For a thousand thousand years, an ancient entity has been trapped in the heart of a mountain formed from rock not of this world. Over eons, creatures both monstrous and intelligent have explored and laired within the endless tunnels, caverns, and chambers of Blackclaw, answering the call of the mysterious entity buried within it. Hundreds of lairs, cities, keeps, prisons, and tombs have been established within the mountain, but even a century of new exploration has not uncovered all its secrets.
