INTRODUCTION

If you accumulate a lot of gear, consider keeping it on a separate sheet.

– GURPS Basic Set

One of the great tropes of adventure fiction is the arming scene: a detailed description of the hero preparing his gear for battle. Sir Gawain gets one in Sir Gawain and the Green Knight; several Classical heroes get them in the Iliad, the Odyssey, and the Aeneid; and Arnold Schwarzenegger gets some memorable ones in The Terminator and Commando.

Unfortunately, gearing up in an RPG is often more an exercise in accounting than a rousing display of heroic preparation. GURPS Dungeon Fantasy makes it easy to build a character. Instead of plowing through the whole of the GURPS Basic Set and GURPS Magic, a player can choose a “job description,” find an appropriate template, select a few options, and be ready to play except for picking up that all-important gear. But just as a player building a character from scratch has to walk a line between broad talents and specific abilities within his point budget, he must strike a balance between cost, weight, effectiveness, and skill within his equipment budget: That sword is nice, but can I afford armor if I buy it? The armor’s great, but will I be able to move when I wear it? Do I need to go back and shuffle some points into cash? Did I remember to account for my Size Modifier? Did I actually take the skill to use that item?

GURPS Dungeon Fantasy 13: Loadouts applies the rapid, template-based approach used for character design to the task of buying equipment. Once you’ve decided which character template to use, look over the related loadouts. Each lists gear appropriate to a particular take on a character template, and indicates which template options to pick to make it work. For example, a hero built using the knight template might be a Viking warrior; a nobleman in shining armor; or a lightly armed thug. Loadout lenses provide choices for subsets of kit that you can mix and match to produce a desired effect or fit a particular budget.

Loadouts requires only the Basic Set, GURPS Dungeon Fantasy 1: Adventurers, and GURPS Dungeon Fantasy 8: Treasure Tables. However, it provides loadouts for not just the templates in Adventurers but also those in GURPS Dungeon Fantasy 3: The Next Level, GURPS Dungeon Fantasy 4: Sages, GURPS Dungeon Fantasy 7: Clerics, GURPS Dungeon Fantasy 9: Summoners, GURPS Dungeon Fantasy 10: Taverns, and GURPS Dungeon Fantasy 12: Ninja. No loadout uses gear from one book (aside from the required volumes) to outfit a template from another, though – only the ninja loadouts draw gear from Ninja, only the innkeeper loadouts use items from Taverns, and so on.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Matt Riggsby has been playing RPGs since the only game in town came in three poorly typeset tan booklets in a white box, using cheap dice which slowly converted themselves from icosahedrons to spheres. Having been educated in the lore of lost civilizations, he still kills things and takes their stuff while working a day job for artificers of engines of great healing. The marching order for the rest of his party includes a sorceress, a second-level rogue, and a pack of dogs.

Rules and statistics in this book are specifically for the GURPS Basic Set, Fourth Edition. Page references that begin with B refer to that book, not this one.
To start with, buy at least the minimal delver’s kit under Basic Loadouts (pp. 5-6), and perhaps a lens for that. Then select a lens appropriate to your character’s template. Some templates, particularly the more combat-intensive ones, call for two lenses. For example, the barbarian, knight, and swashbuckler get a range of lenses that represent weapons and armor separately.

Reading Loadouts

Name: Each loadout is titled with a name. This usually matches that of an associated character template or style of template.

The Next Level and Adventurers present weapon- and armor-scaling rules, but combat gear isn’t everything!

- Armor scales as per The Next Level, p. 8: Reduce weight, leave cost alone, and apply SM as a DR penalty.
- Weapons also scale as per The Next Level, p. 8. Reach, weight, ST, and damage are always reduced. For mundane weapons, cost is reduced, too, and effectiveness suffers (e.g., missile weapons get less range); for faerie weapons, cost is that of the full-sized version but effectiveness doesn’t otherwise change.
- Shields scale as weapons (not as armor).
- Things worn, slept in, or that bear a load use the weight scaling for armor. This includes blankets, clothing, environmental protection (like alchemist’s garb), packs, quivers, and tents, but not canteens (see below). Cost is also reduced, using the same factor as weight; e.g., a backpack for a SM -4 adventurer has 1/20 the cost and weight of a full-sized pack. If such an article lists a weight or volume capacity, then that scales with weight; e.g., that backpack not only weighs 0.5 lb. instead of 10 lbs. but holds 5 lbs. instead of 100 lbs. Counts don’t change – a tiny quiver or tent accommodates no fewer arrows or delvers, just smaller ones. Though faerie garments and backpacks are possible, they lack the attributes that faerie-work protects, making mundane items cheaper and no less effective.
- Tools scale as weapons. This affects not just pickaxes, but also tool kits (and similar sets of implements, like personal and group basics), holy symbols, lockpicks, musical instruments, optics, surgical instruments, whetstones, cooking utensils, etc. Like faerie tents and sleeping bags, faerie-work tools exist, but as they don’t have the attributes that faerie-style craftsmanship preserves, mundane tools are less expensive yet just as effective on a day-to-day basis. Articles that inflict damage – e.g., caltrops and traps – count as weapons and experience the usual damage modifiers.

Tiny delvers who desire full-sized versions of the above are welcome to them, if they’re willing to pay for and carry heavier and often costlier items! There’s no special penalty beyond this – but as such goods have appropriately sized straps, handles, controls, etc., larger users suffer a penalty equal to the SM disparity on any skill roll for the gear.

A few other cases:

- Bulk goods and things that rely on absolute length, weight, or volume for effect don’t scale: Candles and oil burn in proportion to their mass for delvers of any size. Bandages, healer’s kits, healing potions, etc. must be large enough to affect any likely recipient – and this goes for bad stuff, too, like grenade potions, nageteppos, and poisons. Rations don’t scale but may end up being eaten more or less quickly; the same goes for water; so canteens don’t scale, either. Rope, poles, etc. are only as strong and as long as purchased; a pixie could buy cord instead of rope, but it wouldn’t support his larger friends and he’d still need length enough for his intended purpose. And a gallon of ale is a gallon of ale, no matter how many gnomes can get tipsy from it.

- Texts (primers, textbooks, etc.) have their own rules for different scales (Sages, p. 13). They’re treated here as not changing weight or cost with SM, because faerie-scale texts are prohibitively expensive for starting adventurers. However, small heroes with big bankrolls can look into buying tiny books!
Gear: Items of equipment, listed in a regular format:

- First, an italicized Equipment Name, including the number of items carried in lots (e.g., Arrows ×20) and any quality modifiers (e.g., Fine, Silver-Plated Large Knife).

- Next comes a parenthetical (page reference) to consult for further information such as a missile weapon’s range stats or a potion’s effects. To conserve space, references abbreviate the GURPS Basic Set, Fourth Edition as “B” and GURPS Dungeon Fantasy volumes as boldface, italic numerals: 1, 2, 3, etc. For example, “(4, p. 12)” is short for “page 12 of GURPS Dungeon Fantasy 4: Sages.”
- After that is a boldface, bracketed [Carrying Location], indicating where and sometimes how the item is transported. In some cases, multiple locations appear. Objects in quantity—especially ammunition—may be put in one location, up to the maximum amount that location can hold, or split among several locations.
- Location may be followed by rules details such as DR, damage stats, or value as a power item.
- Each entry ends with the item’s cost and weight.

And only last night you said to yourself: “Sam, what about a bit of rope?”
— Samwise Gamgee, The Fellowship of the Ring

Basic Loadouts

There are some things that every adventurer needs: outdoor survival gear, lighting, food, and so on.

Minimal Delver’s Kit

This is the suggested bare minimum for short-term travel and wilderness survival in environments that aren’t terribly demanding. It includes just enough provisions and basic comforts to avoid penalties for sleeping on rocks and eating bark for a few days, light for a couple of hours underground, a little rope for light-duty climbing and binding, and a bag to hold it all. This kit’s main advantage is cheapness—all but the poorest delvers can afford it. Penny-pinchers with the Survival skill might be tempted to forego buying even this much (why buy tasteless dried rations when you can trap tasty fresh game?), but the GM may impose penalties if traveling under harsh conditions, and everyone should have climbing gear and lighting for nighttime and subterranean adventures.

Minimal Delver’s Kit

$100, 20.5 lbs.

Alternate SMs: -6 ($45.70, 12.61 lbs.), -4 ($48.13, 12.98 lbs.), -2 ($56.67, 14.23 lbs.), -1 ($73.33, 16.67 lbs.), +1 ($152.50, 28 lbs.).
- Blanket (p. B288) [Torso] $20, 4 lbs.
- Canteen (p. B288) [Torso] $10, 3 lbs.
- Personal Basics (p. B288) [Sack or Backpack] $5, 1 lb.
- Rations x12 (p. B288) [Sack or Backpack] $24, 6 lbs.
- Rope, 3/8” (10 yards) (p. B288) [Sack or Backpack] Supports 300 lbs. $5, 1.5 lbs.
- Torch x2 (p. B288) [Sack or Backpack] $6, 2 lbs.

Deluxe Delver’s Kit

This add-on to the minimal delver’s kit offers a more comprehensive loadout for the well-prepared adventurer. It provides better lighting, climbing gear, and protection from the elements; superior storage; extra provisions; and welcome redundancy. Though the cost looks steep for a starting hero without above-average Wealth, a single character point converted to money ($500) will cover most of it.

Lens: Deluxe Delver’s Kit

+$559, +40.2 lbs.

Alternate SMs: -6 ($153.52, 15.31 lbs.), -4 ($173.60, 16.41 lbs.), -2 ($240.07, 20.31 lbs.), -1 ($366.33, 27.93 lbs.), +1 ($931, 64.4 lbs.).

Mount Up!

Delvers with lots of gear (or high expectations!) may want help carrying their stuff, which means riding beasts, pack animals, and even vehicles. As these are often priced out of reach of the starting adventurer—and at any rate are rarely taken into dungeons and other extremely dangerous areas—they aren’t a key part of equipping most heroes. For reference, though, here are costs for several transportation solutions. Effective Load is the maximum cargo capacity for vehicles or the Medium encumbrance limit for animals, pre-adjusted for riding gear.

Group Kit

Not everyone needs his own shovel or first aid kit, but no team of adventurers should be without a few such items! This kit contains accessories that every group ought to have on hand but that don’t obviously fit a specific template. Consider obtaining one per three or four party members. Delvers customarily pool money remaining after buying personal gear to purchase this equipment, though someone may ultimately have to spend a point on extra starting cash. In the wilderness, this stuff can be loaded on a beast of burden. In the dungeon, it may be necessary to divvy it up and distribute it among several people, unless there’s a lightly armored barbarian who doesn’t mind slingin’ it on his back.

Alternate SMs: -6 ($63.98, 8.84 lbs.), -4 ($80.63, 13.43 lbs.), -2 ($132.34, 26.54 lbs.), -1 ($227.66, 49.66 lbs.), +1 ($623.50, 134.5 lbs.). Divide a mixed-SM party into threes and fours, and buy each group one kit suitable for its largest member.

ARTIFICER

Choose between the inventor, field alchemist, and engineer lenses. Any artificer with some spare cash – but particularly inventors – may want to buy a few additional bits of lightweight gear to leave at home and pull out as Gizmos (Sages, p. 4).

Inventor

This is a minimal kit for an adventuring artificer. It calls for a small batch of tools, but it’s mostly weapons and armor – perhaps the inventor spends idle hours tinkering with his crossbow. It’s suitable for adventurers who rely on improvisational skill (and perhaps a fistful of Gizmos) rather than a wide range of equipment. Select Crossbow, Main-Gauche, and Smallsword skills.

Lens: Inventor

+$874, +20.97 lbs.

Alternate SMs: -6 ($34.66, 0.77 lb.), -4 ($108.50, 2.45 lbs.), -2 ($290, 6.66 lbs.), -1 ($581, 13.56 lbs.), +1 ($1,316, 32.71 lbs.).

- Crossbow (p. B276) [Torso] Damage thr+4 imp. $150, 6 lbs.
- Crossbow Bolts ×12 (p. B276) [Quiver] $24, 0.72 lb.
- Main-Gauche (p. 6) [Torso] Damage sw-3 cut, thr imp. $50, 1.25 lbs.
- Ordinary Clothing (p. B266) [Torso, Arms, Legs] Initially free; replacement cost is $120. $0, 2 lbs.
- Shoulder Quiver (p. B289) [Torso] Holds up to 12 bolts. $10, 0.5 lb.
- Smallsword (p. B273) [Torso] Damage thr+1 imp. $400, 1.5 lbs.
- Tool Vest (below) [Torso] -1 to applicable skills. $240, 9 lbs.

Field Alchemist

This kit is for the artificer who tinkers with beakers and chemicals rather than gears and levers. It includes some arms and armor, but consists mainly of alchemical apparatus and preparations. Select Axe/Mace skill and Throwing (to be a dead shot with potion grenades!). This loadout requires at least two points in Signature Gear or converted to cash; the backpack alchemy lab is suitable for Signature Gear and Equipment Bond.

Lens: Field Alchemist

+$1,845, +40.9 lbs.

Alternate SMs: -6 ($406.35, 6.18 lbs.), -4 ($513, 8.23 lbs.), -2 ($797, 14.36 lbs.), -1 ($1,277.50, 25.49 lbs.), +1 ($2,945, 69.4 lbs.).

- Acid Grenade ×4 (I, p. 28) [Sack, Webbing, or Potion Belt] 1d-3 corrosion damage. $40, 4 lbs.
- Alchemist’s Fire (I, p. 28) [Sack, Webbing, or Potion Belt] 1d burning damage/second for 30 seconds. $100, 1 lb.
- Alchemist’s Garb (4, p. 12) [Torso] Protects from contact agents; -1 to DX if worn over armor. $225, 5 lbs.
- Axe (p. B271) [Belt or Back] Damage sw+2 cut. $50, 4 lbs.
- Backpack Alchemy Lab (I, p. 26) [Torso] $1,000, 10 lbs.
- Leather Armor (p. B283) [Torso] DR 2. $100, 10 lbs.

Engineer

In addition to possible Gizmos, the engineer hauls around a wide range of tools and toolkits. This loadout is complete, but it’s also expensive (calls for Comfortable wealth, or at least two points in Signature Gear or traded for cash) and heavy. Added to the minimal delver’s kit, it pushes the typical engineer well into Heavy encumbrance. Select Cloak and Smallsword skills, and strongly consider Lifting ST!

Lens: Engineer

+$1,874, +62.72 lbs.

Alternate SMs: -6 ($314.06, 7.75 lbs.), -4 ($450.75, 11.79 lbs.), -2 ($787.33, 22.58 lbs.), -1 ($1,327.67, 40.89 lbs.), +1 ($2,881, 99.83 lbs.).

- Backpack Tool Kit, Engineer (Gadgets) (I, p. 24) [Torso] $600, 20 lbs.
- Bit and Brace (I, p. 25) [Sack or Backpack] Damage sw-2(2) pi++. $120, 5 lbs.

LOADOUTS

7
Barbarians are strong enough to wear heavy armor but tough enough that they don’t necessarily need it. This is a particular concern for those on a budget. Their enormous size makes their armor much heavier and more expensive, so most opt for a really good weapon, relying on their offensive abilities to end fights quickly and their durability to pull them through battles that run too long.

Most barbarians require two loadout lenses. First, select either the light barbarian or heavy barbarian lens for armor – or neither, for the sort of barbarian who runs into battle naked! Then pick a weapon lens.

Unlike loadouts for other templates, those for barbarians assume SM +1 when giving weight, cost, and weapon damage. Be sure to check the “Alternate SMs” list for fighters of other sizes – barbarian dwarves, knights and holy warriors who want to use barbarian-styled equipment, etc.

Assuming at least the minimal delver’s kit, several loadout combinations require points in Signature Gear or traded for cash:

- 0 points: light barbarian + flail; light barbarian + polearm; light barbarian + spear; light barbarian + two-handed axe; light barbarian + two-handed flail.
- 1 point ($500): light barbarian + axe; light barbarian + broadsword; heavy barbarian + two-handed axe; heavy barbarian + two-handed flail.
- 2 points ($1,000): light barbarian + two-handed sword; heavy barbarian + axe; heavy barbarian + flail; heavy barbarian + polearm; heavy barbarian + spear.
- 3 points ($1,500): heavy barbarian + broadsword.
- 4 points ($2,000): heavy barbarian + two-handed sword.

Light Barbarian

This is suitable for a barbarian who runs into battle with a minimum of protection, expecting to keep enemies at bay with weapons rather than to absorb their blows with armor.

Heavy Barbarian

This is for a better-armored barbarian, such as a Viking raider. While not as good as what a knight might expect to use, it protects the vital areas.

LOADOUTS
Courtly Bard

This lens suits a more versatile performer; with a backup musical instrument in case something happens to the first one. It includes more presentable clothing for impressing people; the total value of this attire (clothes, not armor!) is good for +2 to Merchant skill for Influence rolls. Select Bow skill.

Sword-and-Cloak

This gear fits into a $1,000 starting budget along with the minimal delver’s kit and wandering minstrel lens. All other combinations require at least some additional money. Select Cloak and Smallsword skills.

Lens: Sword-and-Cloak

+$450, +6.5 lbs.

Alternate SMs: -6 ($16.50, 0.11 lb.), -4 ($52.50, 0.44 lb.), -2 ($143.33, 1.5 lbs.), -1 ($291.67, 3.5 lbs.), +1 ($700, 12.25 lbs.).

Sword-and-Shield

This kit provides better protection than the sword-and-cloak lens, but it’s costlier (consider Signature Gear for the saber, if not for the musical instrument) and heavier (bards near encumbrance limits take note!). Select Saber and Shield (Buckler) skills.

Lens: Sword-and-Shield

+$740, +10 lbs.

Alternate SMs: -6 ($29.60, 0.4 lb.), -4 ($92.50, 1.25 lbs.), -2 ($246.66, 3.34 lbs.), -1 ($493.34, 6.66 lbs.), +1 ($1,110, 15 lbs.).

• Small Buckler (p. B287) [Torso] DB 1.$40, 8 lbs.

Cleric

The fighting cleric (p. 11) and healing cleric (pp. 11-12) loadouts are generic, intended primarily for use with the base cleric template in Adventurers. The other lenses are specific to the variant templates in Clerics. Adventurers created using Clerics can select the fighting or healing lenses (at the cost of losing some flavor), while those built on the generic cleric template can use many of the Clerics-focused loadouts – but in both cases, be sure to check skill lists to ensure compatibility.

Agricultural Cleric

This kit assumes a cleric-style template that replaces other weapon skills with Two-Handed Flail. For more rustic agricultural clerics based on the druid template, see Green Druid (p. 14) or Beastmaster (pp. 13-14).

Lens: Agricultural Cleric

+$535, +33 lbs.

City Cleric
Use the fighting cleric or healing cleric lens (both below). A city cleric's equipment and garments differ significantly only in that they often carry civic iconography; see For the Uniform (p. 18).

Death Cleric
Select Polearm skill and Throwing (useful for tossing holy water vials and any bones that come to hand). The poleaxe is a stylized scythe, and the death cleric's clothing and armor are colored flat black.

Lens: Death Cleric
+$665, +49.5 lbs.
Alternate SMs: -6 ($452.30, 3.3 lbs.), -4 ($468.75, 5.68 lbs.), -2 ($511.67, 13.36 lbs.), -1 ($583.33, 27.84 lbs.), +1 ($1,220, 91 lbs.).

- Pot-Helm (p. B284) [Head] DR 4. $100, 5 lbs.

Earth Cleric
Use the fighting cleric lens. The differences are largely cosmetic; e.g., an earth cleric may have a mace with a head made from exceptionally hard stone rather than metal.

Fighting Cleric
This kit is for any cleric who emphasizes fighting evil over more directly taking care of the faithful. Although it provides a bare minimum of healing gear, it's mostly about smashing evil. With the minimal delver's kit, this loadout puts a ST 12 cleric into Heavy encumbrance, so consider improving ST. Select Axe/Mace, Shield, and Throwing skills.

This kit is for clerics who emphasize healing over bashing in the heads of the wicked, including generic clerics created with the template in Adventurers and clerics of healing gods from Clerics. Select Staff and Throwing skills.

Lens: Healing Cleric
+$897.50, +46 lbs.
Alternate SMs: -6 ($820.70, 14.47 lbs.), -4 ($827.50, 15.98 lbs.), -2 ($844.17, 21.06 lbs.), -1 ($870.83, 30.84 lbs.), +1 ($1,277.50, 75.5 lbs.).

Druid

Loadouts

Select from the beastmaster, elementalist, and green druid lenses. See Adventurers, p. 7, for advice on these roles.

Beastmaster
This loadout is appropriate for a druid with a strong concern for animals. He wears no animal skins, and his net allows him to capture rather than injure hostile beasts he can't befriend. The extremely sparse kit is suitable for a Poor adventurer. Select Net and Staff skills.

Lens: Beastmaster

Lens: Green Druid

Alternate SMs: -6 ($313.60, 3.65 lbs.), -4 ($321.25, 5.35 lbs.), -2 ($340, 10.4 lbs.), +1 ($635, 55 lbs.).

However, it’s very expensive (calls for at least four points in Signature Gear or traded for cash) and heavy. Added to the minimal delver’s kit, it puts even a ST 13-14 hero at Heavy encumbrance, so consider improving ST. Select Broadsword, Crossbow, and Shield skills.

For the Uniform
Holy warriors (and clerics, to some extent) are often identifiable by their gear. While not all carry holy symbols as such, many possess articles decorated with religious iconography. Just as clerics can get holy water at reduced cost through their temples, a holy warrior may select one weapon or piece of armor he owns and declare that it has appropriately themed decorations worth a total +4 CF or less at no extra cost; use the rules for ornate equipment (Adventurers, p. 27) and embellishments (Treasure Tables, pp. 53-55). This lets holy warriors of death wear skull-shaped helmets, holy warriors of the sun bear shields painted with sun symbols, and so on without breaking the bank.

KNIGHT

Knights have to dish out and take a lot of damage, so many of their loadouts combine expensive weapons with pricey armor. Buy at least the minimal deliver’s kit; choose from among the light warrior, medium warrior, and heavy warrior lenses; and pick a weapons package. While there are a few low-cost combinations, most require points in Signature Gear or traded for cash:

0 points: light warrior + axe-and-shield; light warrior + polearm; light warrior + two-handed axe.
1 point ($500): light warrior + sword-and-shield; medium warrior + axe-and-shield; medium warrior + polearm; medium warrior + two-handed axe.
2 points ($1,000): light warrior + two-handed sword; medium warrior + sword-and-shield; medium warrior + two-handed sword.
3 points ($1,500): heavy warrior + axe-and-shield; heavy warrior + polearm; heavy warrior + two-handed axe.
4 points ($2,000): heavy warrior + sword-and-shield; heavy warrior + two-handed sword.

Light Warrior

This kit suits the lightly armed warrior who needs speed more than protection.

Lens: Light Warrior

Medium Warrior

This gear offers a compromise between price and protection. Extra ST makes a good companion to this loadout, but it isn't the necessity that it often is for the heavy warrior lens.

Lens: Medium Warrior

+ $810, +69 lbs.

Alternate SMs:
-6 ($810, 0.69 lb.), -4 ($810, 3.45 lbs.), -2 ($810, 13.8 lbs.), -1 ($810, 34.5 lbs.), +1 ($1,620, 138 lbs.).

- Pot-Helm (p. B284) [Head] DR 4, $100, 5 lbs.

Heavy Warrior

This package is for the knight who has both money and ST in abundance. Plate armor costs and weighs a lot, but it offers a great deal of protection – a warrior who possesses it might consider choosing a two-handed weapon, counting on his DR to protect him rather than relying on a shield's DB and the ability to block and parry. With this loadout and the minimal delver's kit, the weapon-and-shield lenses push a ST 14 knight into Heavy encumbrance; if equipped that way, consider improving ST (if not already doing so for extra damage and HP).

LOADOUTS

MARTIAL ARTIST

More so than any other adventurer, the martial artist is his own most important piece of equipment. Consequently, he may forgo all gear beyond the customary delver basics, although some martial artists carry specialized hardware. Choose either the empty-hand warrior or the armored martial artist, and then (optionally) select a weapon lens.

Empty-Hand Warrior
This kit is for the martial artist who really does rely on his body and skills. The armor is mostly very light, serving mainly to protect against contact poisons and environmental hazards. However, gauntlets are included to save his fists from harm in combat!

Lens: Empty-Hand Warrior
+$170, +12 lbs.
Alternate SMs: -6 ($170, 0.12 lb.), -4 ($170, 0.6 lb.), -2 ($170, 2.4 lb.), -1 ($170, 6 lbs.), +1 ($340, 24 lbs.).
- Cloth Armor (p. B283) [Torso] DR 1*. $30, 6 lbs.
- Gauntlets (p. B284) [Hands] DR 4. $100, 2 lbs.
- Ordinary Clothing (p. B266) [Torso, Arms, Legs] Initially free; replacement cost is $120. $0, 2 lbs.
- Shoes (p. B284) [Feet] DR 1*. $40, 2 lbs.

Armored Martial Artist
This loadout provides protection that’s markedly better than heavy clothing but still lightweight. It’s expensive enough to require at least one point of extra cash – or perhaps two points in Signature Gear for the armor. With the minimal delver’s kit, it also pushes a ST 11 martial artist into Medium encumbrance before any weapons. Consider raising ST to 13 which, in addition to increasing damage, pushes the load down into Light encumbrance.

NINJA

Select the master of death, master of missiles, master of stealth, or master of tools lens. These roles are discussed on p. 8 of Ninja. For alternate SMs, ninja suits scale in price as clothing – not as armor – unless modified to give DR.

Master of Death

This kit offers a range of deadly toys, all of them built for concealment, for a budding master of small weapons. It also includes a little armor. Select Axe/Mace, Knife, Kusari, Short-sword, Thrown Weapon (Shuriken), and Tonfa skills. This lens requires at least two points in Signature Gear or traded for cash.

Master of Missiles

This lens provides extensive ranged weaponry, from easily hidden shuriken to a bow. While relatively inexpensive, it includes no armor and some of the weapons are easier to spot than those in other ninja loadouts, which makes striking from a distance particularly important. Select Bow, Knife, Throwing, Thrown Weapon (Knife), Thrown Weapon (Shuriken), and Tonfa skills.

Lens: Master of Missiles

Master of Stealth

This package loads up on stealth-related options. The sword is easily concealed and the outfit gives multiple Stealth bonuses. However, the loadout includes no armor, which makes succeeding at Stealth rolls extremely important! Select Blowpipe and Shortsword skills. The kit requires at least three points in Signature Gear or traded for cash.

Master of Tools

This gear merely forms the core of the ninja’s armory. Select Shortsword, Throwing, and Thrown Weapon (Shuriken) skills in addition to any skills needed to get the most out of Gizmos. This loadout requires at least one point in Signature Gear or traded for cash.

Repeating Pistol Crossbow

This sophisticated weapon combines the pistol crossbow’s handiness with the larger repeating crossbow’s rate of fire. At its heart is an unremarkable pistol crossbow. However, it’s fitted with a rotating drum and a gear assembly which, on pressing a lever, cocks the bow and drops a new bolt into place, permitting rapid fire.

The repeating pistol crossbow requires two hands to ready but just one hand to attack. The user may attempt to increase RoF by “fanning” the thing: holding down the trigger while slapping the loading lever with the other hand. This trick is inaccurate (it can’t benefit from an Aim maneuver!), but spits out more bolts when they’re needed. A shooter may increase RoF to 2 at -4 to Crossbow skill or to 3 at -6 to skill; in either case, Rcl is 3.

Scholar

Choose the curator, professor, or wise man lens. These roles are described on p. 9 of Sages.

Curator

This scholar is prepared for action more than anything else. Although he totes a few handy reference texts in his bag, his gear consists primarily of light weapons and armor. Select Crossbow and Whip skills, and raise one of these to a high level instead of taking a defensive skill. Consider some extra ST for carrying off artifacts — or more DX and HT for running away from threats faster!

Professor

Though the professor has a very nice (if lightweight) weapon, his gear consists mostly of books. This affords flexibility in filling Book-Learned Wisdom slots at the expense of weight; with the minimal delver’s kit, it crosses the line into Heavy encumbrance. Select Cloak and Saber skills. This lens requires at least one point in Signature Gear or traded for cash.

Wise Man

More rough-and-tumble than his colleagues, the wise man carries lighter, less-costly gear. He has a couple of reference texts, but mostly he relies on inexpensive weapons, a few natural preparations, and a lot of improvisation. Select First Aid, Sling, and Staff skills.

A tiny quiver accommodates no fewer arrows, just smaller ones.

Bounty Hunter

The bounty hunter may have to close with dangerous opposition, so he’s more heavily armed than other scouts. Select Broadsword and Shield skills. This lens requires at least a point in Signature Gear (the sword and bow are good candidates) or traded for cash.

Ranger

The lightly armored ranger moves quickly with a light load (total weight, including the minimal delver’s kit, puts him at Light encumbrance with room to spare) and undetectably with clothing that lets him blend in with his surroundings. Pick Shield and Shortsword skills.

Lens: Ranger
+ $895, +27 lbs.

Alternate SMs:  -6 ($78.85, 0.72 lb.), -4 ($143.25, 2.48 lbs.), -2 ($309.66, 7.41 lbs.), -1 ($585.84, 15.99 lbs.), +1 ($1,450, 46.5 lbs.).

• Small Shield (p. B287) [Torso] DB 1. $40, 8 lbs.

Sharpshooter

Since the sharpshooter stands well off from his targets, he need not chase them down and enjoys a long lead if he must flee, allowing him to trade a little mobility for armor. He relies particularly heavily on his bow, so he uses the best— an excellent candidate for Signature Gear; especially given that this lens requires two points in Signature Gear or traded for cash anyway. Also pick Staff skill; the sharpshooter uses his quarterstaff as a defensive weapon, with an eye toward disengaging from melee and returning to bow range.

Dungeon Camouflage

Where not being seen is important, purpose-made camouflage clothing is a definite benefit. Garments may be dyed and stitched in patterns that resemble different terrain types and break up the wearer's visual outline, rendering him harder to see. A garment must be decorated for specific conditions:

- Arctic (white/light grey)
- Darkness/Night (dark grey and black; for dim conditions against any background)
- Desert (tan and light browns)
- Jungle/Woodlands (dark greens and browns)
- Plains (tan and light greens)
- Underground/Urban (dark grey and brown)

Dressing in a full outfit of camouflage clothing or wearing (not wielding) a camouflage heavy cloak gives a bonus to Stealth vs. Vision, provided that the pattern suits the surroundings: +1 to Stealth for +2 CF, or +2 to Stealth for +7 CF.

The necromancer carries tools aimed at making sure that the dead go down and stay there. Select Knife and Two-Handed Axe/Mace skills. Since all Two-Handed Axe/Mace weapons require ST 11+, the GM may allow necromancers to buy extra ST instead of or as well as higher HT.

Swashbuckler

Most of a swashbuckler’s loadout is concentrated in one item: the sword. This should come as no surprise – swashbucklers are built around the use of a single weapon! Choose between the bladed ruffian and gentleman adventurer kits, and then pick a weapon lens. With the minimal delver’s kit, points in Signature Gear or traded for cash are as follows:

0 points: bladed ruffian + rapier-and-buckler; bladed ruffian + shortsword-and-main-gauche; bladed ruffian + smallsword-and-cloak.
1 point ($500): bladed ruffian + saber.
2 points ($1,000): gentleman adventurer + rapier-and-buckler; gentleman adventurer + shortsword-and-main-gauche; gentleman adventurer + smallsword-and-cloak.
3 points ($1,500): gentleman adventurer + saber.

Gentleman Adventurer

The better-funded swashbuckler wears superior armor (though largely protecting only vital areas) and much more attractive clothing (expensive enough to give +2 to Merchant skill for Influence rolls). With the minimal delver’s kit and any weapon lens, this loadout pushes a ST 11 or even ST 12 hero to drop some gear at the first sign of trouble to reduce penalties to Dodge and to fencing attacks and parries.

Assassin

This kit is for the silent killer. The assassin relies on stealth to get close to his target, giving him a free hand to use low-damage weapons on vulnerable spots or to deliver poisons. Select Crossbow, Garrote, Throwing, and Thrown Weapon (Knife) skills; buy weapon skills high enough to target vitals and chinks in armor reliably; and get as much Stealth as you can afford. This lens requires a point in Signature Gear or traded for cash. Though intended for the thief template in Adventurers, it also suits the assassin template on p. 9 of Ninja.

WIZARD

Choose either the fighting wizard or the scholarly wizard.

Fighting Wizard

This kit is for the wizard who expects to spend some time on the front line in battle. Instead of loading up on potions, abstractly valuable power items, and similar magical adjuncts, most of the expense here goes toward weapons and armor. However, given the price of swords (for SM 0 delvers), the blade can double as a power item, holding 5 FP. This gear particularly suits the magician with a higher-than-usual ST and Smallsword skills.

• Paut (I, p. 29) [Sack or Webbing] Restores 4 FP lost to magic. $135, 0.5 lb.

Scholarly Wizard

This lens suits a more “conventional” magician who focuses on brainwork and leaves the heavy lifting to others. Although it provides very little protection, it includes a batch of restorative energy potions, and the staff is a good power item for a starting adventurer; thus, magical defenses can substitute for physical ones. Alternate-SM versions of the staff are fitted with slightly larger or smaller gems, keeping its mundane value at a constant $500. Select Staff skill.

Lens: Scholarly Wizard

+$880, +15 lbs.

Alternate SMs: -6 ($832, 1.32 lb.), -4 ($836.25, 2.15 lb.), -2 ($846.67, 4.6 lbs.), -1 ($863.33, 9 lbs.), +1 ($935, 26 lb.).

• Fine Decorated Enchanted Quarterstaff (p. B273) [Torso] Damage sw+2 cr; thr+2 cr. Decorated with extensive relief (+4 CF) and set with $430 worth of gems; provides 6 FP as a power item and is enchanted with the Staff spell. $530, 4 lbs.

The following pages contain reference sheets with all of the equipment lists formatted for easy use at the gaming table, sorted by template and including each kit's total cost and weight. As you prepare for play, make copies of the sheets you need for each character. For most characters, this will probably be one of the Minimal Kit pages and a page for a specific character template. Then check off the loadouts the character purchases and/or strike through the ones he doesn’t.

This should be all you need for play, but double-check pp. 4-5 for how to interpret the lists. You may also want to review the descriptions of the individual loadouts for any special considerations. The “Notes” section can be used to record additional gear and acquired loot. Of course, if you’re doing it right, you’ll have to start writing on the back of the sheet to keep track of all of that.

In the old free days all I wanted was a sharp sword and a straight path to my enemies.
