter, all the items appear to transform into pure fire, and the phoenix cloak takes on the shape of fiery wings. Should the user of the whole regalia fall in battle, her body seems to be consumed by that fire and then remade, whole and hale again, in a burst of ruby-colored light.

2 Pieces: When you are dealt fire damage, the set automatically provides you with resistance to fire 5 against that attack only. This ability functions five times per day.

3 Pieces: When you are dealt fire damage, the set automatically provides you with immunity to fire against that attack only. This ability functions five times per day.

4 Pieces: The regalia automatically produces a heal effect (CL 11th) on you if you are reduced to 0 to –9 hit points. This ability functions once per day.

SEVEN VEILS
Bright and diaphanous, the seven veils are magic made physical. Split from light by a god and sown onto the world like seeds, the veils represent the promise of power for wizards and other spellcasters.

Wizards get the most benefit from the seven veils. Although any arcane spellcaster might benefit from some or all of the veils—and would appreciate the versatility granted by wearing the entire set together—a wizard typically has the greater variety of spells necessary to put the veils to best use.

Each of the seven veils corresponds to one of the colors that signify the various effects of a prismatic spell, such as prismatic eye (SC 161), prismatic mist (PH2 121), prismatic ray (SC 162), prismatic spray, and prismatic wall.
LORE

Characters who have ranks in Knowledge (arcana), or who have the bardic knowledge ability, can research the seven veils to learn more about these items. When a character succeeds on a check, the following lore is revealed, including the information from lower DCs.

DC 15: It’s said the first seven veils were drawn from a rainbow by Boccob himself. The Lord of All Magics then let the veils fall to the earth, each fluttering down to a particular wizard. The seven veils correspond to the seven colors of the rainbow and the seven colors created by spells such as prismatic wall. Each veil grants an ability modeled after the effect of a color of a prismatic spell. Each veil also guards its wearer from that color’s effect if she is the subject of a prismatic spell.

DC 20: Three of the wizards who received one of the seven veils decided to craft their own sets, but four of them chose instead to try to claim the six veils Boccob gave the others. A series of battles ensued, and in the end two wizards possessed complete sets while the rest lay dead. The extra pieces that had been created were left unclaimed, and so they fell into the hands of others.

DC 25: The two wizards who managed to claim full sets both became liches. This turn of events is considered a coincidence by most, but some wonder if wearing all seven veils might somehow induce this state. Those who concern themselves with such things wonder if Boccob truly created them, or if perhaps Wee Jas crafted them for some purpose of her own. Both deities remain silent on the matter, and no one else is known to have worn a full set.

DC 30: A check result of 30 or higher reveals the location of another piece of the set. Use this to drive further adventure and direct the PCs toward some location or story you would like them to explore.

COLLECTION BENEFITS

The veils are potent items that improve your magical versatility, giving you the resources to overcome any obstacle. Wearing multiple veils improves your magical skill and focus, grants you resistance to some types of energy damage, and eventually allows you to treat the veils as a potent runestaff.

3 Pieces: You gain a +2 competence bonus on Concentration, Knowledge (arcana), and Spellcraft checks.

5 Pieces: You gain resistance 5 to acid, electricity, and fire.

7 Pieces: You can use the seven veils like a runestaff (see page 223) to cast cone of cold, daylight, disintegrate, dispel magic, gust of wind, magic missile, and passwall each once per day by spending your own arcane spell slots of equal or higher level.

The vestments of divinity are a set of halowed items that allow you to deny sin, wage war against evil, and put an end to malevolence wherever it is found. The vestments of divinity are most useful if you are a good-aligned cleric or a paladin, since they enhance your divine abilities to combat evil and destroy undead. However, any character can appreciate the benefits of at least some of the items in this set.

Characters who have ranks in Knowledge (arcana) or Knowledge (religion), or who have the bardic knowledge ability, can research the vestments of divinity to learn more about these items. When a character succeeds on a check, the following lore is revealed, including the information from lower DCs.

DC 15: The vestments of divinity were revealed to a holy man named Reesh N’Faeren in a vision. He spent years tracking down each sacred relic until he gathered them all.
CHAPTER 5
MAGIC ITEM

DC 20: When Reesh N’Faeren was a child, his village was terrorized by flail-wielding cultists calling themselves the Heralds of Hell. The cult was eventually driven off, but not before Reesh’s family was taken from him. Reesh was spared, but he grew into an adult with an unflinching hatred of all those unaligned with his own sense of righteousness. His purity of purpose was given expression in the temple where he began training as a cleric. One night, while still an acolyte, Reesh received a vision, imparting to him vague knowledge concerning the location of five sacred relics. He was given to understand that if he gathered all the items together, he could use them to destroy the Heralds of Hell.

Reesh spent years adventuring, following treasure maps, tracking leads, and following up clues, until he finally located all the items his vision had shown him years before. With these vestments, Reesh set out to fulfill the penultimate quest of his life. Whether he succeeded or ultimately failed, history does not record.

DC 25: A group of destruction worshippers called the Heralds of Hell has cells in several large cities. The Heralds utilize both devils and undead in their destructive rites. Some time back, several of their cells were eradicated by a holy vigilante. It’s unclear whether this vigilante was Reesh N’Faeren himself, or someone to whom Reesh passed along his vestments. Ultimately, a few cells escaped destruction, and the vigilante disappeared. It is whispered that he was killed in a conflict with the cult, and that the cells of the Heralds that remained each took one of the vestments, hoping to ensure that no one could gather them all together again.

DC 30: A check result of 30 or higher reveals the location of another piece of the set. Use this to drive further adventure and direct the PCs toward some location or story you would like them to explore.

COLLECTION BENEFITS

Wearing the vestments of divinity grants you powers that bolster your ability to battle evil creatures, from a stronger resolve against their attacks to a stronger resistance against their machinations. With each new item added, you gain additional divine confidence. When all five pieces are worn together, your body takes on a silvery sheen, and your eyes become the color of glowing aquamarine.

2 Pieces: You gain a +1 sacred bonus on saves against effects created by evil creatures.

5 Pieces: Your melee attacks deal an extra 1d6 points of damage to evil creatures.

Wraith’s Woe

The items that make up the wraith’s woe live up to the name, making you a deadly enemy both to spirits and the walking dead. However, although they were constructed to battle undead, the items in the set are useful in encounters with a variety of creatures, both living and unliving.

Wizards, sorcerers, and other spellcasters who have poor Fortitude saves likely benefit from this set the most, since they are in more danger from the necromantic powers typically possessed by undead. Also, level drain reduces a spellcaster’s effectiveness dramatically, whereas a fighter or other character focused on physical attacks can likely still get by even with the penalties of negative levels. Finally, ghaunlets of ghost fighting offer a rare opportunity for spellcasters to affect incorporeal foes normally. A set of the wraith’s woe makes a good investment for any character preparing to face undead. The relatively low prices of the items make purchasing particular pieces an option even for a low-level party. You might consider having a few characters purchase the different pieces of wraith’s woe and then having the PC who suffers the most from the attacks of undead put on all the items to restore ability damage and drain.

Lore

Characters who have ranks in Knowledge (arcana) or Knowledge (religion), or who have the bardic knowledge ability, can research the wraith’s woe to learn more about these items. When a character succeeds on a check, the following lore is revealed, including the information from lower DCs.

DC 15: The first example of this set was created over a century ago by a human mystic theurge who devoted herself to hunting undead after her family was slain by wraiths. This mystic theurge founded a holy order devoted to battling undead and created sets of the wraith’s woe for those who joined her quest. Members of this order had to earn items from these sets by slaying a sufficient number of undead while also adhering to the order’s ideals of bravery, self-sacrifice, and compassion for innocent mortals.

DC 20: The order, known as the Blades Against Death, still exists. Composed mainly of paladins and clerics, the order sponsors adventurers of every stripe in quests against undead. Adventurers who perform well are often offered membership in the organization and granted... pieces of the wraith’s woe, much as the order’s founder rewarded the original members. Being a member has other benefits, since Blades Against Death has decades of experience confronting undead, and its members have learned much during that time that can aid those who share their cause.

DC 25: High-ranking members of the Blades Against Death have been heard to speak of the order’s founder as though she still lives and speaks to them. If it’s true, she must be undead herself, for no human could live so long. Those who openly suggest this possibility are labeled blasphemers by the Blades Against Death and exiled from the order. Such individuals are then never seen again, leading some to think that the Blades Against Death is capturing or killing these ex-members. Of course, to suggest such or question the order about how it handles blasphemers causes a member to be labeled a blasphemer, a fate all members take great pains to avoid.

DC 30: A check result of 30 or higher reveals the location of another piece of the set. Use this to drive further adventure and direct the PCs toward some location or story you would like them to explore.

COLLECTION BENEFITS

Wearing two pieces of the wraith’s woe grants you the ability to know where undead hide and to pierce their disguises. Wearing the whole set also allows you to undo the effects of encounters with undead that damage or drain ability scores.

A character wearing all of the wraith’s woe takes on a haunted and pale appearance. “You look like you’ve seen a ghost” is commonly heard by those who regularly dress in all three pieces.

2 Pieces: You can activate wraith’s woe as a standard (mental) action to cure all ability damage you have, as well as restore all points drained from a single ability score of your choice. This ability can be used once per day.

3 Pieces: You can activate wraith’s woe as a standard (mental) action to cure all ability damage you have, as well as restore all points drained from a single ability score of your choice. This ability can be used once per day.

SHIRT OF WRAITH STALKING

Price (Item Level): 6,000 gp (10th)

Weight: 1 lb.

Cost to Create: 3,000 gp, 240 XP, 6 days.
Magic items don’t function by themselves—they typically require some effort or action on the part of their owner. Generally, using a magic item has four separate steps: identifying the item, wearing the item, activating the item, and resolving the item’s effect. Each of these steps is discussed in detail below.

Of course, to use a magic item, you have to get your hands on it. Later sections of this chapter discuss how to place magic items in the campaign, how to buy and sell them, and how to create and improve them.

IDENTIFYING ITEMS

When PCs find magic items as treasure, they need to determine what the items do. The following methods are available to identify magic items.

Skill Checks: Certain skills allow a character to accurately identify an item.

Knowledge (arcana): A character can attempt a DC 30 Knowledge (arcana) check to determine if she remembers reading of an item at one point during her studies. A successful result might give a hint to the item’s function or reveal every detail about it. This method is most appropriate for legendary items or items that have a traditional shape associated with their function.

Search: You might allow close study of an item to provide some information. A command word could be etched in tiny letters on the inside of a ring, or a feathered design might hint that an item allows its wearer to fly. In such a case, a successful DC 15 Search check should reveal the clue.

Spellcraft: A character using the detect magic spell can attempt a Spellcraft check to determine the school of magic associated with the item’s powers. If the character exceeds the DC for this check by 10 or more, the character magically divines the item’s functions, its means of activation, and the number of charges remaining.

A character can also use Spellcraft to identify potions. The DC is 25, the check takes 1 minute, and she cannot retry if she fails.

Use Magic Device: If a character succeeds on a Use Magic Device check to activate a magic item and exceeds the DC by 5 or more, the character magically divines the item’s functions, its means of activation, and the number of charges remaining.

Bardic Knowledge: While not quite as useful as the skills discussed above, a successful bardic knowledge check might reveal the backgrounds, functions, and means of activating legendary or otherwise well-known items. If the item is standard equipment for a well-known faction or person, the DC is 20. If the item is uncommon or ancient, but many items like it are in circulation, the DC is 25. If the item is known only in legend, the DC is 30 or higher. A successful result should reveal something of the item’s history and give at least a hint about the item’s function.

Spells: Spells are the most reliable way to identify items.

Detect Magic: Obviously, the easiest way for characters to discern whether an object is magic is to use detect magic.
When focused on an item, a character can attempt a Spellcraft check to determine the school (or schools) of the highest-level spell (or spells) involved in the item’s creation, as well as the strength of the item's aura (based on its caster level). Also, a character making such a check can divine the function of an item by succeeding by 10 or more.

When a character uses detect magic on a magic item, the information you provide often serves as a clue to a smart player for identifying the item. See the detect magic spell description, PH 219, for details.

Identify: The identify spell determines the functions, means of activation, and number of charges remaining for any item of less than artifact power. It takes an hour to cast and has an expensive material component, but it’s also the surest way to identify most magic items. See the identify spell description, PH 243, for details.

Analyze Dweomer: This spell functions like identify, but the casting time is shorter, there’s a focus rather than an expensive material component, and the caster can determine the properties of several items with one casting of the spell. This spell is the swiftest and surest way to identify many magic items. See the analyze dweomer spell description, PH 197, for details.

Hired Help: The PCs might want to consult bards, sages, or high-level spellcasters to identify items through the means outlined above. Such NPCs might also know some details or rumors about an item’s history. They always want something in return for this information. The prices for spellcasting services are noted on page 129 of The Player’s Handbook and described in more detail on page 130. If an NPC can identify the item without using spells, the character might ask for an amount of gp equivalent to the typical spell cost. Of course, an NPC might instead demand some service or trade instead of money.

DM Explanation: It might be simpler to tell the players what an item is. This approach is particularly useful when the item provides a bonus you must track on actions the PC is already taking. If you have a PC using an unidentified +2 short sword, for example, use this option when it becomes a burden for you to keep mentally adding +2 to all the character’s attack rolls and damage rolls with that unidentified (to him) item.

Trial and Error: The last refuge of desperate characters with an unidentified magic item, this process is often comical, but it can become an annoying waste of time. The trial-and-error process usually entails a PC attempting to use the item. A character hoping that the cloak he’s just found is actually wings of flying might say, “I put the cloak on and jump up and down, flapping my arms.” Previous D&D supplements, including the Dungeon Master’s Guide, have advised rewarding clever characters who pursue this line of inquiry. As long as you and the players find trial and error to be a fun method of learning about magic items, that’s still fine advice. If, however, your players turn it into a tedious checklist (“Now I try to breathe underwater. Now I try to walk up the wall. Now I think about turning invisible. No luck? Maybe it only works for dwarves; Tordek, now you try it.”), it’s time to step in and move the game along. It’s perfectly reasonable to rule that until a character has determined a magic item’s powers, command word, or other secrets in one of the manners noted above, no amount of crazy experimentation will help.

MAGIC ITEMS AND DETECT MAGIC

When detect magic identifies an item’s school of magic, this information refers to the school of the spell placed within the potion, scroll, or wand, or the prerequisite for the item’s creation. The description of each item provides its aura strength and the school it belongs to. For items you create, if more than one spell is given as a prerequisite, the highest-level spell used in the item’s creation determines the strength of the item’s aura. If no spells are included in the prerequisites, use the following default guidelines.

Item Nature | School
---|---
Armor and protective items | Abjuration
Weapons or offensive items | Evocation
Bonus to ability score, on skill check, and so on | Transmutation

BODY SLOTS

Each item’s description has a Body Slot entry that describes what part of the body it must be worn on to function. A normal humanoid creature has twelve body slots, enumerated here with some examples of the kinds of items that might be worn there (for nonhumanoid creatures, see Size and Shape, below).

Arms: armlets, bracelets, bracers.

Body: armor, robes.

Face: goggles, lenses, masks, spectacles, third eyes.

Feet: boots, sandals, shoes, slippers.

Hands: gauntlets, gloves.

Head: circlets, crowns, huts, headbands, helmets, phylacteries.

Rings (2 slots): rings.

Shoulders: capes, cloaks, mantles, shawls.

Throat: amulets, badges, brooches, collars, medals, medallions, necklaces, pendants, periaps, scarabs, scarfs, torcs.

Torso: shirts, tunics, vests, vestments.

Waist: belts, girdles, sashes.

Each body slot can accommodate only a single active magic item (except for the rings body slot, which allows two active rings, worn one on each hand or both on the same hand). Additional magic items could be worn in the same body slot, but only the first-worn item confers its magical abilities upon the wearer.

Some body slots are described as a matched pair of body parts (such as arms, feet, or hands). If an item uses one of these body slots, it takes up both “halves” of the body slot even if worn on only one of the pair. For example, a glove of storing takes up the entire hands body slot, even though it’s only one glove. Similarly, items that come in pairs must be worn together in order to function—wearing a single gauntlet of ogre power has no effect.

The Magic Item Record Sheet on page 286 indicates all the valid body slots a character can use. Feel free to photocopy this page for your personal use; it can provide a useful visual aid to remember what your character is wearing and where.

Some items—particularly those that have a limited number of uses per day—indicate that they must be worn for a certain length of time before they can be used. This attunement period prevents characters from treating them as disposable tools to be donned and stowed repeatedly throughout the day.

NONWORN MAGIC ITEMS

Some magic items aren’t worn on the body, but are instead carried or held by the owner to gain their benefit. Such items have one of the following entries on the Body Slot line.

---
The item functions or can be activated as long as it is carried somewhere on your body (but not if it’s stored in an extradimensional or nondimensional storage space, such as a bag of holding). Some rare items in this category might describe a particular manner in which you must carry them for the item to function (such as iron stones).
ITEM PROPERTIES

Properties are part of another item (a weapon, shield, or suit of armor), and they function or can be activated as long as the item is worn or held properly. A shield property offers no benefit if the shield is slung over your shoulder, and a weapon (typically) doesn't offer any benefit if it's sheathed.

Instead of a body slot entry, a property has a property entry, which describes the types of items to which this property can be applied. Unlike most other items, properties have no weight.

SIZE AND SHAPE

Most of the time when a magic item is discovered, a character's size or shape shouldn't be an issue. As a rule, size should not keep overweight characters, characters of various genders, or characters of various races from using magic items. Players shouldn't be penalized for choosing a halfling character or deciding that their character is especially tall, so as a rule any magic item automatically adjusts to fit its wearer.

A few exceptions to this rule are given below.

Armor: As long as you're the same size category and the same general shape as the armor's original owner, the armor functions normally for you. Halflings can wear armor made for goblins, and centaurs can wear armor made for wemics. However, inappropriately sized or shaped armor can't be worn. Armor doesn't resize to fit a wearer of a different size category, nor does armor constructed for a humanoid-shaped creature fit a nonhumanoid-shaped creature. In cases where a nonhumanoid-shaped creature tries to wear armor created for another nonhumanoid, you must use your best judgment. A blink dog could certainly fit into barding crafted for a riding dog or other Medium quadruped, but it probably couldn't wear armor crafted for a Medium monstrous spider.

Weapons: Weapons don't change size to match the wielder. You can wield an inappropriately sized weapon with a penalty (see PH 113). Regardless of a weapon's size, as long as you can hold a weapon you can activate its abilities; for example, a human could still activate the wishes held within a Large luck blade even though he couldn't wield it in combat.

Shields: Like weapons, shields don't change size to match the wielder. Unlike with weapons, you gain no benefit from using an inappropriately sized shield. You can use the following table to determine the size of armor, shields, and weapons found at random. However, it's usually best to choose the size for an item by determining who in the adventuring group could get the most use out of it.

*DM's choice

As a default rule, treat creatures of any shape as having all the normal body slots available. Creatures never gain extra body slots for having extra body parts (for example, a marilith still has only one hands body slot and two rings body slots). For unusual cases, here are some guidelines to help a DM particularly dedicated to details:

Amorphous Creatures: Creatures without any shape, such as most ooze and the phasm (in its normal form), have no body slots and can't wear magic items at all.

Armless Creatures: Creatures without forelimbs, such as snakes, don't have the arms, hands, or rings body slot (but see multilegged creatures, below). A creature with only a single forelimb retains these body slots, and can wear both of a pair on the same limb (such as both gloves on the same hand, and so on).

Fingerless Creatures: Creatures without flexible digits or extremities, such as horses, lack the rings body slot. A creature need not be able to manipulate objects to wear rings—a hell hound can wear a ring on a toe of its forelimb.

Headless Creatures: Creatures without an identifiable head, such as shambling mounds, lack the face, head, and throat body slots.

Legless Creatures: Creatures without hind limbs, such as lillends, don't have the feet body slot.

Multilegged Creatures: Creatures with more than two legs can treat their foremost pair of limbs as their arms (allowing them access to the arms, hands, and rings body slots), even if those limbs are used for locomotion rather than for manipulation. Creatures with multiple legs that also have arms (such as centaurs or driders) don't lack any body slots.

ACTIVATING MAGIC ITEMS

To use a magic item, it must be activated, although sometimes activation simply means putting a ring on your finger. Some items, once donned, function constantly. In many cases, using an item requires an action of some kind. You cannot activate an item that you do not properly possess, hold, or wear. A rod or wand must be held in your hand, a cloak must be worn on your back, and so on. Some items merely require that you carry them on your person but not specifically worn in a slot or carried in a hand (in a backpack, floating around your head, and so on). Each item in this book describes how you must carry it to benefit from its capabilities in the Body Slot entry of its description. A “—” indicates that the item merely needs to be carried on your person.

Every magic item in this book has an Activation entry in its description that describes the type of action necessary (if any) to activate the item and the means of activation. The action type might be standard, full-round, move, free, swift, or immediate. For definitions of standard, full-round, move, and free actions, see pages 138–139 of the Player's Handbook. Swift and immediate actions are described in the sidebar on page 220.

Following the action type is a parenthetical descriptor that further describes the means of activation; these are described below.
CHAPTER 6
USING MAGIC ITEMS

A description of how they work follows.

[Action Type] (manipulation): Activating this type of item requires some physical manipulation of it, such as moving an immovable rod or pulling a patch from a robe of useful items. This movement is similar to the somatic component of a spell, in that you need a free hand to perform the action.

[Action Type] (mental): This type of item merely requires that you will it to function. Activating the item is a purely mental action. You can use the item in the area of a silence spell, while grappled, while paralyzed, and so on, as long as you have control of your own thoughts.

[Action Type] (spell completion): This is the activation method for scrolls. A scroll is a spell that is mostly finished. The preparation is done for the caster, so no preparation time is needed beforehand as with normal spellcasting. All that’s left to do is perform the short, simple, finishing parts of the spellcasting (the final gestures, words, and so on). To use a spell completion item safely, a character must be of high enough level in the right class to cast the spell already. If he can’t already cast the spell, there’s a chance he’ll make a mistake (see Scroll Mishaps, DMG 238, for possible consequences).

Activating a spell completion item provokes attacks of opportunity exactly as casting a spell does. You cannot activate a spell completion item if you would normally be prevented from casting the spell (for instance, you’re in the area of a silence spell and the spell has a verbal component).

[Action Type] (spell trigger): Spell trigger activation is similar to spell completion, but it’s even simpler. No gestures or spell finishing is needed, just a knowledge of spellcasting and a single word that must be spoken. This means that if a wizard picks up a spell trigger activation item (such as a wand or a staff) and that item stores a wizard spell, she knows how to use it. Specifically, anyone with a spell on his or her spell list knows how to use a spell trigger item that stores that spell. (This is the case even for a character who can’t actually cast spells, such as a 3rd-level paladin.) The user must still determine what spell is stored in the item before she can activate it.

Activating a spell trigger item does not provoke attacks of opportunity.

— (ammunition): This type of item must be fired from a projectile weapon, such as a bow, crossbow, or sling. It activates in flight or upon reaching its target. Activating magic ammunition requires no special action; such items are activated as part of the action of firing the projectile weapon. Some kinds of magic ammunition can also be activated by throwing them (see below).

[Action Type] (thrown): This type of item must be thrown and is activated upon impact or in flight. It has the same options for targeting as a splash weapon (PH 158).

Throwing an item is a ranged attack and provokes attacks of opportunity. Unless stated otherwise, a thrown item is destroyed after its effect is resolved, and it cannot then be reused.

RESOLVING THE EFFECT

A magic item’s description either specifically details its effect when activated or refers you to a particular spell, power, class feature, or other entry to learn the effect. Don’t assume that just because a spell is a prerequisite that the item necessarily replicates that spell—in many cases, the spell is simply the closest reasonable effect to the item’s power.

SAVE DCs ANDcaster LEVELS

Most item descriptions indicate the save DC (if any) for the item’s powers. In cases where the save DC isn’t given, the DC is 10 + (1–1/2 × the level of the spell or effect [rounded down]). (Effe-

SWIFT AND IMMEDIATE ACTIONS

These action types were introduced in previous supplements. A description of how they work follows.

Swift Action: A swift action consumes a very small amount of time, but represents a larger expenditure of effort and energy than a free action. You can perform one swift action per turn without affecting your ability to perform other actions. In that regard, a swift action is like a free action. However, you can perform only a single swift action per turn, regardless of what other actions you take.

Immediate Action: Much like a swift action, an immediate action consumes a very small amount of time, but represents a much larger expenditure of effort and energy than a free action. Unlike a swift action, an immediate action can be performed at any time—even if it’s not your turn.

Using an immediate action on your turn is the same as using a swift action, and it counts as your swift action for that turn. You cannot use another immediate action or a swift action until after your next turn if you have used an immediate action when it is not currently your turn (effectively, using an immediate action before your turn is equivalent to using your swift action for the coming turn). You also cannot use an immediate action if you are currently flat-footed.
AUGMENT CRYSTALS

BEHIND THE CURTAIN: AUGMENT CRYSTALS

Augment crystals offer characters a cheap method of improving weapons and armor. Unlike adding a normal armor or weapon property, buying and using an augment crystal doesn’t require making a permanent decision about the item—if it later proves uninteresting, it can be sold or traded to help pay for a more powerful crystal or item.

The “swappable” nature of augment crystals also allows a character to be prepared for more eventualities. Paying for the ghost touch weapon property is not only a significant investment in gold, but also feels like wasted space whenever the characters aren’t fighting shadows and wraiths. On the other hand, a lesser true death crystal (page 66) provides the same effect but can be swapped for another crystal when you don’t face incorporeal creatures. Even low-level characters can afford to carry a couple of least crystals, and high-level characters can easily afford to keep a few extras in a bag of holding for special situations.
A relic is a magic item that provides its full function only for a character devoted to the deity to whom the relic is dedicated. The user must devote a measure of spiritual energy to maintain a divine connection between the relic he wields and his deity’s power. (Relics appear throughout Chapters 1 through 4.) This divine connection can be opened in two ways.

• A divine spellcaster devoted to the relevant deity can temporarily sacrifice a spell slot of the level specified in the relic’s description. He can’t use the spell slot anymore, but he can use the relic. Whenever the character prepares or renews his divine spells, he decides whether he wants to keep the divine connection to the relic active by sacrificing the spell slot.

• Whether the character is a divine caster or not, he can wield a relic’s power if he has the True Believer feat (see sidebar) and a sufficiently high character level (measured by Hit Dice), as described in the item description. Typically, his character level must be high enough that he could cast spells of the level required for sacrifice if all his levels were in the cleric class.

For example, Jozan is a 9th-level cleric of Pelor who finds himself in possession of a dawnstar relic. At dawn (that is, when preparing his cleric spells), he can sacrifice a 4th-level spell slot to gain the full use of the dawnstar for the day. Alternatively, he can prepare all his 4th-level spells and choose not to use the magic of the dawnstar.

If Arandar the paladin has the True Believer feat and worships Pelor, she can use the dawnstar as long as she’s 7th level or higher, because that’s the level at which she would first have a 4th-level spell slot if she were a cleric. If Jozan had the True Believer feat, he could likewise use the dawnstar at 7th level or higher, and wouldn’t have to give up a spell slot to do so.

Some relics have two or more tiers of relic powers, each requiring a different level of spell sacrifice (or character level, for those with the True Believer feat). Unless indicated otherwise, paying the second cost (or meeting the second level requirement) grants the character all the relic powers of the item.

All relics have a caster level of 20th, regardless of the creator’s caster level. In addition to its relic power, each relic has a base effect or power available to any character whose alignment is within one step of the associated deity’s. For example, the axe of ancestral virtue functions as a +1 keen adamantine dwarven waraxe in the hands of any character who is lawful good, lawful neutral, or neutral good (that is, within one step of Moradin’s LG alignment). In the hands of a character not of one of these alignments, the item has no magical abilities whatsoever and is simply an adamantine dwarven waraxe.

With a successful DC 20 Knowledge (religion) check, a character can identify any relic on sight. You might consider granting a character a +5 bonus on checks made to identify a relic dedicated to his church. Furthermore, a character can improve an existing relic just as he could any other magic item. An axe of ancestral virtue has an effective enhancement bonus of +2 (+1 plus another +1 for the keen property), so improving it to a +2 keen adamantine dwarven waraxe would cost 10,000 gp, just as it would for any other weapon. In general, a character can add only to the item’s non-relic powers; however, you might allow a particularly dedicated character to add a new relic power (with an appropriate cost). Any additions to a relic—whether relic powers or not—must fit the theme of the deity to which the item is dedicated. For example, adding the merciful weapon property to the morningstar of the many (a relic dedicated to the murderous god Erythnul) would be inappropriate. The DM is always the final arbiter of such decisions.

Putting Relics into Play
Relics are generally not available for purchase, nor will a character trying to sell one automatically find a buyer. These items are rarer than other magic items; usually no more than a half-dozen copies of each relic exist. Secondly, they’re tied so tightly to worship of a particular deity that only a few characters can use them.

Item descriptions provide market prices for each relic, but a PC will never find a price tag on a relic. Prices are given for relics to help the DM design appropriate treasure for the monsters or NPCs in the campaign. A church might offer a finder’s fee or gifts equivalent to half the market price if a party were to return the relic. PCs who acquired the relic. Here are a few ways a DM can put a relic into play.

• The traditional enemy of a PC’s church—knowingly or unknowingly—has acquired a holy relic dedicated to the character’s deity. You might send the PCs looking specifically for the relic or let them stumble across it accidentally.

• A relic once wielded by a great hero might show up in the hands of a character not of one of these alignments, the item has no magical abilities whatsoever and is simply an adamantine dwarven waraxe.

• In exchange for a great service to the church, a PC could be awarded the use of a relic—perhaps in place of a monetary reward of similar value. This loan might be a reward for a task already completed, or a tool provided to accomplish a newly acquired quest.
• The Sanctify Relic feat (see sidebar) allows a character to craft a relic for which he meets the requirements. While the prerequisite for this feat (any other item creation feat) is easy for any caster to meet, a DM could introduce story-based requirements or ramifications for a character who wants to craft such an item. Certainly, any local church dedicated to the same deity would take an interest in a character who suddenly appears with a shiny new relic.

Creating Relics for Your Campaign

The relics in this book are based on the deities of the core D&D pantheon, but they don’t have to be. Moradin’s axe of ancestral virtue works just as well for any dwarven deity you create yourself—or any warlike but good deity, for that matter.

If you create your own relic, price the base item—that is, the effect available to a character who doesn’t have the True Believer feat and chooses not to sacrifice a divine spell slot—just as you would any other magic item. The relic’s special power, however, should be virtually free—rather than assessing a gp cost, the “cost” to the character is the spell slot or feat required to unlock the power.

The key is to balance the lost spell slot against the potency of the relic’s special power or powers. A relic that requires a character to sacrifice a 4th-level spell should provide a power roughly equivalent to (or maybe a little bit better than) a typical 4th-level spell. Such a power shouldn’t simply be a single daily use of another 4th-level spell—after all, the character could just have prepared that spell in the sacrificed spell slot. Instead, the power should be something that the character couldn’t do with a spell slot of that level.

RUNESTAFFS

Hennet stepped boldly toward the red dragon Azymondian, who gave an evil chuckle. Thanks to its well-placed agents, the dragon knew full well that the sorcerer’s best weapons—his spells of fire—would be useless. “You don’t really think that your precious wall of fire can hold me back, do you?”

Mialee researches ancient lore to create a new magic item

Hennet smiled back. “You’re right, dragon, it won’t.” Then he reached into his bag of holding and drew forth a pale wooden staff chased with silver runes and tipped at each end with a glittering diamond. “But as my uncle used to say, sometimes what you know isn’t as limiting as you think.”

BEHIND THE CURTAIN: RELICS

Relics are somewhat more complex than standard magic items, but they don’t require a player to learn any complicated new systems. Many have magical effects that no spell duplicates exactly, which gives them the feel of “artifacts on the cheap,” but their overall power level isn’t out of line with other magic items in the game.

As originally presented, most relics were extraordinarily expensive—a fact that effectively designated them as usable only by high-level characters. An unfortunate side effect of the high price, however, was that by the time the average cleric or paladin could “afford” to find a relic dedicated to his deity—that is, by the time such a valuable item was reasonable to recover in an enemy’s treasure hoard—the character probably already had a more expensive and powerful item filling a similar niche. The axe of ancestral virtue, for example, originally had a price similar to a +5 weapon, but by the time a character could reasonably “find” the axe, he probably already had a better weapon, so he’d have to sell his existing weapon to “make room” for the axe. And many players just aren’t interested in selling an expensive, powerful item in order to make room for another item—even if the second item is more flavorful.

To make relics more palatable to characters, we have reduced their prices so that they can show up earlier in the campaign—often even before a character is experienced enough to unlock their extra powers, so that they can “grow” along with the character. In some cases, this tactic required us to reduce the relic’s power as well, but in many cases the extra ability a dedicated wielder gets is better than what the item previously provided.
CHAPTER 6
USING MAGIC ITEMS

BEHIND THE CURTAIN: RUNESTAFFS

A runestaff allows an arcane spellcaster to augment her normal versatility without relying on charged items or simply adding more spells or spell-like abilities per day. Since a runestaff relies on the character’s own spell slots to provide power, its price might seem artificially low. However, increased versatility can result in a powerful character, it typically does so indirectly (by rewarding good strategy and character-building) rather than directly (by simply increasing the power of existing abilities or granting entirely new abilities).

In general, runestaffs are priced so that they are most likely to appear in a character’s hands shortly after he becomes capable of casting spells of the item’s highest level. A runestaff of fire, for example, costs 8,400 gp. That’s nearly half of the average character wealth for a 7th-level character (the minimum level to cast 4th-level spells), so it’s likely out of his price range. By 9th level, though, it’s only a quarter of the character’s expected wealth, and well within reach.

Creating New Runestaffs

If you want to create a runestaff of your own design, it should have two to five arcane spells associated with it, and the spells should be thematically linked in some way. The lowest-level spell in a runestaff should be at least 3rd level.

Crafting a runestaff requires the Craft Staff feat, along with any materials or components or foci required by the spells in a runestaff. You must meet the prerequisites for any materials or components or foci required by the spells in a runestaff, or do not have to pay any XP cost required by the spells, since the wielder of the staff pays those costs.

To set the price of a runestaff, multiply the level of the highest-level spell in the runestaff by itself, then by 400 gp. For each additional spell in the runestaff, square that spell’s level and multiply by 200 gp. Add the values together to find the final price of the runestaff. If a spell can be used less than three times per day, reduce the gp multiplier for that spell by 100 per use below three (or 50 per use below three, for spells after the first).

Example: Steve’s sorcerer wants to invent the runestaff of speedy travel, which would provide dimension door (4th), fly (3rd), and expeditious retreat (1st). The price for this item would be 6,400 (4 x 4 x 400) plus 1,800 (3 x 3 x 200) plus 200 (1 x 1 x 200), or 8,400 gp. If he only wanted to be able to use dimension door once per day, the price would be reduced to 6,800 gp (4 x 4 x 200 gp for dimension door, plus the other costs as normal).

SYNERGY PROPERTIES

Some of the armor, shield, and weapon properties described in Chapters 1 and 2 include the term ‘Synergy’ after their names. A synergy property has a prerequisite, much as a feat does. Specifically, the item must already possess another particular... also adds its Wisdom bonus on Will saves. That said, a harmful effect unless it meets one of three criteria:

A magic item’s save bonus (for all saves) equals 2 + 1/2 its material and item type, though exceptions can exist. Other magic items have hardness and hit points normal for their hardness and gain 10 hit points for each +1 of enhancement bonus. Magic armor, shields, and weapons, for example, add 2 to any other object, but they are often more durable than nonmagical objects.

DAMAGE AND REPAIR

For example, +1 greater anchoring full plate has a total effective enhancement bonus of +3 (+1 enhancement + 1 anchoring + 1 greater anchoring), with a value of 9,170 gp and an aura strength equal to that of +3 full plate. However, +1 greater anchoring full plate does not still give its wearer the anchoring property’s +5 bonus on checks to resist being tripped, overrun, or bull rushed. It instead gives the wearer the greater anchoring property’s benefit (a +10 bonus on such checks).

A synergy property still counts as any of its synergy prerequisite properties for the purpose of qualifying an item for still more synergy properties. For example, a +1 acidic burst longsword is still considered a corrosive weapon for the purpose of qualifying to receive the energy surge synergy property (see Chapter 2 for details on these weapon properties).

Many existing armor and weapon properties could be considered synergy abilities; see Tables 6–1 and 6–2 for some options. This doesn’t really change the end price of the armor or weapon, but it creates an inexpensive starting point and obvious upgrade path to reach what would otherwise be an exceptionally expensive end point. Typically, these synergy abilities supersede or simply replace the prerequisite property.

MAGIC ITEM SETS

Magic item sets (Chapter 5) use an expanded version of the normal magic item format to present their information. The new portions of the set descriptions are described below.

Introduction: A short introductory paragraph follows the set’s title. This paragraph introduces the set in a general way. The paragraph that follows describes the types of characters who will likely find the set useful.

Lore: The Lore section includes DCs for Knowledge and bardic knowledge checks, as well as the information the DM should impart when a PC meets or exceeds the DC. A character who meets or exceeds a result gets all the information given for lower DCs.

The lowest DC typically gives the item set’s general history. The next higher DC tells a little more about that history, and the DC after that reveals some secret that might be important to a PC collecting the set. The highest DC provided should tell a PC where a piece of the set was last known to have been used, and perhaps who possessed it. As a DM, you should use such a result to spur adventure. As with all Knowledge and bardic knowledge checks, a PC cannot take 20 or retry the check, but a PC who wants more information than the check result provided can spend additional time to research more about the item or try to find someone with more knowledge.

Tables: Two tables accompany each item set description. The Pieces and Abilities table summarizes the items in the set, their costs, the item slots they use, and their abilities. You can look at

DAMAGE AND REPAIR

Unless otherwise noted, a magic item can be damaged just like any other object, but they are often more durable than nonmagical objects. Magic armor, shields, and weapons, for example, add 2 to their hardness and gain 10 hit points for each +1 of enhancement bonus. Other magic items have hardness and hit points normal for their material and item type, though exceptions can exist.

A magic item’s save bonus (for all saves) equals 2 + 1/2 its caster level (rounded down). An intelligent magic item (DMG 268) also adds its Wisdom bonus on Will saves. That said, a magic item doesn’t even need to attempt a saving throw against a harmful effect unless it meets one of three criteria:

- It is unattended;
- It is specifically targeted by an effect (such as a shatter spell); or
- Its wielder rolls a natural 1 on his save against an effect that can harm objects.

A damaged magic item continues to function (and can be repaired) as long as it has at least 1 hit point. If reduced to 0 hit points, it is destroyed and all its magical power lost forever.

It costs no more to repair a magic item with the Craft skill (PH 70) than it does to repair its nonmagical counterpart. The make whole spell also repairs a damaged—but not destroyed—magic item.

Creating Magic Item Sets

Each magic item set began with one original set. That original set was created or discovered in some legendary fashion, but now others can copy the items in the set so long as they have a piece of a set to work from. If your character has a piece of a set, he can create (or have someone else create) any other piece of the set using the normal magic item creation rules. He doesn’t need to find one of the original set’s pieces to make his own; any piece he finds can function as the genesis for recreating the entire set. He might also add other properties to items in the set using the rules found in the Dungeon Master’s Guide and on page 233 of this book. You cannot alter or add to an item set’s collection benefits.

Collecting Magic Item Sets

Because a character must first have a piece of the set to create more, DMs can control the introduction of the sets and their prevalence in the world. Once a set piece is introduced, a character might be able to create the other pieces or pay for them to be created. Depending on how prevalent the set is, it might be possible to purchase a piece. However, if a PC is interested in collecting a set, a DM should consider placing additional pieces in treasure hoards and allowing PCs to discover them based on rumors of their use.

A PC can usually obtain the first item of a set at a relatively low level, collecting more expensive set pieces as he advances. Each piece of a set has an item level, allowing a DM to know at a glance when an item in a set is appropriate for the PC in his campaign.

The item level system retains most of the economy of magic items, but replaces the precision of market price with the abstraction of level. A cloak of resistance +1, pipes of the sewers, and a divine scroll of slay living are all 4th-level magic items, even though their market prices are slightly different.

Coincidentally, an item’s level also provides a useful guideline to the DM as to when such an item becomes appropriate for the PCs. In general, PCs should own items of their own character level or lower. Small exceptions to this general guideline exist—a 12th-level magic item is okay in the hands of a 10th-level PC—but straying too far can cause trouble.

Be warned that this system consciously trades precision for speed. It allows you to equip a character quickly, but it doesn’t necessarily spend every last gold piece available, nor does it exactly replicate what you could purchase with the “normal” systems available. When creating an important NPC, building a player character’s equipment list for a long-term campaign, or designing a treasure hoard (see page 265), consider using the normal rules in place of these.

SETTING AN ITEM’S LEVEL

An item’s market price determines its level. Find the market price range on Table 6–3: Item Levels by Price in which this value falls; this tells you its level. For example, a cloak of elvenkind has a market price of 2,500 gp. This falls between 2,301 gp and 3,000 gp, which makes the cloak a 7th-level magic item.

Fast-Play Exception: For magic weapons and armor, it’s easiest to ignore the portion of market price derived from the masterwork item itself, as long as that’s just a small fraction of the overall price. For example, treat a +1 greatsword (2,350 gp) as a 6th-level item, even though its actual market price is a little bit above that range. Don’t abuse this shortcut by claiming that a +1 full plate (2,650 gp market price) is only a 4th-level item (801–1,300 gp).

EQUIPPING AN NPC

Selecting equipment for an NPC is similar to building a treasure hoard, with two significant exceptions:

• Each NPC’s gear includes multiple items specifically useful to that character; and
• Most of an NPC’s treasure takes the form of equipment.

Thus, equipping an NPC with this system is a bit more complicated than just building a hoard, but it’s still faster than accounting for every last gold piece using the standard method. Because NPC gear value doesn’t scale at the same rate at low levels and at high levels, use one of the following methods depending on the NPC’s level:

NPC Level 1st–6th: Assign items as shown below.

<table>
<thead>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>5th</td>
<td>5, 4, 3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6th</td>
<td>5, 4, 4, 3</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

NPC Level 7th–20th: Starting two levels below the NPC’s character level, select one item per level until you have five magic items. Then choose one additional item two levels below the NPC’s level. For example, a 12th-level NPC wizard would select one item per level of 6th through 10th level, plus an extra 10th-level item. See the table below.

When choosing gear for an NPC, start with the most important items that he needs in the encounter. For example, an NPC fighter should pick his armor and weapon before making any other selections. This ensures that the character has what he needs to keep up with the PCs in a fight.

You should select most or all of an NPC’s magic items rather than generating them randomly—random rolls can too easily result in an opponent without any useful combat items. A single randomly generated magic item can add a little spice to an encounter, though, as well as suggesting a new tactic or unusual strategy for the character.

If needed, your NPC can trade up to gain a more powerful item or trade down to increase the number of items he has. Trading the NPC’s weakest item for multiple scrolls or potions is a good way to give the character a few more interesting options in combat. See Equipping a PC, below, for details.

In addition to equipment, each NPC should carry approximately 100 gp worth of nonequipment treasure per character level (in the form of gold, gems, jewelry, and the like).

USED WANDS

Particularly when equipping an NPC, affording a fully charged wand can be difficult. Since the typical NPC won’t have a chance to use more than a few wand charges in any combat, consider equipping such characters with partially used wands—that is, wands with fewer than full charges. This is also a good way to put a cheap wand into a treasure hoard, and you can even allow PCs to select a wand or two this way as well.

Use the table below to assign an item level for less than fully charged wands.

CHAPTER 6
USING MAGIC ITEMS

EQUIPPING A PC

This system also lets you quickly select gear for a player character above 2nd level. It’s not quite as accurate as the normal system, but the variation is typically no more than a couple percentage points from normal.

Starting at the PC’s character level, select two items of each level all the way down to 1st level. For example, a 5th-level PC would have two 5th-level items, two 4th-level items, two 3rd-level items, two 2nd-level items, and two 1st-level items. Just as when equipping an NPC, pick the most important items first, filling out with the less crucial gear at the end of the process.

You can also allow the PC to take a lower-level item in place of a higher-level item. If you can’t find a 12th-level item that interests you, you can always take an item of 11th level or lower in its place.

You can trade multiple individual items for a single, higher-level item. Generally, this isn’t as efficient (you get less total value than what you give up), but the increased potency of the higher-level item is often worth it. The reverse is also true: To gain additional, weaker items you can trade a single higher-level item. See Table 6–4: Item Level Equivalencies, and use the following guidelines:

- To trade down, use the left-hand column to find the item you’re giving up, then read across to see what two items you get in return.
- To trade up, use the right-hand column to find the pair of items you’re giving up, then read across to see the single item you get in return.

Magic item creation requires much knowledge and many ingredients, some of them quite unsavory.
UPGRADING ITEMS: AN EFFICIENT ALTERNATIVE

Many of a character’s most common items aren’t gained (or purchased) as single, discrete items, but rather upgraded over the course of many levels. This category includes weapons, armor, ability-score boosters, and any other item with a bonus that can be improved from its starting value.

When a player character selects any of these items, you have two options: the fast option or the efficient option. The fast option simply assigns the item a level based on its total market price—a +3 longsword (18,315 gp) is a 14th-level item. This approach is quick, easy, and allows you to move quickly from item to item.

A more efficient (and favorable) approach is to pay for the item with multiple weaker item slots—sort of like buying it on an installment plan. This mimics the actual method by which most characters get their hands on magic items with high bonuses—by paying smaller quantities of gold repeatedly over the course of multiple levels to increase the item from its most basic form to its more powerful form. After all, that +3 longsword might have started as a +1 longsword (and a masterwork longsword before that) and only achieved its current enhancement bonus because someone paid a wizard to improve it.

To use the efficient option, choose the table appropriate to your item, then find the bonus in the left-hand column. The corresponding numbers in the right-hand column indicate the lower-level items that you can “sacrifice” in place of the normal item level slot. Using the +3 longsword as an example, rather than selecting it as a 14th-level item, you could pay for it with a 6th-level slot (which represents the +1 longsword you started with), a 10th-level slot (representing the sword’s improvement from +1 to +2), and a 12th-level slot (the final improvement from +2 to +3).

faced with the "do you deserve this item" argument described earlier, not to mention the power inflation issue.

As an example, it's just as inappropriate to place a suit of +5 full plate in the nest of an ettercap as it is to place a +1 longsword in the hoard of a beholder. In the former case, the item is well beyond the recommended treasure value for a creature of the ettercap's Challenge Rating, as well as significantly higher than the expected total wealth of any PC who would find the ettercap a challenging opponent. In the latter case, not only is the weapon a relatively insignificant portion of a beholder's average treasure hoard, it's unlikely that any PC involved in the beholder's defeat will find such a weak magic item useful enough to keep. You're better off just including a piece of jewelry worth a similar amount, or at least a couple of scrolls or potions that are likely to find use.

A useful tool introduced by this book to help you place appropriately valued magic items is the concept of item levels (see page 226). That section includes advice on placing magic items in treasure hoards as well as in the hands of NPCs.

CHOOSING THE RIGHT ITEMS

Placing magic items in a treasure hoard is more than just crunching numbers. It doesn't do much good to put in items worth the right amount if none of the PCs finds them interesting enough to keep. Players are often coldly and brutally efficient in rating the perceived value of magic items found in a dungeon. No matter how lovingly crafted or integral to your world's history an item might be, if it doesn't fit the needs of any of the characters, it's going up for sale.

To increase the odds of a magic item finding its way into a character's list of gear, think carefully about the kinds of tactics your players (and their characters) prefer. If Neil's fighter is extremely risk-averse, chances are he favors defensive items that boost his AC or saving throws. On the other hand, since Viet's paladin values offensive might over everything else, he's always looking for ways to increase the amount of damage he deals. Even though both characters fill a similar role in the party, the same magic item won't necessarily appeal equally. Neil's more likely

!Table 6–8: Sample Treasures

BEHIND THE CURTAIN: HOW IT WORKS

In this system, each item represents roughly half of the total net treasure a PC gains in the course of achieving the item's level. The top end of each level's market value range was created by subtracting a character's expected gear of level N–1 from that of level N—that is, the net treasure gained by the character in achieving the item's level—then halving the result. For example, a 6th-level item (1,801–2,300 gp) has a value equal to one-half the difference between the wealth of a 5th-level character and a 6th-level character (13,000 – 9,000 = 4,000 gp). Assigning a PC's gear, then, is a simple process of selecting which two items he gained at each of his levels. This is an abstraction, to be sure—PCs don't necessarily gain magic items at such a steady rate—but it works reasonably well when speed is your primary goal.

Since NPCs don't accumulate treasure at the same rate as PCs (if they did, every NPC of your level you defeated would double your treasure), they can't use the same system for assigning gear. Nor does a one-size-fits-all system work at all levels, due to the uneven progression of NPC gear. This makes the ad hoc nature of the three systems described above necessary.

In theory, you could use this system to buy many items that are low on the value range for a level and accidentally underequip your PC or NPC. However, the market price ranges are narrow enough that it's unlikely your result will vary significantly from the normal organic nature of character wealth acquisition. If you are really worried about spending all of a character's budget, you're better off using the normal system for equipping a character. to go after a ring of protection or minor cloak of displacement, while Viet’s eyes will light up when he sees the gauntlets of ogre power or belt of one mighty blow (see page 74). Neither of them is going to jump at the chance to don a hat of disguise, so why bother to include it in a dragon’s hoard?

Avoid the temptation to second-guess your players, and don’t include it in a dragon’s hoard?

A player points to an item published in this book or the Dungeon Master’s Guide and asks, “Can I buy this?” The answer should usually be, “Yes.”

Magic items are an important part of every character’s arsenal of abilities. Most monsters and encounters assume that characters have a certain amount of gear to make the challenge appropriate. Furthermore, at many levels magic items represent a character’s only option for customization; picking up a new magic ring or bag of potions is significantly more fun than allotting skill points.

That’s not to say that you can’t apply occasional constraints to how and when magic items can be purchased, only that the constraints should be reasonable and shouldn’t prevent players from equipping their characters fairly. For instance, a character seeking a magic item should be in a community whose gold piece limit is equal to or greater than the cost of the desired item (see Table 6–10: Community GP Limits). You might also choose to limit particular items for campaign story reasons—maybe the knowledge of how to create certain items is a closely guarded secret of a particular group, or even forgotten to all.

In general, though, you should allow characters with sufficient funds to equip themselves as they desire. Even the most thoughtfully constructed series of treasure hoards almost certainly fails.
WHERE TO BUY

Large one-stop-shop "magic emporiums" are unrealistic and rare even in metropolis-sized cities. Instead, a community's total stock of magic items for sale is widely distributed among dusty alchemist's shops, bookstores, scribes' boutiques, pawn shops, elixir brewers, the residences of retired adventurers, the old mage on the corner, curio shops, and so on.

Except when you want to advance an adventure or campaign story arc, abstract the purchase of a particular magic item such that, given a few hours of effort asking around and tracking down the sought-for item, a PC finds and purchases the item she seeks if its market price is equal to or less than the town's gp limit (given in the "PC Purchase Limit" column of Table 6–10: Community GP Limits).

If time is an issue in the purchase of an item (for example, a pair of goggles of night is needed before nightfall), you might require the PC to attempt a Gather Information check to track the item down. Set the DC of the Gather Information check equal to the DC in the Aura entry of each item (which is equal to 15 + 1/2 the item's caster level). If the Gather Information check is successful, the PC finds the item within the time constraint. On a failed check, a PC can check again if time permits.

WHERE TO SELL

As noted on page 112 of the Player's Handbook, PCs can sell their loot for half its listed price. Just as described above under Where to Buy, PCs automatically find a buyer willing to take their item (for half its market price) within an hour or two of asking around (or less, if they know the local curio shop takes all such oddities). Remember that partially depleted wands or similarly charged items are worth only a percentage of this value (equal to the percent of charges remaining; for example, a wand with 10 charges remaining is worth only 20% of the normal value).

Generally, an item can't be sold if half its listed price exceeds the community's total amount of ready cash (noted in the "PC Sale Limit" column of Table 6–10: Community GP Limits), but you can allow the PCs a Gather Information check as described above to find a buyer with funds sufficient to take it off the PCs' hands for one-fourth its market price (or the PC sale limit, whichever is lower).

CRAFTING MAGIC ITEMS

To create magic items, spellcasters use special feats. They invest time, money, and their own personal energy (in the form of experience points) in an item's creation. This section reiterates the basics of magic item creation; for more details on creating the different types of magic items, see the information on item creation feats in Chapter 5 of the Player's Handbook, as well as the appropriate sections in Chapter 7 of the Dungeon Master's Guide.

All items have prerequisites in their descriptions. These prerequisites must be met for the item to be created. Most of the time, they take the form of feats and spells that the item's creator must know, although access through another magic item or spellcaster is allowed. It's perfectly acceptable for two or more characters to work together to create a magic item, with each character supplying some of the prerequisites. (In all places where this text refers to the "creator" of a magic item, it includes all characters supplying at least one prerequisite for the item's creation.) The XP cost must always be paid by the character who supplies the item creation feat required by the item, no matter how many other characters cooperate in its creation.

PSIONICS AND CRAFTING MAGIC ITEMS

Many of the items in this book can also be created by a character with the appropriate psionic item creation feat.

For the purpose of meeting item prerequisites, a character who has the Craft Psionic Arms and Armor feat is treated as having Craft Magic Arms and Armor. Likewise, a character who has Craft Universal Item meets the feat prerequisite for items that require Craft Wondrous Item.

If an item includes a spell prerequisite, but the effect of the item does not directly implement that spell, then a psionic power of similar flavor can be substituted. If the item replicates a spell effect, then only the psionic version of that spell or a psionic power that replicates the same effect can be used to satisfy the prerequisite. For example, a character can create a helm of teleportation using psionic teleport as a power prerequisite, or energy burst as a power to create a necklace of fireballs.

The prerequisites of some items, such as the eldritch blast required for gauntlets of eldritch energy, have no psionic equivalent, and so cannot be created by a psionic character without the aid of a character who does meet the requirement.

If you are using the Psionics Is Different variant (EPH 65), then an item created by a psionic character using a psionic item creation feat would be a psionic item. The guidelines given above should be used to determine the psionic item's feat and power prerequisites.
The creator also needs a fairly quiet, comfortable, and well-lit place in which to work. Any place suitable for preparing spells (see Preparing Wizard Spells, PH 177) is suitable for making items. Creating an item requires one day per 1,000 gp in the item’s base price (rounding up), with a minimum of at least one day. Potions are an exception to this rule; they always take just one day to brew. The character must spend the gold and XP at the beginning of the construction process.

The creator works for 8 hours each day. He cannot rush the process by working longer each day. But the days need not be consecutive, and the caster can use the rest of his time as he sees fit. A character who takes a break from item creation to adventure should keep track of how many days of work remain on the item currently being crafted.

A character can work on only one item at a time. If a character starts work on a new item, all materials used and XP spent on the under-construction item are wasted.

Magic supplies for items always cost half of the base price in gp and 1/25 of the base price in XP. For many items, the market price equals the base price. For example, a cloak of elvenkind has a market price (and base price) of 2,500 gp. Making one costs 1,250 gp in raw materials plus 100 XP. Armor, shields, weapons, and items with a value independent of their magically enhanced properties add their item cost to the market price. The item cost does not influence the base price (which determines the cost of magic supplies and the experience point cost), but it does increase the final market price.

IMPROVING MAGIC ITEMS

You can add new magical abilities to a magic item with virtually no restrictions. The cost and prerequisites to do this are the same as if the item was not magical. Thus, a +1 longsword can be made into a +2 vorpal longsword, with the cost to create it being equal to that of a +2 vorpal longsword minus the cost of a +1 longsword (98,315 – 2,315 = 96,000 gp). The character improving the magic item must meet the same prerequisites as if he were creating the item from scratch.

It’s recommended that you add new magical abilities only to items that occupy the same body slot as the added effect would normally occupy. For example, it’s okay to add the power of boots of striding and springing to slippers of spider climbing, since both of those items occupy the same body slot. However, adding the power of boots of striding and springing to a cloak of resistance doesn’t make much sense. This isn’t a hard and fast rule, but it’s a reasonable guide that helps maintain some level of flavor and verisimilitude in the magic item system.

In most cases, if the item is one that occupies a body slot, the cost of adding any additional ability to that item is 1-1/2 times the value of the added power (or the value of the added power plus 1/2 the value of the existing item, if the added power normally costs more than the existing item). For example, if a character adds the power to confer feather fall to her ring of jumping, the cost of adding this ability is 3,300 gp, the same as for creating a ring of feather falling × 1-1/2. On the other hand, if she were adding the power of a ring of force shield to that ring of jumping, the cost of adding the ability would be 9,750 gp (8,500 gp for the ring of force shield plus half of 2,500 gp, the price of a ring of jumping).

This added cost doesn’t necessarily apply when adding some common effects to existing items; see below.

Adding Common Item Effects to Existing Items

One of the most frustrating roadblocks to using interesting, unusual magic items is that they take up body slots that you need for an ability-boosting item (such as gauntlets of ogre power), a ring of protection, or another must-have item. To address this issue, Magic Item Compendium presents official rules for adding common item effects to existing magic items.

BEHIND THE CURTAIN: PRICING MAGIC ITEMS

This book intentionally does not present any detailed rules on pricing new magic items that you create. The Dungeon Master’s Guide provides various methods of estimating (and don’t underestimate the importance of that word in this task) gold piece values for simple magic items you design, but the very nature of magic item design in D&D doesn’t lend itself to hard-and-fast rules for setting these prices. Any two items that replicate different spells can, and probably should, vary dramatically in price, even if the spell level and caster level are identical. (If that seems hard to believe, compare the value of a ring of invisibility with an item that allowed you to cast make whole at will.) On top of that, layer all the other interesting variations that magic items can have—alternative activation times, limited uses per day, situational restrictions on use, and so forth—and even the most diligently designed “system” of price determination can’t help but fall apart.

The magic item prices in this book aren’t the result of any intricate formulas or detailed equations. Instead, each price is set individually by comparing the item (and more important, its likely perceived value to player characters) to other items commonly used by PCs. That last part bears emphasizing again: It doesn’t do much good to say that a new item is worth about the same as a magnificent cape of divine eminence if the latter item is priced so exorbitantly that characters aren’t interested in buying or keeping it. Instead, compare new items to those that characters are already choosing and using—magic weapons and armor, rings of protection, cloaks of resistance, rings of invisibility, boots of striding and springing, and of course, the various ability-score boosters. If you want your characters to find a newly designed magic item compelling, make sure that it can compete with the obvious choice they would have otherwise made.

If you compare the items in this book to those in other books (or particularly, with previously published versions of the same items in other books), you might be shocked at the price differences. Many of the items reproduced in this book have had their prices shaved or even slashed dramatically. Sometimes, that’s because we also reduced the overall effect of the item (so that it is available to a broader range of characters), but often the item is just as good as it always was but now costs 10%, 25%, or 50% less than it did before. That’s all just part of the same process of comparing new items to older, more popular items. In a way, it’s simple supply and demand—if characters weren’t buying sandals of sprinting, that likely means that they were just too expensive for their effect.
Adding one of these effects to an existing item works much like creating an item from scratch. The crafting character must meet the given prerequisites, must expend gold equal to one-half the price and XP equal to 1/25 the price, and must spend 1 day per 1,000 gp of the price.

Example: Lidda has a pair of boots of striding and springing, and she wants to add a Dexterity bonus (rather than buying gloves of Dexterity). Her friend Mialee isn’t around, so Lidda must track down a stranger to do the work. She pays the wizard 4,000 gp, and four eight-hour days of work and expending 6,000 gp of components later her boots now also grant her a +2 enhancement bonus to Dexterity.

This appendix contains all the magic items from Magic Item Compendium and the Dungeon Master’s Guide arranged by body slot and price.

These tables serve as shopping lists—a way to find magic items that fall within your budget. The tables are in the same general order as the body of this book, but clothing is separated by body slot. Item set pieces are integrated into the tables that correspond to their body slots.

Each entry contains the following information:

Page: The page number where the item can be found is indicated here, along with a letter code associated with the book it is in. Most entries begin either with “M” to indicate Magic Item Compendium or “D” for Dungeon Master’s Guide. Items that use individual spells (such as wands, scrolls, and potions) use “P” to reference spell descriptions in the Player’s Handbook.

Item Name: Items that have the same price are presented alphabetically within the price range. Items with greater and lesser versions, properties with improved and greater versions, and similar items are listed according to the second word in the name.

Effect: A summary of the item’s effect or benefit can be found here; refer to the item’s description for specifics.

Market Price: The typical purchase price for this item. Note that it might not always be possible to buy the item at this price—check with your DM.

For armor, shields, and weapons that have only an enhancement bonus, the price is represented by a gp amount followed by a plus sign. In these cases, the plus sign stands for “in addition to the cost of the armor, shield, or weapon itself.” The given gp amount includes the cost of the masterwork quality.

Synergy properties, relics, and item set pieces are indicated with superscripts: Synergy with ¹, relics with ², and set pieces with ³.

1 Price of scroll does not include cost of expensive material components required for the given spell. Such a cost must be added to the listed price of the scroll, when necessary.

Appendix 2: Random Treasure

This appendix presents a new random treasure generation system for DMs to use when creating random treasure hoards. It contains all the items from Magic Item Compendium and the Dungeon Master’s Guide.

WHY NEW TABLES?

This new set of tables is designed to make random treasure generation quicker, easier, and more consistent. The DMG tables can produce powerful items even at low levels, which can be exciting, but the party can also end up with too little gold or items for their level. These tables are geared for keeping the party's treasure in line with Table 3–3: Treasure Values per Encounter on page 51 of the DMG. It's now far less likely that you will get hardly any gold, hardly any goods, and hardly any items. Each level's entry has three tiers: low treasure, average treasure, and high treasure. Within each tier, the individual results are balanced toward more gold, more goods, or more items (and the top tier is high everything). Now you need only to roll once to get all three results.

Goods are no longer separated into gems and art, and they are now coded with letters. An “A” indicates a gem or art piece worth 10 gp, a “B” corresponds to 50 gp, and so on. An expanded list of samples increases your choices.

Magic items have been organized by item levels to make it easier to determine what is considered a reasonable item for a party to find. This arrangement streamlines the process, eliminating many of the rolls formerly needed to generate an item. These tables also collect all the items from both books in one place, increasing the variety of items you can generate. Because this book contains more useful items for low-level characters, hoards will have more interesting items if you use these tables.

HOW TO USE THE TABLES

Using the tables involves four basic steps:

Step 1: Roll on Table A–1: Treasure, using the monster’s CR to determine which row you will use.

Step 2: Roll the number of dice indicated and multiply as shown to determine the number of coins.

Step 3: Use Table A–2: Goods to generate each piece using the letter codes provided. You can either roll dice to determine its value or use the given average value. Repeat if you have multiple goods. You might want to choose a type of gem or art from the sample goods list for a flavorful description.

Step 4: Find the table that lists items of the level or levels in the “Items” column on the table you referred to. For instance, if you are generating a treasure for a CR4 monster and you roll a 30, that result provides one 2nd-level item and one 1st-level item. Go to the 2nd-Level Items table on page 270 and roll for that item, then to the 1st-Level Items table on page 269 and roll for that item.

Each entry on the item level tables gives a source where the item is described: a page number preceded by a letter symbol. Most page numbers are preceded either by “M” to indicate Magic Item Compendium or “D” for Dungeon Master's Guide. Items that use individual spells (such as wands, scrolls, and potions) use “P” to reference spell descriptions in the Player's Handbook or “S” for those in Spell Compendium.

The scrolls, potions, and wands on these tables are not a complete list of all possible items—just the ones that are most useful. If you want to substitute a different spell for one of these items, use a spell of the same level, taking the cost of expensive components into account if necessary. All listings for scrolls specify whether their spells are arcane (A), divine (D), or either (A or D). If you don’t like a particular item, feel free to substitute one of the same level or many items of a lower level (as described in Equiping a PC on page 228). Repeat this step if you have multiple items.

Usually, that’s all you have to do to generate a complete treasure. However, random armor, shields, and weapons require more work. These entries refer you to the tables you will use to generate these types of items. A guide to creating random armor, shields, and weapons can be found on page 282.

* Though this item’s price actually puts it at 26th level, it is included in this list.
To randomly generate magic armor, weapons, or shields, follow these steps:

Step 1: Determine the item's type by rolling on Table A–3: Random Armor/Shield Types or Table A–4: Random Weapon Types. If you are creating an item with a +1 enhancement bonus, you're done. Otherwise, go to Step 2.

Step 2: Go to the table showing the correct bonus value. For example, if you rolled +5 full plate, use the +5 Bonus Table (page 285). This table will tell you whether the item has only an enhancement bonus or both an enhancement bonus and one or more properties.

Step 3: If you need to determine any properties, go to Table A–5: Random Armor/Shield Properties or Table A–6: Random Weapon Properties. For armor and shields, roll on the left percentile column if you are generating armor and on the right for a shield. For weapons, roll on the left percentile column for a melee weapon and the right column for a ranged one. Items that are restricted to more specific types of weapons have footnotes. If you roll a property that is inappropriate for that type of item (as indicated by a note beneath the table), reroll.

Page 5 – Bane Blind [Substitution]
The last sentence of the second paragraph should read: On a result of Humanoid, the DM chooses the specific subtype that the armor affects.

Page 11 – Fearsome [Omission]
The end of the first paragraph is missing a statement. Add: This is a mind-affecting effect.

Page 13 – Menacing [Omission]
The end of the first paragraph is missing a statement. Add: This is a mind-affecting effect.

Replace the first paragraph of the item’s description with the following text.

Once per day while using this +1 tower shield to gain total cover (PH 125), you can activate its special property. At your command, the mere sight of the shield’s mummylike facade requires each viewer within 30 feet to succeed on a DC 16 Will save or be paralyzed with fear for 1d4 rounds. This is a mind-affecting effect. The wielder of the shield is immune to this effect.

Page 27 – Hardness and Hit Points [Substitution]
The first sentence of the subsection titled “Hardness and Hit Points” is in error. It should read: Each +1 of enhancement bonus adds 2 to a weapon’s hardness and 10 to its hit points.

Page 32 – Desiccating Burst [Omission]
The first sentence of the second paragraph for the desiccating burst weapon ability is missing some text. It should read: In addition, the weapon explodes with a dehydrating blast on a successful critical hit, dealing extra damage to living creatures as set out in the table below.

Disregard the last sentence of the second paragraph. The desiccating ability is always active.

Page 33 – Domineering [Omission]
The end of the first paragraph is missing a statement. It should read: This is a mind-affecting effect.
Change the first line to the following: Three times per day, activate this +1 gauntlet to make a melee touch attack that can blind a target creature for one hour (Fort DC 14 negates).

Page 101 – Gauntlet of Gruumsh [Omission]
The activation entry is missing its parenthetical. It should read:
Activation: Standard (mental)

Page 101 – Gauntlets of Lassitude [Substitution]
Change the first line to the following: Three times per day, activate these gauntlets make a melee touch attack with them.

Page 103 – Gauntlets of Lassitude [Omission]
The activation entry is missing its parenthetical. It should read:
Activation: Standard (mental)

Page 104 – Tabard of the Great Crusade [Revision]
Clerics of St. Cuthbert can’t be evil. Change the second sentence of the first paragraph as follows:

When you wear one of these garments over armor, you and every ally within 20 feet gains a +1 morale bonus on saving throws, provided that you are lawful neutral, lawful good, or neutral.

Page 156– Diamondskin Decanter [Omission]
The “1 draught” subhead is missing a word. It should read: 1 draught: Damage reduction 2/adamantine, which last for 1 hour or until 20 points of damage have been prevented.

Page 168– Pipes of Frenzied Revelry [Omission]
Add the following sentence to the last paragraph of the Relic Power section: The pipes confusion power does not affect the user.

Subsequent rounds of attacking that target allow the spiritjaws to make multiple attacks if your base attack bonus would allow it to.

Page 206 – Steeldance [Revision]
Remove the word swords in the target line of the spell.
